Negro Leaders Reject Kennedy Plea For Truce

Wilkins Says Protests Form U.S. Tradition

By The Associated Press

President Kennedy's request for a truce in anti-segregation demonstrations throughout the country has been turned down by major figures in the Negro battle for equal rights. But some Negroes have found merit in the suggestion.

The President, pleading for racial peace, cautioned against racial demonstrations "which can lead to violence."

The concensus of organizations spearheading the drive was that in nearly 2½ centuries Negroes had accomplished little toward equality by being passive.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), asserted, "We do not intend to call off demonstrations."

U. S. Tradition, Wilkins Says

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said demonstrations are part of the American tradition of freedom to protest.

Guichard Parris, public relations director of the Urban League, said in New York that Kennedy's request was less than reasonable.

Parris, whose league is an interracial movement to improve race relations and better the lot of Negroes and other minorities, added: "I don't believe a so-called armistice on demonstrations is a reasonable request. . ."

Ark. Leader Opposes Protests

In Little Rock, I. S. McClinton, president of the Arkansas Democratic (Negro) Voters Association, said that "if the people of all communities can sit down with leaders of the colored race and negotiate in good faith, most problems can be solved." He said he personally was opposed to demonstrations.

In a related development, the North Carolina State NAACP answered Gov. Terry Sanford's appeal for racial peace and called for an end to the anti-segregation protests that have swept the state.

Kelly Alexander of Charlotte, president of the State Conference of the NAACP, said he was preparing a message to send to the 96 NAACP branches in the state.

The message, Alexander said, will appeal for an end to protests "until we have an opportunity to sit down with the governor and discuss the matter in detail."

Navy Says Pipe Failure Caused Thresher Loss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy Thursday blamed the sinking of the nuclear-powered Thresher — history's worst submarine disaster — on a pipe failure that let tons of sea water flood the ship's engine room, plunging it to the bottom of the Atlantic.

A formal report on the tragedy, which took 129 lives last April 10, implied that the ship's nuclear reactor automatically shut down after a series of mishaps struck with lightning-like speed hundreds of feet beneath the surface.

The report showed that the Thresher lost power at a crucial moment during sea trials off the New England coast. But there were strong doubts that the ill-fated sub could have fought its way to the surface as it struggled under progressive flooding.

A grim account of the Thresher's death throes was given in a Navy report on the investigation by a court of inquiry at Portsmouth, N. H., after the ship was lost 220 miles east of Cape Cod. The court, headed by Vice Adm. Bernard L. Austin, took testimony from 120 witnesses and amassed 1,700 pages of testimony.

As the report was made public, the Navy sent its deep-diving bathyscaph Trieste out of Boston under tow to make exploratory dives in search of Thresher's hulk. The Trieste carries cameras and closed circuit television as well as special telephones to communicate any findings to the surface. The remains of the Thresher have never been detected on the ocean bottom despite intensive search efforts.

Six Die When Auto Plunges Off Ferry

ROME, Tenn. (UPI) — A farm family of six was wiped out Thursday when the brakes on their car apparently failed and the vehicle plunged off the end of a small ferry boat that was to take them across the swift running Cumberland River.

Police identified the victims as Austin Flatt, 40; his wife, Ruby, 28, and their four children — James, 8; Terry, 7; Nella, 6, and David, 19-months.

Only Joking, Burton Says Of Remark He'll Wed Liz

LONDON (UPI)—Actor Richard Burton said Thursday he was only joking when he told a London newspaperman he planned to marry Elizabeth Taylor.

Miss Taylor remained silent.

The two were interviewed separately by United Press International on the set of a new picture which Burton is making. Miss Taylor, who is not in the picture, looked on with amusement Thursday as Burton went through a scene in which he finds King Henry IV in bed with a French courtesan.

The Daily Sketch Wednesday quoted Miss Taylor and Burton as saying they would marry as soon as they were able. Then Richard Handley, Liz's secretary, said the report was "fully correct."

"What actually happened was this," said Burton. "The newspaperman asked me, 'Is it true you both are getting married?' And I said, 'Yes, we are.' Then I added, 'But not to each other.'

"It seems one must not make a joke on this subject."

The Sketch had quoted Burton as saying: "I want to marry Elizabeth and I will marry her. There have been all kinds of rumors but this is what is going to happen. No ifs. No buts. She wants to marry me. I want to marry her."

The same Sketch story said Liz was with Burton at the interview and added: "I'm so happy that Richard has told you."

Four Ballots Taken But No Pope Elected

Cardinals To Vote Again Today; Smoke Signals Confusing

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Eighty cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church failed to elect a new pope on their first four ballots Thursday, giving rise to speculation that a compromise choice may emerge from the conclave.

Black smoke rose after the morning and afternoon sessions from the chimney atop the Sistine Chapel to tell the world no candidate had received the 54 votes needed for election as successor to Pope John XXIII, who died June 3.

Voting will resume Friday and will continue until a pope is elected. Two ballots are taken during each session.

Hopes had been high that opinion was united enough to give one of their number the required two-thirds majority on the first day. This was the case when the late Pope Pius XII was chosen in 1939.

Favorite Of Many

Many observers had picked Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini, 65-year-old archbishop of Milan, as the favorite.

The air of optimism had extended to high Vatican officials, who privately expressed the opinion that a first-day election was possible, and to the Vatican Radio's top announcer, the Rev. Francesco Pellegrino, who cited the electoral rule recommending the cardinals "elect in pope as soon as possible."

With lines in the conclave drawn between liberals, who like the late pontiff favor changing church policies to keep pace with social changes, and conservatives, who seek to retain the traditional stand, it appeared likely that a compromise candidate, strongly identified with neither faction, might be chosen.

Smoke Confusing

There was confusion after both the morning and afternoon sessions as to the color of the smoke —whether it was black for failure or white for success. In the morning, the smoke turned from gray to white to black and back again. Even the Vatican Radio announcer admitted he could not call it with certainty.

In the afternoon, the smoke first came out a whitish hue and the crowd of 10,000 waiting in St. Peter's Square cheered. But shortly afterwards the plume turned darker and the radio announcer said "We learn from our informants that it is black."

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police are particularly anxious to find Gerald Mitchell of Baltimore, who escaped from the Rosewood Training School Wednesday night at Owings Mills.

When the 18-year-old fled the institution 13 miles northwest of Baltimore,he took the keys to the maximum security building with him.

"My chief concern is the outside door," Dr. James A. Campbell, superintendent, said Thursday.

"I don't want him coming back and letting out the others. I'll have the lock changed by tomorrow."

Historic Steel Agreement Reached

Extended Vacations Approved

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Negotiators reached accord Thursday on a historic steel-labor agreement.

It was the first contract settlement ever achieved in the basic steel industry without a strike or fixed strike deadline.

The unprecedented agreement insures steel labor peace into 1965.

This forestalls any national steel strife during next year's presidential election campaign.

Officials of the United Steelworkers and industry jointly announced the 21-month agreement at a news conference.

Its chief feature is an extended vacation plan to ease steelworkers unemployment.

The agreement, affecting some 400,000 basic steelworkers, was announced shortly after the union's 164-man International Wage Policy Committee approved it at a three-hour session.

Informal Talks Held

Coming after more than 5½ months of informal talks, as opposed to formal collective bargaining, the settlement marks a new era in steel industry labor relations — often marred in the past by bitter strife.

Since May 1, the USW has been free, under the current two-year contract, to give notice it was reopening the pact. This would have set in motion formal collective bargaining machinery — under an automatic 90-day strike deadline.

This was not done. Instead, starting last January, a joint labor-management team called the Human Relations Committee went to work and finished with an agreement.

Committee Praised

R. Conrad Cooper, U.S. Steel Corp. executive vice president and cochairman of the Human Relations Committee with David J. McDonald, Steelworkers president, had this comment:

"The Human Relations Committee has enabled the parties to discuss the issues calmly and reasonably without the pressure of any fixed deadline. At this time in the history of collective bargaining, this is a significant development."

McDonald said, "We firmly believe the Human Relations Committee has done a magnificant job. Some said it couldn't be done; but we did it."

RFK Will Open Rights Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) —Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee said Thursday Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will be the lead-off witness in hearings his group will start next week on President Kennedy's civil rights legislation.

He said testimony also will be taken from Secretary of Labor W. Williard Wirtz and Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze.

Simultaneously with Celler's announcement, key members of the House Education and Labor Committee reported agreement is near on a fair employment practices bill to help open job opportunities for Negroes.

President Kennedy restated his support of that proposal Wednesday in a special message which laid newer parts of his program before Congress.

After a session of the Education and Labor Committee Thursday Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., and Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, a top Republican member, said a bipartisan bill should be ready by next Thursday.

Racial Protests Held In St. Louis And Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) —A police riot squad broke up an anti-segregation demonstration in Savannah Thursday and hundreds of Negroes and a sprinkling of white persons conducted a peaceful demonstration in downtown St. Louis, Mo., Thursday night.

Thirty persons were arrested at at Savannah, and three white hecklers were arrested in St. Louis. Police estimated the demonstrators, who sang and prayed in a street blocked off to traffic at 750 persons. St. Louis Negroes are protesting school segregation.

In Jackson, Miss., Mayor Allen C. Thompson swore in the first Negro policeman in the city's history at a ceremony at City Hall. The new officer is Joe Lewis Land, 27.

Following the ceremony the mayor and other officials met with Negro leaders in what amounted to the most congenial get-together of the two factions to date. The mayor announced plans for a school for delinquent children and a program for helping indigent Negro children.

There was no violence during the Savannah protest and police —edgy as a result of a wild demonstration Wednesday night — found no use for the tear gas grenades they carried.

A total of about 50 Negroes took part in the Savannah protest, but 20 of them dispersed when police warned them they were assembling unlawfully. The others were arrested when they made no attempt to move.

Negro leaders in St. Louis had said they expected about 5,000 to turn out for the rush hour demonstration, but police estimated the crowd at about 500. The demonstration was called to protest school segregation.

The Negroes gathered near the board of education building in downtown St. Louis. Police cordoned off the area and watched as the group sang songs and prayed.

JFK Pays Tribute To West Virginians

Proud To Join Centennial Celebration

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — President Kennedy, crediting West Virginians with putting him in the White House, told a rain-soaked centennial crowd of about 10,000 Thursday that he was proud to join in the Mountain State's 100th birthday celebration.

"I would not be where I am now; I would not have some of the responsibilities which I now bear, if it had not been for the people of West Virginia," Kennedy said. "Therefore, I am proud to come back here on this rainy day and salute this state and join you in committing West Virginia and the country to another 100 years of progress."

Kennedy, who topped a list of distinguished guests in the Statehood Day ceremonies, recalled that West Virginia "was born to turmoil" in Civil War days.

He paid this tribute:

"It has known sunshine and rain in a hundred years, but I know of no state, and I know this state well, whose people feel more strongly, who have a greater sense of pride in themselves, in their state and in their country, than the people of West Virginia, and I am proud to be here today."

Among the other speakers were Gov. W. W. Barron; Virginia Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Button; Dr. Mordecai Johnson, president emeritus of Howard University, Washington, D. C., and Prof. G. Wayne Smith of Fairmont College, chairman of Centennial Historical and Research Committee.

The hour-long program ended with a 35-gun salute delivered by guns on five tanks of the 150th Armored Cavalry as two flags presented by Kennedy were raised on newly-erected poles near a fountain in the parking circle.

Kennedy, taking his cue from West Virginia's motto, Montani Semper Liberi (Mountaineers Always Free) told the drenched but festive gathering that when he goes to Europe Saturday, he will carry "the proud realization that not only mountaineers, but also Americans, are always free."

State Police Seek Strangler Of Woman, 83

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—An 83-year-old woman was found strangled at her home in nearby Finksburg Thursday and state Police said they had no immediate leads in the case.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Alice Mona Long, who lived alone on Deer Park road in the small Carroll County community.

Police said she had been killed sometime between 11 p.m. Wednesday, when she returned from having dinner with some friends, and 10:30 a.m. Thursday, when her body was found by a neighbor.

State police said they were called by the county medical examiner, Dr. W. Glenn Speicher, who had been summoned by the neighbor.

Well-Armed Fighters Join Underground

Exile Group Says Men Will Launch Freedom Operation

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Cuban Revolutionary Council said Thursday it sneaked commando forces into Cuba to launch an operation that "definitely" would liberate the island from Communist rule.

For several days, the council said, "perfectly armed" fighters have been landing in small groups, at several points, and merging with the underground. It added that they received a cheerful welcome, and help from farmers in the landing areas.

First reports indicated that invaders had stormed the beaches, and the news caught Washington by surprise. A spokesman said the State Department knew of no large scale invasion, and would know of one if one had occurred. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said he had no comment on the council's announcement.

Later, the council's coordinator, Manuel Antonio de Varona, clarified that it was an infiltration movement.

500 Reported Ashore

In close-mouthed fashion unusual among Cubans, council members refused to say where the commandos started, where they landed, how many were involved and if more were on the way. Other exile sources estimated that 500 men had gone ashore so far.

Just two months ago, the council was badly split when its first president, Jose Miro Cardona, walked out to dramatize his dispute with President Kennedy over steps that should be taken to overthrow Castro. Six of the 12 organizations comprising the council quit in sympathy with its leader.

Miro Cardona charged that Kennedy had promised a second invasion of Cuba, but backed down. Instead, he said, Kennedy clamped down on exile raids and gave Castro "immunity to carry out Khrushchev's sinister designs." The administration denied that any such promise was ever made.

The council originally was formed, with United States help, for the purpose of launching the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion April 17, 1961.

Miami Cuban Colony Excited

Varona said the infiltrators were well armed with modern weapons and also carried guns and ammunition to increase the firepower of rebel groups operating in Cuba.

The news of the landings sent a wave of excitement pulsing through Miami's huge colony of some 100,000 Cuban exiles. Some sources speculated that the landings were made in the Escambray Mountains of Las Villas Province, in the central part of the island west of Havana.

These mountains reportedly have been a hotbed of rebel activity. Pedro Ramirez, an underground fighter who slipped out to Miami recently, said 600 rebels are operating in the area.

Morale of Cuban militiamen under Russian command is at rock bottom, Ramirez said, and "if they had more opportunity, the desertions would be massive."

Havana radio and government shortwaves broadcasts from Cuba carried no word of the infiltrations.

Kennedy Faces Problems In Personal Diplomacy On Trip

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy faces some tough problems in personal diplomacy on his visit to Europe in the next two weeks, and a setback in his timetable for creating a multination nuclear missile navy appears inevitable.

But administration officials said Thursday it would have been a major diplomatic error to cancel the long-planned trip to Germany, England and Italy either because of the civil rights crisis at home or the political turmoil in Allied Europe.

These officials said the turmoil is largely due to the fact that Western Europe is in a transition period. In their view this makes the President's trip all the more important.

The major challenge, though it has been obscured by more recent events, is the European policy advocated by French President Charles de Gaulle calling, in effect, for a Western Europe dominated by France and increasingly independent of ties with the United States. It is highly significant that Kennedy's trip swings around France without including it. Associates say the reason is simply that De Gaulle did not invite him to Paris.

The truth is, as both U.S. and French officials concede, that the two men have little to talk about where their differences over the future of Europe and the Atlantic world are concerned. Their common commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is not, for the moment, in dispute and therefore does not need discussion.

Administration officials denied that the President's trip, beginning Saturday night, is in any way "encircling" De Gaulle. The French leader, however, is the champion of a plan for the political future of Europe which runs contrary to Kennedy's policy of increasing unity between Europe and the United States.

The two leaders are rivals in a great debate over the future of the West and much of the significance of Kennedy's visit to France's Allied neighbors in June is derived from the fact that in January De Gaulle rejected the U.S. concept of growing unity in the Atlantic alliance and drove home his point by vetoing Britain's U.S.-supported bid for membership in the European Common Market.

The more recent events which have stolen the spotlight from the policy rivalry between Kennedy and De Gaulle were directly responsible for demands raised here in recent weeks that the President should cancel his European visit or at least postpone it. These events included the political crisis in Italy which reduced the government of Premier Amintore Fanfani to caretaker status last month, the death of Pope John XXIII, the Profumo scandal which has perhaps fatally shaken the Conservative government of Harold Macmillan in England, and the coming retirement of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer from control of the West German government.

Commons Finds Profumo Guilty Of Grave Contempt

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons heaped on John A. Profumo a scathing public punishment Thursday for lying about his love life with Christine Keeler—conviction of grave contempt.

She herself was under extra guard after anonymous tipsters said her life was in danger. The party girl was told she could leave her West End apartment only under detective escort, and must stay clear of anyone carrying a coat or other clothing that could conceal a gun or knife.

Conservatives and Laborite members of Parliament, far apart on many issues of the sex and security scandal swirling around the former war minister, joined in washing their hands of him.

They adopted without dissent and without a recorded roll call a Conservative motion holding the 48-year-old Profumo in contempt for lying to them on the floor of the House last March 22 about his relations with Miss Keeler, 22.

In theory he could have been committed to prison for the duration of the current Parliament to purge his contempt. But the House was content with dooming him to political oblivion.

Profumo had denied reports he was mixed up in 1961 with Miss Keeler, who also was having an affair with Soviet naval attache Eugene Ivanov. The House accepted his word.

Profumo held to this version for six weeks, then admitted he had lied and resigned from the House and his Cabinet office.

While the House dealt its weapon of disgrace, Profumo was interviewed by Scotland Yard.

Police now are preparing a case against Dr. Stephen Ward, an osteopath who used a villa on the grounds of Lord Astor's famed Cliveden estate, and an apartment in fashionable West End, to receive Profumo, Miss Keeler, Ivanov and others at parties. He introduced Profumo to Miss Keeler.

RFK Will Open Rights Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) —Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee said Thursday Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will be the lead-off witness in hearings his group will start next week on President Kennedy's civil rights legislation.

He said testimony also will be taken from Secretary of Labor W. Williard Wirtz and Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze.

Simultaneously with Celler's announcement, key members of the House Education and Labor Committee reported agreement is near on a fair employment practices bill to help open job opportunities for Negroes.

President Kennedy restated his support of that proposal Wednesday in a special message which laid newer parts of his program before Congress.

After a session of the Education and Labor Committee Thursday Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., and Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, a top Republican member, said a bipartisan bill should be ready by next Thursday.

Racial Protests Held In St. Louis And Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) —A police riot squad broke up an anti-segregation demonstration in Savannah Thursday and hundreds of Negroes and a sprinkling of white persons conducted a peaceful demonstration in downtown St. Louis, Mo., Thursday night.

Thirty persons were arrested at at Savannah, and three white hecklers were arrested in St. Louis. Police estimated the demonstrators, who sang and prayed in a street blocked off to traffic at 750 persons. St. Louis Negroes are protesting school segregation.

In Jackson, Miss., Mayor Allen C. Thompson swore in the first Negro policeman in the city's history at a ceremony at City Hall. The new officer is Joe Lewis Land, 27.

Following the ceremony the mayor and other officials met with Negro leaders in what amounted to the most congenial get-together of the two factions to date. The mayor announced plans for a school for delinquent children and a program for helping indigent Negro children.

There was no violence during the Savannah protest and police —edgy as a result of a wild demonstration Wednesday night — found no use for the tear gas grenades they carried.

A total of about 50 Negroes took part in the Savannah protest, but 20 of them dispersed when police warned them they were assembling unlawfully. The others were arrested when they made no attempt to move.

Negro leaders in St. Louis had said they expected about 5,000 to turn out for the rush hour demonstration, but police estimated the crowd at about 500. The demonstration was called to protest school segregation.

The Negroes gathered near the board of education building in downtown St. Louis. Police cordoned off the area and watched as the group sang songs and prayed.

JFK Pays Tribute To West Virginians

Proud To Join Centennial Celebration

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — President Kennedy, crediting West Virginians with putting him in the White House, told a rain-soaked centennial crowd of about 10,000 Thursday that he was proud to join in the Mountain State's 100th birthday celebration.

"I would not be where I am now; I would not have some of the responsibilities which I now bear, if it had not been for the people of West Virginia," Kennedy said. "Therefore, I am proud to come back here on this rainy day and salute this state and join you in committing West Virginia and the country to another 100 years of progress."

Kennedy, who topped a list of distinguished guests in the Statehood Day ceremonies, recalled that West Virginia "was born to turmoil" in Civil War days.

He paid this tribute:

"It has known sunshine and rain in a hundred years, but I know of no state, and I know this state well, whose people feel more strongly, who have a greater sense of pride in themselves, in their state and in their country, than the people of West Virginia, and I am proud to be here today."

Among the other speakers were Gov. W. W. Barron; Virginia Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Button; Dr. Mordecai Johnson, president emeritus of Howard University, Washington, D. C., and Prof. G. Wayne Smith of Fairmont College, chairman of Centennial Historical and Research Committee.

The hour-long program ended with a 35-gun salute delivered by guns on five tanks of the 150th Armored Cavalry as two flags presented by Kennedy were raised on newly-erected poles near a fountain in the parking circle.

Kennedy, taking his cue from West Virginia's motto, Montani Semper Liberi (Mountaineers Always Free) told the drenched but festive gathering that when he goes to Europe Saturday, he will carry "the proud realization that not only mountaineers, but also Americans, are always free."

State Police Seek Strangler Of Woman, 83

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—An 83-year-old woman was found strangled at her home in nearby Finksburg Thursday and state Police said they had no immediate leads in the case.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Alice Mona Long, who lived alone on Deer Park road in the small Carroll County community.

Police said she had been killed sometime between 11 p.m. Wednesday, when she returned from having dinner with some friends, and 10:30 a.m. Thursday, when her body was found by a neighbor.

State police said they were called by the county medical examiner, Dr. W. Glenn Speicher, who had been summoned by the neighbor.

Well-Armed Fighters Join Underground

Exile Group Says Men Will Launch Freedom Operation

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Cuban Revolutionary Council said Thursday it sneaked commando forces into Cuba to launch an operation that "definitely" would liberate the island from Communist rule.

For several days, the council said, "perfectly armed" fighters have been landing in small groups, at several points, and merging with the underground. It added that they received a cheerful welcome, and help from farmers in the landing areas.

First reports indicated that invaders had stormed the beaches, and the news caught Washington by surprise. A spokesman said the State Department knew of no large scale invasion, and would know of one if one had occurred. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said he had no comment on the council's announcement.

Later, the council's coordinator, Manuel Antonio de Varona, clarified that it was an infiltration movement.

500 Reported Ashore

In close-mouthed fashion unusual among Cubans, council members refused to say where the commandos started, where they landed, how many were involved and if more were on the way. Other exile sources estimated that 500 men had gone ashore so far.

Just two months ago, the council was badly split when its first president, Jose Miro Cardona, walked out to dramatize his dispute with President Kennedy over steps that should be taken to overthrow Castro. Six of the 12 organizations comprising the council quit in sympathy with its leader.

Miro Cardona charged that Kennedy had promised a second invasion of Cuba, but backed down. Instead, he said, Kennedy clamped down on exile raids and gave Castro "immunity to carry out Khrushchev's sinister designs." The administration denied that any such promise was ever made.

The council originally was formed, with United States help, for the purpose of launching the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion April 17, 1961.

Miami Cuban Colony Excited

Varona said the infiltrators were well armed with modern weapons and also carried guns and ammunition to increase the firepower of rebel groups operating in Cuba.

The news of the landings sent a wave of excitement pulsing through Miami's huge colony of some 100,000 Cuban exiles. Some sources speculated that the landings were made in the Escambray Mountains of Las Villas Province, in the central part of the island west of Havana.

These mountains reportedly have been a hotbed of rebel activity. Pedro Ramirez, an underground fighter who slipped out to Miami recently, said 600 rebels are operating in the area.

Morale of Cuban militiamen under Russian command is at rock bottom, Ramirez said, and "if they had more opportunity, the desertions would be massive."

Havana radio and government shortwaves broadcasts from Cuba carried no word of the infiltrations.

Commons Finds Profumo Guilty Of Grave Contempt

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons heaped on John A. Profumo a scathing public punishment Thursday for lying about his love life with Christine Keeler—conviction of grave contempt.

She herself was under extra guard after anonymous tipsters said her life was in danger. The party girl was told she could leave her West End apartment only under detective escort, and must stay clear of anyone carrying a coat or other clothing that could conceal a gun or knife.

Conservatives and Laborite members of Parliament, far apart on many issues of the sex and security scandal swirling around the former war minister, joined in washing their hands of him.

They adopted without dissent and without a recorded roll call a Conservative motion holding the 48-year-old Profumo in contempt for lying to them on the floor of the House last March 22 about his relations with Miss Keeler, 22.

In theory he could have been committed to prison for the duration of the current Parliament to purge his contempt. But the House was content with dooming him to political oblivion.

Profumo had denied reports he was mixed up in 1961 with Miss Keeler, who also was having an affair with Soviet naval attache Eugene Ivanov. The House accepted his word.

Profumo held to this version for six weeks, then admitted he had lied and resigned from the House and his Cabinet office.

While the House dealt its weapon of disgrace, Profumo was interviewed by Scotland Yard.

Police now are preparing a case against Dr. Stephen Ward, an osteopath who used a villa on the grounds of Lord Astor's famed Cliveden estate, and an apartment in fashionable West End, to receive Profumo, Miss Keeler, Ivanov and others at parties. He introduced Profumo to Miss Keeler.

Kennedy Faces Problems In Personal Diplomacy On Trip

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy faces some tough problems in personal diplomacy on his visit to Europe in the next two weeks, and a setback in his timetable for creating a multination nuclear missile navy appears inevitable.

But administration officials said Thursday it would have been a major diplomatic error to cancel the long-planned trip to Germany, England and Italy either because of the civil rights crisis at home or the political turmoil in Allied Europe.

These officials said the turmoil is largely due to the fact that Western Europe is in a transition period. In their view this makes the President's trip all the more important.

The major challenge, though it has been obscured by more recent events, is the European policy advocated by French President Charles de Gaulle calling, in effect, for a Western Europe dominated by France and increasingly independent of ties with the United States. It is highly significant that Kennedy's trip swings around France without including it. Associates say the reason is simply that De Gaulle did not invite him to Paris.

The truth is, as both U.S. and French officials concede, that the two men have little to talk about where their differences over the future of Europe and the Atlantic world are concerned. Their common commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is not, for the moment, in dispute and therefore does not need discussion.

Administration officials denied that the President's trip, beginning Saturday night, is in any way "encircling" De Gaulle. The French leader, however, is the champion of a plan for the political future of Europe which runs contrary to Kennedy's policy of increasing unity between Europe and the United States.

The two leaders are rivals in a great debate over the future of the West and much of the significance of Kennedy's visit to France's Allied neighbors in June is derived from the fact that in January De Gaulle rejected the U.S. concept of growing unity in the Atlantic alliance and drove home his point by vetoing Britain's U.S.-supported bid for membership in the European Common Market.

The more recent events which have stolen the spotlight from the policy rivalry between Kennedy and De Gaulle were directly responsible for demands raised here in recent weeks that the President should cancel his European visit or at least postpone it. These events included the political crisis in Italy which reduced the government of Premier Amintore Fanfani to caretaker status last month, the death of Pope John XXIII, the Profumo scandal which has perhaps fatally shaken the Conservative government of Harold Macmillan in England, and the coming retirement of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer from control of the West German government.

Conferences Mark Cambridge Activity

Outlook Hopeful As Truce Continues

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—An arms' length truce continued Thursday between racial camps which have been pitched in town for days with the National Guard standing by watchfully.

Activity was confined to an intermediary stage with all of it under wraps.

"Very quite and hopeful" was the consensus of reports on progress toward getting the Negroes and whites together. They broke off talks last Sunday.

Since then, the Negroes called off demonstrations at the urging of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Edmund C. Mester, executive assistant to Gov. J. Millard Tawes, has spent two days carrying messages back and forth.

He met Thursday afternoon accompanied by Brig. George M. Gelston, commander of 400 guardsmen in town, with Negro leaders at the Eastern Shore State Hospital on the outskirts of town.

Mester told them the state will see that the five remaining segregated public school classes will be integrated in September, instead of one a year, and that a bi-racial steering committee will be created to foster equal job opportunities for Negroes.

However, Mester could not offer encouragement at this stage on adoption by the city council of a local ordinance to require equal public accommodations.

He said only two of the five councilmen are in favor of such enactment.

The question of the council's authority to pass a law requiring restaurants and hotels to serve Negroes was shrouded in mystery.

The attorney general, Thomas B. Finan, advised the council Wednesday it could. But Thursday afternoon, C. Awdry Thompson, the city attorney, conferred in Baltimore with Finan.

Grave legal doubt has been expressed by some lawyers despite Finan's opinion that a Maryland municipality may pass an equal accommodations law because of conflict with the state's trespass law, the one used by restaurant owners to refuse service to Negroes.

U. Of Ala. Guard Force Will Be Cut To 300 Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only about 300 Alabama National Guardsmen will be kept in active federal service after Monday as peacekeepers in the University of Alabama racial integration situation, the Army announced Thursday.

Of the 17,000 federalized June 11 after Gov. George C. Wallace moved to bar two Negro students from admission to the university, 13,000 were released from duty last weekend. The Army said about 3,100 more will be freed next Sunday and Monday.

The 300 who will remain on duty are members of the 1st Battalion, 200th Infantry. About 100 will be stationed near the university at Tuscaloosa.

The others will be permitted to return to their civilian activities but subject to call on four hours notice. All of these live in or near Tuscaloosa.

Peace seems to have settled over the Tuscaloosa campus since Wallace relaxed his vigil and two Alabama Negroes, Vivian Malone and James A. Hood, were registered there. There was no difficulty when another Negro, Dave M. McGlathery, registered at the Alabama extension center near Huntsville.

Airline Merger Plan Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board, in a far-reaching decision, Thursday rejected a plan by Eastern Air Lines and American Airlines to merge their domestic systems and form the world's biggest airline.

The CAB gave no reason for its disapproval, but said it would explain its action later in a formal decision. Two of the board's five members dissented.

American President C. R. Smith said a merger would have been "good for the companies good for the public, and for the nation's transportation system."

Eastern said it was encouraged by a recent brightening of its financial situation, but urged the government to curb the "unique overlay of increased competition" on the airline.

The board's action came seven months after CAB Examiner Ralph L. Wiser recommended against an Eastern-American merger.

The decision was expected to have a profound effect on the future of U. S. aviation. The nation's airlines have been moving toward consolidation in the face of past financial difficulties.

DOUBLE HANDFUL — President Kennedy manages to grasp two of more than a score of hands thrust toward him by admirers yesterday as he left Charleston's airport for Washington following an appearance in a drizziling rain on the 100th annixersary of West Virginia statehood. Despite the rain, more than 10,000 people turned out to see Kennedy in the state where his 1960 primary election victory led to the White House. (AP Photofax)

Sodden Crowds Greet Kennedy In Charleston

By ROBERT M. GORNALL

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—"The sun doesn't always shine in West Virginia..." So said President John F. Kennedy here Thursday during his Statehood Day address at the capitol.

And shine it didn't as 10,000 joyous West Virginians waited for the President in a drenching rain.

The Weir High School Band of Weirton played "Hail to the Chief" as Kennedy arrived, but the band members' snappy plumes sagged soggily and flesh-colored leg make-up ran from majorettes' legs.

Crowds are commonly marked by confusion, but the unexpected rain here made the picture worse. Photographers shielding cameras with umbrellas, ruined costumes, and completely drenched spectators completed the picture.

People began gathering at the statehouse two hours before the festivities were to begin. An occasional umbrella went up here and there as a light rain started falliing at 8:30 a. m.

Crowds, armed with umbrellas and cameras, gathered at Kanawha Airport an hour before the President's arrival. The throng, numbering about 500, pressed against a wire fence and others were standing in the drizzle from other vantage points around the airfield.

At 10:43 a.m., Gov. and Mrs. W. W. Barron arrived and left their car to sit in another limousine lined up for the procession to the Capital City. Air traffic was closed at the airport promptly at 10:45 and exactly at 11:15 the President's plane landed as scheduled.

Four minutes later, the plane taxied close in, the door opened and Kennedy, dressed in a medium blue suit and dark blue tie, emerged. The crowd roared and he grinned and threw up his right hand.

As though it were ordered, a constant drizzle momentarily stopped as Kennedy walked down the ramp.

Gov. and Mrs. Barron greeted the President, who was accompanied by West Virginia Sens. Jennings Randolph and Robert Byrd and Congressman John Slack.

After a few handshakes, the President immediately broke away from Secret Service agents and walked along the airfield fence, where the onlookers stretched out their hands to touch him. Then he entered his car alone and left for the Statehouse with 11 other cars trailing.

The rain prompted one spectator to say, "Kennedy must be a bad omen for West Virginia. Every time he comes here — it rains."

He must have been thinking of Kennedy's last trip to West Virginia, when the President addressed a large Democratic rally in Wheeling last fall when he spoke in a driving rain storm.

It might be added too that rain soaked a large statehouse crowd last June when former President Harry S. Truman spoke during West Virginia's 99th birthday celebration.

Hug And Kiss For Cosmonette

MOSCOW (UPI) — Cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky swung cosmonette Valentina Tereshkova off her feet Thursday with a bear-hug embrace and kissed her on the lips when they met for the first time since completing their space journeys.

The two arrived aboard different planes from their separate touchdown points in Kazakhstan at an undisclosed reception center on the Volga.

As they stepped from their planes, Bykovsky rushed forward, swept Miss Tereshkova off her feet and whirled her around.

Then Russia's cosmonaut No. 5, who stayed in space longer than any other man, kissed the pretty cosmonette, who wore a pale blue dress.

Bykovsky wore what appeared to be a track suit with a zip-up top.

Extended Vacations

Designed primarily to improve job opportunities and security, the agreement becomes effective Aug. 1 and runs at least until May 1, 1965.

Principle benefits under the agreement include:

1. Extended vacations, under which 50 per cent of the basic USW in each company having the longest service would be entitled to a 13-week vacation once every five years. This is in addition to the employe's regular vacation coming due that year.

2. Improved insurance benefits, lengthening the maximum duration of hospitalization payments from the present 120-days to a full year, plus several other changes.

3. A so-called experimental agreement covering four contract issues, long under study by both sides. These include employment of outside contractors to perform maintenance work inside plants, and the use of supervisors to do jobs normally done by USW members.

Kennedy Hails Signing Of 'Hot Line' Agreement

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union Thursday signed an agreement setting up a hot line circuit to keep constant contact between Moscow and Washington and help prevent an accidental war.

President Kennedy hailed the accord as a move toward arms control and said the line was "a first step to help reduce the risk of war occurring by accident or miscalculation."

"This age of fast moving events requires quick, dependable communication in time of emergency," Kennedy said in a statement issued at Charleston, W.Va., where he attended a state centennial celebration.

In Geneva, Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin said he hoped the world will live in peace "so that the hot line need never be used."

U.S. Negotiator Charles C. Stelle and Tsarapkin drank champagne toasts after they put their signatures to the historic accord in the Palace of Nations.

The line, expected to go into operation within two months, will use existing cable circuits from Washington via London, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Helsinki to Moscow.

The Washington terminal will be in the Pentagon's National Command Center. Operational responsibility has been given to the Defense Communications Agency. The Moscow terminal will be in the Kremlin, said the Defense Department in Washington.

The lease of 4,883-mile cable circuit costing $108,000 a year, will be shared by the two governments, with the United States paying the larger share.

Food Plane Downed

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist Chinese gunfire brought down a Chinese Nationalist plane on a food-dropping mission over the mainland, air force headquarters said Thursday.

Headquarters reported the plane was loaded with 8,000 pounds of food parcels. It was downed over Chungjen in Kiangsi Province of east China.

CAIRO (UPI) — The Soviet Union has loaned the United Arab Republic $44.4 million at 2½ per cent interest for development of industrial products, it was announced Thursday. The agreement was signed in Moscow Tuesday.

Kennedy Hails Signing Of 'Hot Line' Agreement

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union Thursday signed an agreement setting up a hot line circuit to keep constant contact between Moscow and Washington and help prevent an accidental war.

President Kennedy hailed the accord as a move toward arms control and said the line was "a first step to help reduce the risk of war occurring by accident or miscalculation."

"This age of fast moving events requires quick, dependable communication in time of emergency," Kennedy said in a statement issued at Charleston, W.Va., where he attended a state centennial celebration.

In Geneva, Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin said he hoped the world will live in peace "so that the hot line need never be used."

U.S. Negotiator Charles C. Stelle and Tsarapkin drank champagne toasts after they put their signatures to the historic accord in the Palace of Nations.

The line, expected to go into operation within two months, will use existing cable circuits from Washington via London, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Helsinki to Moscow.

The Washington terminal will be in the Pentagon's National Command Center. Operational responsibility has been given to the Defense Communications Agency. The Moscow terminal will be in the Kremlin, said the Defense Department in Washington.

The lease of 4,883-mile cable circuit costing $108,000 a year, will be shared by the two governments, with the United States paying the larger share.

Food Plane Downed

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist Chinese gunfire brought down a Chinese Nationalist plane on a food-dropping mission over the mainland, air force headquarters said Thursday.

Headquarters reported the plane was loaded with 8,000 pounds of food parcels. It was downed over Chungjen in Kiangsi Province of east China.

Pa. Governor Has Political Pros Guessing

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania has shown an ability to spot a trend early by declaring his willingness to be a favorite son candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania will have 64 votes at the 1964 Republican national convention a fraction less than 10 per cent of the 655 needed to win the nomination.

A vacuum developed in the GOP during the past two months when reaction to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's remarriage indicated that he no longer had the nomination wrapped up.

The vacuum has been filled in part by increased interest in Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the conservative hero, who has moved ahead of Rockefeller in public opinion polls as the preferred choice of Republicans.

It also has been and will be filled in part by a movement toward favorite son candidates to keep delegations tied up but uncommitted to real contenders for the nomination.

In Wisconsin, Republican leaders are supporting Rep. John W. Byrnes as a favorite son candidate. Wisconsin, often the setting for significant presidential primary contents, will have 30 convention delegates.

In Colorado, which will have 18 convention votes, party leaders are backing Sen. Gordon Allott as a favorite son.

Among the states still to be heard from are California (86 convention votes) and Ohio (58 votes). Both of these states also have presidential primaries, which can be important if they are chosen for battlegrounds by serious candidates contesting for delegates.

Michigan, with 48 votes, can have Gov. George Romney either as a favorite son or a candidate who is really trying.

Scranton said he would be a favorite son if Pennsylvania GOP leaders wanted him and if a contest for the nomination is still indicated by convention time — 13 months away.

But he reiterated that he would not be trying to win the nomination. He was viewed as a possibility for the nomination after his spectacular victory in the election last November, although many Republicans were inclined to regard him as a Rockefeller man.

Scranton now has the professionals convinced that he is not going to try for the nomination, but he has not convinced them that he would turn it down.

GUEST SPEAKER — Miss Virginia B. Johnson, Charleston, W. Va., state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Potomac Valley Chapter, DAR, tomorrow at Fort Ashby.

Former Residents Mark 57th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Self, 1203 Olive Street, Santa Barbara, Calif., former Cumberlanders, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary yesterday.

The former Miss Lucy Loibl, daughter of the late Charles and Lena Loibl, 411 North Mechanic Street, became the bride of Mr. Self, son of the late William and Laura Self, Witless Depot, Va., June 20, 1906. The late Rev. Dominic, OFM, Cap., officiated at the ceremony in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Their attendants were Miss Margaret Mullan and Jacob Loibl, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Self are the parents of three children, Mrs. Louise Dils, LaJolla, Calif.; Mrs. Elizabeth Dils, Santa Clara, Calif., and Mrs. Ann Shea, Santa Barbara. They have five grandchildren. Mrs. Clara Mullen and Mrs. Rachael Garner, Cumberland, are sisters of Mrs. Self.

Coming to Cumberland as a young man, Mr. Self owned and operated a plumbing business here and in Uniontown, Pa., before moving to California about 12 years ago.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Self was employed at Walter Walton's Grocery Store, North Mechanic Street.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from "Flag Waver" really got my blood to boiling. So he is in favor of shipping five million foreigners back to "where they came from," is he?

Well, I'm in favor of shipping 178 million foreigners back. In 1492 those foreigners started to come over here in boatloads — with their superior weapons and their big ideas. They murdered, plundered and stole this land from my ancestors who had rightful claim to it for centuries.

Of course the TV version shows it another way, but any honest historian can give you the straight story of what actually happened, if you are interested. It isn't very pretty.

Since "Flag Waver" seems so adamant about sending the foreigners back may I suggest he start the trend by being the first to leave?—CHIEF RAIN IN THE FACE

DEAR CHIEF: Thank you for an interesting letter and an accurate (if somewhat oversimplified) perspective of American history.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 16-year-old girl who loves children. I do a lot of baby-sitting and it's sort of a hobby with me although I can use the extra money.

The two families where I sit most have small children who must be put to bed early. One of these homes has a broken TV which the people don't seem to care about getting repaired, so I have to sit around and look at the four walls all evening. This can be very boring for five hours.

I know you are against baby-sitters having boy friends visit when they are on the job but what about inviting a girl friend or two? You said once "no company" but I hope you will break down and change your advice because the two women I work for follow your column and they going to do as you say. Pretty please?—SAD SACK

DEAR SACK: I'm especially sad that with all the fascinating books that have been written you can't think of a thing to do when the TV konks out but sit and look at the four walls.

A wise philosopher once said that the surest test of a person is what he DOES when he has nothing to do. How do you stack up?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A person rather close to me is planning an elaborate wedding for her daughter. The woman is not wealthy but she is not destitute either. This girl is her only child.

The mother is telephoning friends and relatives and asking them to bring refreshments for the wedding buffet. My assignment is 50 finger sandwiches — chicken preferred. My sister has been asked to bring a large cake —angel food preferred.

The more I think about this cheap trick the madder I get. It seems to me that people ought to put on the kind of wedding they can afford and not take advantage of their friends this way. What is your opinion?—IRKED

DEAR IRKED: If you don't want to bring refreshments to the wedding, why don't you say so? Some people offer to bring refreshments to affairs of this kind, but putting the arm on friends and relatives is a pretty brassy maneuver.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been dating this man for three years. I've tried four or five times to break up with him but he won't let me.

Whenever I tell him I don't want to see him any more he begins to bawl. He says if I drop him he will sell his car, quit his job, and become a bum. He talks about joining the foreign legion or getting on a freighter—or maybe just killing himself. I doubt that he'd go THAT far but I could never be sure.

Yesterday my boss asked me to work late and finish some reports so he could take them out of town. I had to call my boy friend and cancel our dinner date. He began to cry on the phone and it took me 20 minutes to get him off.

I want to get rid of him permanently but he won't let me. Can you help? —CHAINED

DEAR CHAINED: Translated into honest English your problem reads something like this: "I'd like to dump this guy but there's no one else in sight and I don't want to sit around alone night after night. He's a bore, but he's better than nothing."

What this fellow needs is professional help. And what you need is the courage to face some lonely evenings until you can replace the cry-baby with someone more stable.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HELP NEEDED URGENTLY: This is not a police problem but a medical problem. Call a doctor—not a cop.

CONFIDENTIAL TO IS IT WORTH IT?: Edison said genius is 1% inspiration and 99% perspiration. Of course it's worth it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO OUT OF STEP: Nonsense. This is nothing to be worried about. The great philosopher Thoreau said, "If a man does not keep pace with his fellows perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer."

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. ANN LANDERS' newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Anna Lee Willison To Become Bride Of Victor DeMarino

Miss Anna Lee Willison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Willison, Flintstone, will become the bride of Victor Michael DeMarino, son of Michael DeMarino, Eckhart, and the late Mrs. Pauline DeMarino, this evening.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 7 p. m. in St. Michaels Catholic Church, Frostburg, with Rev. Regis Larkin officiating.

Mrs. Mary Frances Walters, Winchester Road, will be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, while Joseph DeMarino serves as his brother's best man.

The traditional wedding marches and a program of nuptial music will be played by Mrs. Richard Goldsworthy.

The bride has chosen a white linen dress with small white hat for her wedding. She will carry a bouquet of white orchids and lily of the valley.

Her attendant will wear a pink summer cotton dress, with pink hat and have a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Flintstone High School and is employed by the Liberty Trust Company. The bridegroom is a graduate of Beall High School and is employed by the First-Second National Bank and Trust Company.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception will be held at the Clary Club. Relatives and friends are welcome to attend.

Attendance Awards To Be Presented

Certificates and awards will be presented to 49 students for perfect attendance at the closing exercises of the Murley's Branch Bible School, which will be held Sunday at 10 a. m. Mrs. Paul Robinette, director, will make the presentations. "Traveling in God's Highway" was the theme of the school, held the past week with an average attendance of 55.

Each class will present a resume of what they learned and display projects made during the week. The public is invited.

Mrs. Robert Heavner, Mrs. John Humbertson and Mrs. James Piper were in charge of the nursery department; Mrs. Howard Bennett, Mrs. Ralph Mullenaux, beginners; Mrs. Eugene Kisamore, primary; Mrs. Gay Stonestreet, juniors, assisted by Mrs. Carol Humbertson and Miss Betty Twigg; Mrs. Paul Robinette, junior high. Miss Edith Bennett was in charge of recreation and refreshments. Mrs. Robert Riglеman was secretary-treasurer and Miss Pauline Twigg, pianist.

A hymn sing will be held at 7:30 Sunday evening.

Bride-Elect Honored

Among the parties given in compliment to Miss Charlotte Hiser, Locust Grove, were three bridal showers, one by Mrs. Fred Wolford, another by Mrs. Garland G. Hiser Jr., and the third by Mrs. Guy Shaffer.

The marriage of Miss Hiser to Richard Gary Wolford will take place tomorrow.

Entertaining at her home, Oldtown Road, Mrs. Wolford used iris, mums and peonies in her decorations. Each guest received a red rose corsage. Sixteen attended. Mrs. Hiser was hostess at her home on Washington Street, and used snapdragons and carnations for her decorations. She had 14 guests. Mrs. Shaffer, Maryland Avenue, used pink rosebuds in her decorations. She was hostess to 13 guests.

Darlene Rader Enters Queen Contest

An eighth candidate has enrolled for the annual Farm Queen contest. She is Darlene Rader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rader, Oldtown.

The deadline for entering the contest is July 1. A rehearsal will be held July 5 and the contest held in conjunction with the Farmer's Picnic July 6. The contest is open to any girl whose family derives 40 per cent or more of its income from the farm. Mrs. Arch Davis and Mrs. Clara Pollock are in charge of arrangements.

The Associated Women of the Farm Bureau will tour the Crystal Laundry June 25 at 10 a.m. Following the tour the group will go to Moon's Dining Room for lunch and a special meeting.

1938 Class Reunion Tomorrow

Allegany High School's Golden Jubilee class of 1938 will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a reunion dinner and dance tomorrow evening. It will be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, beginning with a cocktail hour at 6. A buffet supper will be served at 7.

John B. Macfarlane, New York, will be master of ceremonies and distribute the awards. C. Max Elbin, golf pro at Burning Tree Country Club, Silver Spring, will call the roll and introduce the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Wickard.

Entertainment will be by the Swing n' Aires. Dancing will be to the music of Peck Mills Orchestra.

The committee of arrangements consists of Mrs. Jeanne Lazarus Gerson, Mrs. Dorothy Wagner Shafer, Mrs. Jean Landis Sharps, Mrs. Esther Aronson Marx, Mrs. Katherine Rudd Reinhard, Miss Jane Williams, Mrs. Helen Newman Walburn, Mrs. Celestine Hinkle Rhind, and Mrs. LaVerne Thuss Hankins.

DAV Auxiliary To Have Report

A convention report will be given at the regular meeting of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, which will be held tonight at the Arch Street hose house. The convention was held at Ocean City June 13.

Those attending from Fort Washington Unit 2 were Mrs. Faye Herbaugh, Mrs. Clara Mantheiy, Mrs. Wilda Alburtis, Mrs. Patricia O'Beaden, and Mrs. Elinor Adams, who was elected second junior vice for the state of Maryland. Mrs. Louise Hughes, Baltimore, was elected commander.

Literature Discussed

The Workers' Council of St. Mark's United Church Sunday School discussed the proposed new literature at the meeting and decided to examine a kit.

Carl Smith announced seven members will attend the church camp at Worthington, Pa. Prayer was offered by Rev. Carl Clapp. Mrs. Sara Stouffer and Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer served refreshments.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Ladies' Night Out—Fright Or Polite?

It's becoming more and more usual for women to go out together in the evening, and there's no reason why they shouldn't enjoy each other's company, minus the men for a change.

But sometimes, hen parties come under some pretty justified criticism, I'm afraid, when they are held in public. Teen-agers gang up in, say, a drug store and take over the place, not always wearing what's appropriate for even a casual evening, dead set on attracting attention, especially of nearby males. What could be worse? Older girls and women fluttering and chattering conspicuously, haggling playfully over restaurant checks, and whispering together at lectures or at the theater.

From a man's viewpoint, women are never less attractive than in groups behaving in any of these ways. Good manners, of course, forbid comment. But if the good acts in an especially reserved manner, you may be sure that the men will be less critical of the manless females. I may be sticking my neck out a mile to bring up these points, but I think most men will agree with them:

Don't make the group too large —a few unescorted women are less noticable than a bevy of them. Don't frequent places where men go customarily stag or where all the other women are escorted. Dress appropriately and becomingly. Avoid too much discussion with the waiter about your table or what's on the menu, and with each other about the check. Hold back the aisles while the show's on stage or while the speaker is lecturing. Keep chatter down to a minimum. And spare us the girlish giggles! Ignore us without doing so deliberately—and if we men don't ignore, you, it's because we're quietly admiring your ladylike dignity and reserve.

Band Parents Receive Reports

A final report on the festival was given at the meeting of the Ridgeley Band Parents Association yesterday at the school. Mrs. James Conner presided. It was announced that $783 was cleared on the festival, and will be for operating expenses of the band for the year.

Karl Pfiefer, band director, announced that a bus will leave the school this evening at 6:30 for Short Gap to participate in the homecoming parade. The band will wear summer uniforms.

Tomorrow the band is to be at the school at 2 p.m. in full uniform to participate in the William E. Shuck memorial parade.

The Band Parents will resume meetings in September.

McKinley Chapter To Honor Master Masons Tonight

McKinley Chapter 12, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet in the Masonic Temple today at 8 p.m. Mrs. Mounsey Smoak, worthy matron, and John R. Earsom, worthy patron, will preside at the short business meeting.

Master Masons will be the guests of honor. A program will be presented for them, entitled "They Are Jolly Good Fellows" with all Eastern Star chapter officers taking part.

Those Masons who are not members of Eastern Star are invited to come for this program at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Elinor M. Umstot and her committee will serve refreshments following the meeting and program. This will be the last regular meeting for the chapter until September.

The Officers' Club will have a "Summer Dinner" at the Temple on July 20. Mrs. Smoak will be in charge of reservations.

Social Planned

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Cresaptown Methodist Church authorizes the local activities committee to arrange a social honoring Rev. and Mrs. William Balderson and family. Rev. Mr. Balderson has been reappointed to the church for another year.

Mrs. Edgar Hounshell conducted the meeting, at which time plans also were formulated to provide Bibles for high school and college graduates of the church. They will be presented at the services Sunday. Mrs. Balderson was named to attend the school of missions in July, and Mrs. Clara Lewis, alternate. Baked hams were given to families of two deceased church members. Reports were given by Mrs. William Riley and Mrs. Arlie Borror. 95 sick calls were made.

A program on "The Emblem Service" was conducted by Mrs. Edward Lewis, who explained the symbols and meaning. Mrs. Balderson offered prayer. Mrs. Howard Frankenberry was welcomed as a member.

Georgetta Gilford Heads Cumberland Soroptimists

A talk on Soroptimism and one on Rouma, Finland, featured the program at the installation dinner of the Soroptimist Club of Cumberland held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Miss Olivia A. Nicoll, past governor of the South Atlantic Region, spoke on Soroptimism, pointing out the importance of being a good Soroptimist and what she should do. She stressed that one should be devoted to the highest ideals and community affairs, as well as be a confident and friendly person.

Mrs. Karl Hager, a native of Rouma, Finland, now residing here, told of her pleasure in reading that the local club had been given a European sister club, the one at Rouma, Finland. She gave a brief history of Rouma, originally a trading place for Baltic countries. Founded in 1442, the town became a cultural center as early as the middle 14th Century. Originally exporting wood products, vessels, fish and handmade laces, it began to change to an industrial and maritime town with the 20th Century, yet many traditions are kept alive. Today, as 500 years ago, the whitewashed tower of Holy Cross Church still is visible to the seafarer. There are some narrow cobblestoned streets and old houses, and lacemaking remains popular.

Mrs. Hager spoke of the two shipyards, one having the largest drydock in all Scandanavian countries, meeting the Soviet Union's demand for 508 vessels in war reparations in eight years; of the navigation school and a teachers college for men, the three secondary and two commercial schools as well as several trade schools, and of the Soroptimist Club of Rouma, other women's clubs, youth organizations, Girl and Boy Scouts, YWCA, a 45-year-old church choir, two male choirs and symphony orchestra, and the exodus to the seashore on summer weekends.

Mrs. Georgetta Gilford was installed as president by Miss Nicoll. Other officers are Mrs. Eugenia Sturtz, vice president; Mrs. Josephine Beynon, recording secretary; Mrs. Myrtle Lafferty, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alice DeHaven, treasurer; Mrs. Blanche Mantell, three year; Mrs. Blanche Ridgway, two year and Mrs. Jean Cioni, one year board members; Mrs. Agnes Hersh, two year regional delegate.

Mrs. Maxine Doak presided and extended greetings. Mrs. Martha Wilson was mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Cioni introduced the guest speaker and Mrs. DeHaven the other guests. Mrs. Sturtz presented the gifts. Rev. Vernon Naugle, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, offered the invocation and closing at the piano. The group sang the National Anthem and gave the pledge of allegiance and the Soroptimist pledge.

An arrangement of white roses and pompons centered the table, which was decorated with the flags of all nations. Silver candelabra with white tapers were at either end.

Other guests were Roy Lafferty, R. C. Marker, Leo Crites, Ralph Doak, John Lindner, Amos DeHaven, Paul Gilford, Karl Hager, Robert Graham, Mrs. Pearl Dean, Miss Purena Grassi, Mrs. Vernon Naugle, Colleen Wilson. Other members present were Dr. Lillian C. Compton, Mrs. Alberta Lindner, Mrs. Beverly Myers, Miss Jeanette Bonig, Mrs. Nellie Crites and Miss May Tomlinson.

GUEST SPEAKER — Miss Virginia B. Johnson, Charleston, W. Va., state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Potomac Valley Chapter, DAR, tomorrow at Fort Ashby.

Former Residents Mark 57th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Self, 1203 Olive Street, Santa Barbara, Calif., former Cumberlanders, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary yesterday.

The former Miss Lucy Loibl, daughter of the late Charles and Lena Loibl, 411 North Mechanic Street, became the bride of Mr. Self, son of the late William and Laura Self, Witless Depot, Va., June 20, 1906. The late Rev. Dominic, OFM, Cap., officiated at the ceremony in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Their attendants were Miss Margaret Mullan and Jacob Loibl, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Self are the parents of three children, Mrs. Louise Dils, LaJolla, Calif.; Mrs. Elizabeth Dils, Santa Clara, Calif., and Mrs. Ann Shea, Santa Barbara. They have five grandchildren. Mrs. Clara Mullen and Mrs. Rachael Garner, Cumberland, are sisters of Mrs. Self.

Coming to Cumberland as a young man, Mr. Self owned and operated a plumbing business here and in Uniontown, Pa., before moving to California about 12 years ago.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Self was employed at Walter Walton's Grocery Store, North Mechanic Street.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from "Flag Waver" really got my blood to boiling. So he is in favor of shipping five million foreigners back to "where they came from," is he?

Well, I'm in favor of shipping 178 million foreigners back. In 1492 those foreigners started to come over here in boatloads — with their superior weapons and their big ideas. They murdered, plundered and stole this land from my ancestors who had rightful claim to it for centuries.

Of course the TV version shows it another way, but any honest historian can give you the straight story of what actually happened, if you are interested. It isn't very pretty.

Since "Flag Waver" seems so adamant about sending the foreigners back may I suggest he start the trend by being the first to leave?—CHIEF RAIN IN THE FACE

DEAR CHIEF: Thank you for an interesting letter and an accurate (if somewhat oversimplified) perspective of American history.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 16-year-old girl who loves children. I do a lot of baby-sitting and it's sort of a hobby with me although I can use the extra money.

The two families where I sit most have small children who must be put to bed early. One of these homes has a broken TV which the people don't seem to care about getting repaired, so I have to sit around and look at the four walls all evening. This can be very boring for five hours.

I know you are against baby-sitters having boy friends visit when they are on the job but what about inviting a girl friend or two? You said once "no company" but I hope you will break down and change your advice because the two women I work for follow your column and they going to do as you say. Pretty please?—SAD SACK

DEAR SACK: I'm especially sad that with all the fascinating books that have been written you can't think of a thing to do when the TV konks out but sit and look at the four walls.

A wise philosopher once said that the surest test of a person is what he DOES when he has nothing to do. How do you stack up?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A person rather close to me is planning an elaborate wedding for her daughter. The woman is not wealthy but she is not destitute either. This girl is her only child.

The mother is telephoning friends and relatives and asking them to bring refreshments for the wedding buffet. My assignment is 50 finger sandwiches — chicken preferred. My sister has been asked to bring a large cake —angel food preferred.

The more I think about this cheap trick the madder I get. It seems to me that people ought to put on the kind of wedding they can afford and not take advantage of their friends this way. What is your opinion?—IRKED

DEAR IRKED: If you don't want to bring refreshments to the wedding, why don't you say so? Some people offer to bring refreshments to affairs of this kind, but putting the arm on friends and relatives is a pretty brassy maneuver.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been dating this man for three years. I've tried four or five times to break up with him but he won't let me.

Whenever I tell him I don't want to see him any more he begins to bawl. He says if I drop him he will sell his car, quit his job, and become a bum. He talks about joining the foreign legion or getting on a freighter—or maybe just killing himself. I doubt that he'd go THAT far but I could never be sure.

Yesterday my boss asked me to work late and finish some reports so he could take them out of town. I had to call my boy friend and cancel our dinner date. He began to cry on the phone and it took me 20 minutes to get him off.

I want to get rid of him permanently but he won't let me. Can you help? —CHAINED

DEAR CHAINED: Translated into honest English your problem reads something like this: "I'd like to dump this guy but there's no one else in sight and I don't want to sit around alone night after night. He's a bore, but he's better than nothing."

What this fellow needs is professional help. And what you need is the courage to face some lonely evenings until you can replace the cry-baby with someone more stable.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HELP NEEDED URGENTLY: This is not a police problem but a medical problem. Call a doctor—not a cop.

CONFIDENTIAL TO IS IT WORTH IT?: Edison said genius is 1% inspiration and 99% perspiration. Of course it's worth it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO OUT OF STEP: Nonsense. This is nothing to be worried about. The great philosopher Thoreau said, "If a man does not keep pace with his fellows perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer."

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. ANN LANDERS' newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Anna Lee Willison To Become Bride Of Victor DeMarino

Miss Anna Lee Willison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Willison, Flintstone, will become the bride of Victor Michael DeMarino, son of Michael DeMarino, Eckhart, and the late Mrs. Pauline DeMarino, this evening.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 7 p. m. in St. Michaels Catholic Church, Frostburg, with Rev. Regis Larkin officiating.

Mrs. Mary Frances Walters, Winchester Road, will be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, while Joseph DeMarino serves as his brother's best man.

The traditional wedding marches and a program of nuptial music will be played by Mrs. Richard Goldsworthy.

The bride has chosen a white linen dress with small white hat for her wedding. She will carry a bouquet of white orchids and lily of the valley.

Her attendant will wear a pink summer cotton dress, with pink hat and have a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Flintstone High School and is employed by the Liberty Trust Company. The bridegroom is a graduate of Beall High School and is employed by the First-Second National Bank and Trust Company.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception will be held at the Clary Club. Relatives and friends are welcome to attend.

Attendance Awards To Be Presented

Certificates and awards will be presented to 49 students for perfect attendance at the closing exercises of the Murley's Branch Bible School, which will be held Sunday at 10 a. m. Mrs. Paul Robinette, director, will make the presentations. "Traveling in God's Highway" was the theme of the school, held the past week with an average attendance of 55.

Each class will present a resume of what they learned and display projects made during the week. The public is invited.

Mrs. Robert Heavner, Mrs. John Humbertson and Mrs. James Piper were in charge of the nursery department; Mrs. Howard Bennett, Mrs. Ralph Mullenaux, beginners; Mrs. Eugene Kisamore, primary; Mrs. Gay Stonestreet, juniors, assisted by Mrs. Carol Humbertson and Miss Betty Twigg; Mrs. Paul Robinette, junior high. Miss Edith Bennett was in charge of recreation and refreshments. Mrs. Robert Riglеman was secretary-treasurer and Miss Pauline Twigg, pianist.

A hymn sing will be held at 7:30 Sunday evening.

Bride-Elect Honored

Among the parties given in compliment to Miss Charlotte Hiser, Locust Grove, were three bridal showers, one by Mrs. Fred Wolford, another by Mrs. Garland G. Hiser Jr., and the third by Mrs. Guy Shaffer.

The marriage of Miss Hiser to Richard Gary Wolford will take place tomorrow.

Entertaining at her home, Oldtown Road, Mrs. Wolford used iris, mums and peonies in her decorations. Each guest received a red rose corsage. Sixteen attended. Mrs. Hiser was hostess at her home on Washington Street, and used snapdragons and carnations for her decorations. She had 14 guests. Mrs. Shaffer, Maryland Avenue, used pink rosebuds in her decorations. She was hostess to 13 guests.

Darlene Rader Enters Queen Contest

An eighth candidate has enrolled for the annual Farm Queen contest. She is Darlene Rader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rader, Oldtown.

The deadline for entering the contest is July 1. A rehearsal will be held July 5 and the contest held in conjunction with the Farmer's Picnic July 6. The contest is open to any girl whose family derives 40 per cent or more of its income from the farm. Mrs. Arch Davis and Mrs. Clara Pollock are in charge of arrangements.

The Associated Women of the Farm Bureau will tour the Crystal Laundry June 25 at 10 a.m. Following the tour the group will go to Moon's Dining Room for lunch and a special meeting.

1938 Class Reunion Tomorrow

Allegany High School's Golden Jubilee class of 1938 will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a reunion dinner and dance tomorrow evening. It will be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, beginning with a cocktail hour at 6. A buffet supper will be served at 7.

John B. Macfarlane, New York, will be master of ceremonies and distribute the awards. C. Max Elbin, golf pro at Burning Tree Country Club, Silver Spring, will call the roll and introduce the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Wickard.

Entertainment will be by the Swing n' Aires. Dancing will be to the music of Peck Mills Orchestra.

The committee of arrangements consists of Mrs. Jeanne Lazarus Gerson, Mrs. Dorothy Wagner Shafer, Mrs. Jean Landis Sharps, Mrs. Esther Aronson Marx, Mrs. Katherine Rudd Reinhard, Miss Jane Williams, Mrs. Helen Newman Walburn, Mrs. Celestine Hinkle Rhind, and Mrs. LaVerne Thuss Hankins.

DAV Auxiliary To Have Report

A convention report will be given at the regular meeting of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, which will be held tonight at the Arch Street hose house. The convention was held at Ocean City June 13.

Those attending from Fort Washington Unit 2 were Mrs. Faye Herbaugh, Mrs. Clara Mantheiy, Mrs. Wilda Alburtis, Mrs. Patricia O'Beaden, and Mrs. Elinor Adams, who was elected second junior vice for the state of Maryland. Mrs. Louise Hughes, Baltimore, was elected commander.

Literature Discussed

The Workers' Council of St. Mark's United Church Sunday School discussed the proposed new literature at the meeting and decided to examine a kit.

Carl Smith announced seven members will attend the church camp at Worthington, Pa. Prayer was offered by Rev. Carl Clapp. Mrs. Sara Stouffer and Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer served refreshments.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Ladies' Night Out—Fright Or Polite?

It's becoming more and more usual for women to go out together in the evening, and there's no reason why they shouldn't enjoy each other's company, minus the men for a change.

But sometimes, hen parties come under some pretty justified criticism, I'm afraid, when they are held in public. Teen-agers gang up in, say, a drug store and take over the place, not always wearing what's appropriate for even a casual evening, dead set on attracting attention, especially of nearby males. What could be worse? Older girls and women fluttering and chattering conspicuously, haggling playfully over restaurant checks, and whispering together at lectures or at the theater.

From a man's viewpoint, women are never less attractive than in groups behaving in any of these ways. Good manners, of course, forbid comment. But if the good acts in an especially reserved manner, you may be sure that the men will be less critical of the manless females. I may be sticking my neck out a mile to bring up these points, but I think most men will agree with them:

Don't make the group too large —a few unescorted women are less noticable than a bevy of them. Don't frequent places where men go customarily stag or where all the other women are escorted. Dress appropriately and becomingly. Avoid too much discussion with the waiter about your table or what's on the menu, and with each other about the check. Hold back the aisles while the show's on stage or while the speaker is lecturing. Keep chatter down to a minimum. And spare us the girlish giggles! Ignore us without doing so deliberately—and if we men don't ignore, you, it's because we're quietly admiring your ladylike dignity and reserve.

Band Parents Receive Reports

A final report on the festival was given at the meeting of the Ridgeley Band Parents Association yesterday at the school. Mrs. James Conner presided. It was announced that $783 was cleared on the festival, and will be for operating expenses of the band for the year.

Karl Pfiefer, band director, announced that a bus will leave the school this evening at 6:30 for Short Gap to participate in the homecoming parade. The band will wear summer uniforms.

Tomorrow the band is to be at the school at 2 p.m. in full uniform to participate in the William E. Shuck memorial parade.

The Band Parents will resume meetings in September.

McKinley Chapter To Honor Master Masons Tonight

McKinley Chapter 12, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet in the Masonic Temple today at 8 p.m. Mrs. Mounsey Smoak, worthy matron, and John R. Earsom, worthy patron, will preside at the short business meeting.

Master Masons will be the guests of honor. A program will be presented for them, entitled "They Are Jolly Good Fellows" with all Eastern Star chapter officers taking part.

Those Masons who are not members of Eastern Star are invited to come for this program at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Elinor M. Umstot and her committee will serve refreshments following the meeting and program. This will be the last regular meeting for the chapter until September.

The Officers' Club will have a "Summer Dinner" at the Temple on July 20. Mrs. Smoak will be in charge of reservations.

Social Planned

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Cresaptown Methodist Church authorizes the local activities committee to arrange a social honoring Rev. and Mrs. William Balderson and family. Rev. Mr. Balderson has been reappointed to the church for another year.

Mrs. Edgar Hounshell conducted the meeting, at which time plans also were formulated to provide Bibles for high school and college graduates of the church. They will be presented at the services Sunday. Mrs. Balderson was named to attend the school of missions in July, and Mrs. Clara Lewis, alternate. Airline Offer Spurned

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pan American World Airways and W.R. Grace & Co. have turned down the offer of Braniff Airways to buy Panagra Airlines for $22 million. The companies said they were rejecting the offer because Grace already has agreed to sell its half to Pan Am for $10.625 million in cash or 391,300 shares of Pan Am stock at Grace's option.

State's Attorney's Office Receives Complaints Of False Phone Calls

An unusually large number of complaints in recent weeks at both the City Police Department and state's attorney's office brought forth a warning yesterday that persons placing false orders for merchandise by telephone will be prosecuted.

The state's attorney's office warns that calls of such nature constitute misuse and unlawful use of the telephone, in violation of Section 555A of Article 27 of the Maryland Criminal Code.

The law, passed at the 1961 session of the State Legislature, provides that conviction on the offense of telephone misuse carries a penalty of a year's imprisonment, a $500 fine, or both.

Chief B. F. Gaffney said the City Police Department has received numerous complaints recently from merchants and business establishments who have been victimized by false telephone orders.

He explained that orders for merchandise have been placed by telephone, but upon delivery the person whose name and address were used had no knowledge of the order.

The state's attorney's office points out that such calls result in substantial monetary losses, as well as being a nuisance and causing inconvenience to the business places. In many cases, the calls have been for merchandise of a perishable nature.

A number of such cases have been successfully prosecuted recently, according to the state's attorney's office, and personnel there will continue to prosecute all known offenders.

Richard Dayton, local manager of the C&P Telephone Company, has offered the cooperation and assistance of his office and personnel to police and authorities in apprehending callers who place false orders.

The state's attorney's office said some merchants have adopted a policy of checking telephone calls by calling back the person in whose name the order was placed and verifying the order.

The whale is the only inhabitant of the sea to have a country declare war on it. France did so, in effect, in 1921. It ordered all its naval vessels to fire on every whale seen, because they were believed to be disturbing sardine fisheries.

Airline Offer Spurned

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pan American World Airways and W.R. Grace & Co. have turned down the offer of Braniff Airways to buy Panagra Airlines for $22 million. The companies said they were rejecting the offer because Grace already has agreed to sell its half to Pan Am for $10.625 million in cash or 391,300 shares of Pan Am stock at Grace's option.

State's Attorney's Office Receives Complaints Of False Phone Calls

An unusually large number of complaints in recent weeks at both the City Police Department and state's attorney's office brought forth a warning yesterday that persons placing false orders for merchandise by telephone will be prosecuted.

The state's attorney's office warns that calls of such nature constitute misuse and unlawful use of the telephone, in violation of Section 555A of Article 27 of the Maryland Criminal Code.

The law, passed at the 1961 session of the State Legislature, provides that conviction on the offense of telephone misuse carries a penalty of a year's imprisonment, a $500 fine, or both.

Chief B. F. Gaffney said the City Police Department has received numerous complaints recently from merchants and business establishments who have been victimized by false telephone orders.

He explained that orders for merchandise have been placed by telephone, but upon delivery the person whose name and address were used had no knowledge of the order.

The state's attorney's office points out that such calls result in substantial monetary losses, as well as being a nuisance and causing inconvenience to the business places. In many cases, the calls have been for merchandise of a perishable nature.

A number of such cases have been successfully prosecuted recently, according to the state's attorney's office, and personnel there will continue to prosecute all known offenders.

Richard Dayton, local manager of the C&P Telephone Company, has offered the cooperation and assistance of his office and personnel to police and authorities in apprehending callers who place false orders.

The state's attorney's office said some merchants have adopted a policy of checking telephone calls by calling back the person in whose name the order was placed and verifying the order.

The whale is the only inhabitant of the sea to have a country declare war on it. France did so, in effect, in 1921. It ordered all its naval vessels to fire on every whale seen, because they were believed to be disturbing sardine fisheries.

Maryland Bids Monday For '64 Demo Conclave

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland will make a final pitch Monday for the 1964 Democratic National Convention to be held in Baltimore.

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, who initiated the move last January, said Thursday he is "extremely optimistic" that Baltimore will be chosen.

The site committee of the Democratic National Committee is to meet in Washington Monday and Maryland has been invited to send representatives to answer questions about facilities.

Goldstein said Thomas D'Alesandro III, president of the City Council; Paul Welsh, secretary of the Baltimore Civic Center Commission; William Tutton Jr., president of the Restaurant Association of Maryland; and L. H. Denton, manager of the Baltimore Convention Bureau will represent the city.

The comptroller, who is chairman of the Maryland group attempting to obtain the convention, will be representing Gov. Tawes and the state on a tour of Assateague Island by Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall. He said he plans to go to the Washington meeting as soon as the island tour is completed.

"After a tour of the Civic Center, hotels and other facilities last April, committee members told me Baltimore has the best facilities for a convention that they had seen," Goldstein said.

In February, Maryland made this offer to the site committee headed by William S. Potter of Wilmington, Del.:

Free use of the Baltimore Civic Center's total facilities, including area seating for 13,500, stage seating for 700, and sufficient space for seating 500 press, radio and television personnel.

An adjoining exhibition area of 100,000 square feet adaptable for luncheons, banquets, and news media operations.

Necessary operating personnel such as ushers, police, sound and light technicians without cost.

Waiver of costs of space in hotels and motels to the convention hall.

A pledge of an additional $420,000 in cash to defray expenses of the convention.

The total offer, including rental value of facilities and wages of civic center personnel, would come to $545,000.

Goldstein said the pledge money can be raised easily if the committee selects Baltimore as a site.

The last national party convention held in Baltimore was in 1912 when Woodrow Wilson was nominated. Presidents Jackson and Lincoln also were nominated there.

Fingerprinting Of Teachers Hit

BALTIMORE (AP) — A lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union denounced Thursday the fingerprinting of Montgomery County school teachers.

"It is an infringement on the rights of privacy, but it goes much deeper than that," said Fred E. Weisgal. "I consider this practice degrading to the teachers."

The Montgomery County Board of Education has been fingerprinting the teachers for three years and checking them with the FBI.

The board's proposal to have the county police do the checking and to keep a file has drawn protests by an association representing 3,750 teachers. It has asked the state board of education to overrule the county board.

Barmaid's Death Linked To Zantzinger Encounter

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A medical examiner Thursday linked the death of bar waitress Hattie Carroll to an emotionally upsetting encounter with William D. Zantzinger at a Baltimore charity ball.

But, he added, the "tremendous emotional upsurge" could have resulted from words alone instead of physical violence.

The opinion came from Dr. Charles S. Petty Jr., the final prosecution witness at Zantzinger's homicide trial in the death of the 57-year-old Negro barmaid.

Petty, assistant medical examiner for Baltimore, performed an autopsy on Mrs. Carroll's body after her death Feb. 9, in a hospital.

She had collapsed about nine hours earlier while tending bar at a white tie society function attended by Zantzinger, and the state accused him of causing her to suffer a fatal cerebral hemorrhage by hitting her on the right shoulder with a novelty cane during a fit of impatience with her service.

Asked by Deputy State's attorney Charles E. Moylan Jr. for his opinion on any relationship between that incident and the death of Mrs. Carroll, a chronic sufferer of high blood pressure, Petty replied:

"My opinion is that there was a definite cause and effect relationship."

He had heard earlier witnesses testify that Mrs. Carroll was afflicted by partial paralysis and slurred speech after the encounter with the 24-year-old Zantzinger, a Southern Maryland tobacco farmer.

"I feel that there is a definite cause and effect relationship between this assault and the onset of the symptoms," Petty testified. He modified this answer to replace the word "assault" by "words and rap on the side and the neck."

Under cross - examination, he said the autopsy showed "no evidence of physical damage at all" from any blow.

Asked whether harsh words alone could have caused a blood pressure increase and resultant hemorrhage, Petty answered:

"It's entirely possible that it might. I'm sure that words alone could cause an increase in her blood pressure."

Three of Mrs. Carroll's co-workers earlier described the caning incident to the three judges hearing the case without a jury in Washington County Circuit Court.

One of these, Mrs. Marina Patterson, enacted her version of the incident. She was followed to the stand by fellow bar maid, Grace Shelton and Shirley Birrell.

They were among a string of prosecution witnesses who said the 6-foot, 1-inch, 200 pound defendant from Mount Victoria had spent much of the evening drunkenly insulting other guests and hotel employes. Two hotel workers testified he had whacked them with a light, wooden novelty cane.

Maryland News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the long run, says Bishop John Wesley Lord of the Methodist Church, the Supreme Court's ruling against compulsory prayers in public schools will "conserve and protect the spiritual values that lie at the heart of our democracy."

The Washington area bishop said: "I believe there will be some loss as the result of this decision, but the loss can be compensated by the recognition that the primary responsibility for religious nurture rests with the home and the church."

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Fifteen owners of restaurants, motels, hotels and a movie in Easton have agreed voluntarily to open their establishments to Negroes, beginning July 8.

The mayor and council of Easton announced Thursday the action had been taken, one week after a bi-racial committee was appointed in Easton. The committee expressed hope the agreement would "avoid any racial strife or disturbances such as have been prevalent throughout other sections of the country."

Easton is only 16 miles from Cambridge, where racial disorders brought National Guard troops to the city.

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP) — John R. Jewell was elected president of Region One, American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, Thursday.

Jewell, Maryland's commissioner of motor vehicles, succeeds Paul A. MacDonald, Maine's secretary of state.

Park Explains Racial Policy

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Gwynn Oak Amusement Park, where Negroes have tried unsuccessfully in past years to be admitted, has issued an eight-point statement to the state explaining why it plans to continue its policy segregation.

A letter to Parren J. Mitchell, executive secretary of the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations, signed by James F. Price, the park vice president, said "no solution could possibly evolve" from a meeting between the two groups at this time. The commission had invited the park owners to meet in an effort to settle the racial problems at the northwest Baltimore park.

Price said the commission has no enforcement power except as provided under the Public Accommodations act. Then he added, "The great weight of legal opinion which we have obtained holds that a recent Supreme Court decision has the effect of already rendering the Public Accommodations Bill, in its present form, an unconstitutional act."

Talbot County Offers U. Md. Branch Site

EASTON, Md. (AP) — The University of Maryland has been offered the site of its choice in Talbot County for the university's proposed Eastern Shore branch.

The Talbot County Economic Development Committee announced that the offer was made Wednesday during a meeting between county officials and Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, university president, at College Park Wednesday.

The committee said that once the university's Board of Regents select a suitable site, the county commissioners would then purchase it and make it available without cost to the university.

Attending the meeting with Dr. Elkins were Sen. John-Clarence North, D-Talbot; County Commissioner H. T. Slaughter Jr., and B. C. Boshell and Norman Harrington of the economic development unit.

Easton was the second Eastern Shore community to offer the regents land for a branch. Cambridge officials previously had done so.

The 1963 Legislature authorized the university to set up four undergraduate branches on the Shore, southern and western Maryland and Baltimore County.

The Washington area bishop said: "I believe there will be some loss as the result of this decision, but the loss can be compensated by the recognition that the primary responsibility for religious nurture rests with the home and the church."

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Fifteen owners of restaurants, motels, hotels and a movie in Easton have agreed voluntarily to open their establishments to Negroes, beginning July 8.

The mayor and council of Easton announced Thursday the action had been taken, one week after a bi-racial committee was appointed in Easton. The committee expressed hope the agreement would "avoid any racial strife or disturbances such as have been prevalent throughout other sections of the country."

Easton is only 16 miles from Cambridge, where racial disorders brought National Guard troops to the city.

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP) — John R. Jewell was elected president of Region One, American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, Thursday.

Jewell, Maryland's commissioner of motor vehicles, succeeds Paul A. MacDonald, Maine's secretary of state.

Park Explains Racial Policy

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Gwynn Oak Amusement Park, where Negroes have tried unsuccessfully in past years to be admitted, has issued an eight-point statement to the state explaining why it plans to continue its policy segregation.

A letter to Parren J. Mitchell, executive secretary of the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations, signed by James F. Price, the park vice president, said "no solution could possibly evolve" from a meeting between the two groups at this time. The commission had invited the park owners to meet in an effort to settle the racial problems at the northwest Baltimore park.

Price said the commission has no enforcement power except as provided under the Public Accommodations act. Then he added, "The great weight of legal opinion which we have obtained holds that a recent Supreme Court decision has the effect of already rendering the Public Accommodations Bill, in its present form, an unconstitutional act."

Really—Gas cools homes, too?

Surprised? Why? That clean, dependable, thrifty Gas flame does such an efficient job of heating . . . of course it's ideal for cooling, too! And the best part of all is that a single Gas Air Conditioning unit will heat your home in winter, cool it in summer. Just a twist of the dial and you have any temperature you want, any month of the year, in every room of your house!

Or, if you already have a forced air Gas heating system in your home, you can convert it to air conditioning just by adding a Gas cooling unit. It's easy to install. And remember, because a thrifty Gas flame does both the heating and cooling jobs, your operating costs stay low. Call your Gas Company soon for full information and a free estimate.

NEW YORK (AP)—With the hot weather season close at hand, annual debate has started in Wall Street about summer rallies in the stock market.

The subject brings snorts from some analysts.

"The market could not care less what the thermometer says," says James Dines, an advisory service proprietor.

But in some quarters, the belief is intrenched that stock prices traditionally climb in July and August. There are impressive statistics that bear out this view.

United Business Service, a Boston advisory service, reports that midsummer advances have outnumbered declines better than 2 to 1 since 1897 as measured by one popular average.

United Business found that the average of Dow Jones industrial stocks gained in 45 out of 65 Julys and in 46 out of 65 Augusts, proportions bettered only in December.

The number of possible combinations of blood types that might exist in a particular human being has been established at 1,152,900,000,000,000,000.

About one American in 12 is more than 64 years old.

No 'Milestone' Set By Soviet Space Duet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. space official this week termed the Soviet Union's latest orbital flights a "significant accomplishment." But he said the Soviets failed to produce the new space "milestone" American experts had expected.

The statements were made by Dr. Edward C. Welsh, executive secretary of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, the group which advises President Kennedy on U.S. space programs.

There was considerable belief in Washington that the Soviets originally planned to attempt a space coupling feat, perhaps between the craft of Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky and another which was to have been launched earlier.

Welsh and other U.S. space experts had expected the Soviet Union to attempt such a feat or to have planned longer orbital missions than were carried out by the two latest cosmonauts. Bykovsky came down just under five days and Valentina Tereskoova after slightly less than three days.

Welsh said that orbiting a woman was a "big propaganda plus" for the Soviets which drew more attention to the flights than would have been the case with two male astronauts. But he said it did not advance space technology.

Program For Supersonic Jetliner Project Outlined

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Administrator N. R. Halaby of the Federal Aviation Agency Wednesday outlined the government-industry program to develop a passenger airplane capable of flying faster than 2,000 miles an hour before the end of 1970.

He said the project would cost from $700 million to $1 billion. An appropriation would be needed this year to get the program under way.

Halaby, in a speech to the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, said the FAA was preparing specifications for the proposed supersonic passenger plane to release for a design competition in August.

He estimated the competition among airframe manufacturers would run about 17 months. He said it was the "hope" of the government to select one airframe manufacturer and one engine manufacturer after five months of design competition.

"The airplane should be flying for this country in passenger service before the end of 1970," he added.

AMA Defers Stand On Cigarette Smoking

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—The American Medical Association postponed taking an official stand Wednesday on the tobacco-public health controversy on the grounds that all the evidence is not yet in.

Its ruling house of delegates adopted a resolution which emphasized that it was "merely deferring any public pronouncement pending the availability of more information." In doing so it turned thumbs down on a resolution of the Florida delegation which called for the AMA to condemn cigarette smoking as a causative factor in lung cancer, heart-artery diseases and other disorders.

Instead it adopted the recommendation of that AMA's board of trustees that it await the report of a committee of the U.S. Public Health Service which now is studying all the scientific evidence bearing on the controversy.

Tibetans In Nepal Lead Hand-To-Mouth Existence

By MICHAEL T. MALLOY

KATMANDU (UPI) — The tragedy of Tibet lives on here in Nepal, where almost 5,000 refugees from Red Chinese terror are hunting helplessly for land and jobs.

Most of the Tibetans lead a hand-to-mouth existence. They are supported partly by the International Red Cross and partly by selling the jewelry, prayer wheels and religious objects with which they escaped from Tibet.

Even their money—often their life savings—is now worthless. Their old Tibetan coins and bills are good for nothing except sale to tourists as souvenirs.

The Tibetans began streaming into Nepal in 1959, after the Chinese set out to smash the last vestiges of their traditional way of life. Many of them continued straight on into India, in the hope of following the exiled Dalai Lama.

But an estimated 7,000 stayed on in Nepal, where the International Red Cross attempted to care for them. The burden was lightened this winter, when 1,800 refugees fled to India in the wake of that country's border war with China.

Some of those who fled were afraid that the new fighting meant that the Chinese might pursue them into Nepal. Others, especially the fierce Khampa tribesmen, hoped that India would train and arm them to fight the Chinese.

The remainder are still scattered across Nepal. A dozen Swiss men and women of the Red Cross have gathered them into settlements where they try to provide them with unused land, or to set up simple industries to help them support themselves.

The Red Cross efforts have continued for three years. The burden will be taken up by the Swiss government sometime this month, when local Red Cross chief Max Stalder of Miringen, Switzerland, leaves for Africa to investigate the refugee situation in the Congo and Angola.

One of the projects to be handed over is almost unique among refugee programs: Its people support themselves.

The 338 Tibetans who camp in mud huts in the Katmandu suburb of Jawlekal have developed into a self-sufficient little community of weavers, craftsmen and toy-makers.

The Tibetans rarely earn more than two dollars per week from their craftsmenship, but because men, women and teen-agers all put in a full day's work, they are able to live at least as well as they did in their poverty-stricken homeland.

The most striking outside assistance is the Red Cross supported dispensary, where nurse Lena Hofer, of Zurich, cares for 70 patients per day.

Miss Hofer came here for two months of emergency duty, and is still here after more than two years. Her dispensary has become so well known that Tibetans trek in from outside Katmandu Valley for her medical care.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Guess what happens to children who nibble erasers?

They get eraserophagia, that's what. The new disease, eraser swallowing, was spotted recently by radiologists, medical detectives with X-rays eyes. Seems the eraser fragments aren't easily digested.

Drs. J. L. Curry and W. J. Howland, of Wheeling, W. Va., saw the bits and pieces of leftover evidence on X-rays of school children.

To prove that seein's believin' they chewed a few erasers and then took X-ray pictures of themselves, duplicating the initial findings.

Reporting to the American College of Radiology, the doctors said the disease will be rubbed out when children stop eating erasers.

The odd report in the annals of radiology is just one of many fascinating incidental findings via X-ray.

In a report on such findings, Dr. Hohn L. McClenahan, of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine in Philadelphia, said:

"The abiltiy to recognize and report unexpected findings in a conventional search has been given the happy name, serendipity, and there are few talents of more value to the doctor and his patients."

The health sleuths using X-rays even have come up the serendipity way with findings patients—or their parents—don't want to admit to.

"Of all the stories told by incidental findings, perhaps the unhappiest of all is that of parental abuse to children," the American College of Radiology reported.

Take the case of a seven month old baby girl—brought to the hospital 30 hours after a burn caused by an electric iron falling on her shoulder.

X-ray examination revealed extensive bone damage of the shoulder which in no way could be associated with the burn.

Suspicious of these findings, the radiologist then X-rayed other bones, finding multiple fractures in various stages of healing. Such findings often strongly suggest parental abuse.

Investigation into the infant's home life supported the doctor's initial hunch. The baby was unwanted and there was evidence of alcoholism on the part of the parents.

Eventually the parents admitted they beat the baby. The child was placed in a foster home.

Sometimes concealed weapons are found during X-ray exams. A pretty young waitress in Little Rock, Ark., for example, was found to have a pistol cradled in her bosom during a routine chest X-ray examination.

"Since no one was anxious to question her as to the purpose of the weapon, the story behind this incidental finding remains a mystery," a radiologist noted.

Tibetans In Nepal Lead Hand-To-Mouth Existence

By MICHAEL T. MALLOY

KATMANDU (UPI) — The tragedy of Tibet lives on here in Nepal, where almost 5,000 refugees from Red Chinese terror are hunting helplessly for land and jobs.

Most of the Tibetans lead a hand-to-mouth existence. They are supported partly by the International Red Cross and partly by selling the jewelry, prayer wheels and religious objects with which they escaped from Tibet.

Even their money—often their life savings—is now worthless. Their old Tibetan coins and bills are good for nothing except sale to tourists as souvenirs.

The Tibetans began streaming into Nepal in 1959, after the Chinese set out to smash the last vestiges of their traditional way of life. Many of them continued straight on into India, in the hope of following the exiled Dalai Lama.

Alhambra Event Scheduled On Sunday

Wamba Caravan 89, Order of The Alhambra, will hold its annual memorial Mass and family picnic on Sunday at the Church of Seven Dolors, Beans Cove, Pa.

Joseph Divico, grand commander, said the Memorial Mass will be in honor of deceased members of the Caravan. They are Sir Noble Norman E. Chirdon, Sir Noble Wilbert R. Firlie and Sir Noble G. Arnold Gunther.

The Mass will be celebrated by Rev. John C. Lipinski, OFM, Cap., pastor of the church and a member of the Caravan. The Capuchin Brothers of SS. Peter and Paul's Monastery will sing during the Mass, accompanied by Peter Schumacher, organist.

Following the Mass a turkey dinner will be served by Our Lady's Club of Beans Cove.

The family picnic will follow the dinner and games will be under the direction of James A. Collins. He will be assisted by Miss Joanie Weisenmiller, Miss Donna Roby, Miss Greg Christopher and Miss Gee Sirna.

The affair is open to members of the Caravan. Guests will attend from Order of Alhambra Caravans in Johnstown, Pa., Butler, Pa., Aliquippa, Pa., Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Hyattsville and the District of Columbia. Other guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Connelley and family, a neophyte of Wamba Caravan.

Divico, who is being assisted by Paul V. Martin, said a late snack will be served at the close of the picnic. The snack will include ham sandwiches, baked beans and potato chips.

Divico said the Mass will begin at noon and the dinner will be served at 1 p. m. The snack will be served around 6 p. m.

City Reopens Homestead Ave.

The Street Department has completed opening Homestead Avenue between East Fourth Street and Quebec Avenue, Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday.

The area is approximately 400 feet long and 30 feet wide.

Street Superintendent Ray Valentine said the work took two days by three crews of six men, a grader and two trucks.

Brush and trees were cut and hauled away and the power grader shaped the street. Material used included 200 tons of airport shale, 20 tons of cinders and shale from the Wineow Street area and 30 feet of 12 inch steel drain pipe.

Opening of this block of Homestead will allow trucks and heavy equipment of the Potomac Edison Company to use this street to the Industrial Boulevard. It will keep such heavy traffic off Blackiston Avenue and sections of Sommerville Avenue which are light-surfaced.

Also important is the opening up of six building lots.

Additionally, the new street will give access to the new C&P Company warehouse which is being built in the area.

Marbles Champ In Finals

Cumberland's marbles champion, Louis Harris, shot an amazing 16-2 today to gain a place in in the semi-final round of eight in the national marbles championship at Wildwood By The Sea, N. J.

Harris goes into the semi-final round today with the best record ever compiled by a local champ in the national event, according to C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, who accompanied him to Wildwood.

Harris, 11, sponsored by the Cumberland Lions Club, wound up preliminary play with a 49 won, 23 lost record which put him in the seventh spot.

During his sensational play yesterday he had six "sticks" in which he knocked all 13 marbles from the ring with one shot.

Today, the eight semi-finalists will be divided into two leagues of four. Each will shoot 24 games and the boys with the best record in each league will meet for the national title.

The local champion told Mr. Mason he hopes very much to win a bicycle—the prize given to the top four semi-finalists.

He was preparing for the finals at a special practice session held last night.

His record is good with the opponents he will face—3 to 3 against the three boys he will face in this morning's semi-finals and 7-7 against the top four contenders.

Patsy Coon, Pittsburgh, won the girls' championship yesterday, Mr. Mason reported.

Louis and Mr. Mason will leave Wildwood for home after lunch today.

Fireworks Reminder Issued By State

With the Fourth of July holiday approaching, reminders have been issued by the State Fire Marshal's Office in Baltimore that Maryland statutes prohibit the use, possession or sale of fireworks of any type except by permit for public display.

This permit may be obtained only after the necessary property damage and liability insurance is filed along with an application in the amount prescribed by the Fire Marshal's office.

A fine of up to $50 is provided for use or possession of fireworks, while a person selling them is subject to a fine of up to $200 for each offense. In addition, persons crossing the state line into Maryland with fireworks for illegal sale or use within the state are subject to federa prosecution.

Is it proper to call for Gordon's by name in English Pubs?

It's not a matter of being proper. It's unnecessary. For when most Englishmen ask for gin, they expect to get Gordon's. After all, its distinctive dryness and delicate flavour have been a part of English life for 194 years. Americans, however, have been enjoying Gordon's for a somewhat shorter span of time. So it is wise (and proper) to specify Gordon's by name. Your first sip of a Gordon's martini will tell you why it's the biggest selling gin over here as well as in England and the rest of the world.

Next Chapter In The Wheat Story

No sooner had the smoke cleared from the rejection by wheat farmers of oppressive controls than a new cloud appeared over the wheat fields. This one might be around for a long time because it is composed of the controversies swirling around the question, what next in wheat legislation?

To many administration partisans, the question was answered in the wheat referendum. They are willing to forget marketing or acreage controls for a year as reprisal against the farmers for rejecting the administration's strict controls.

But such inaction could cost the rural population $700 million in income next year, by the administration's own calculation. A loss of this magnitude, in an election year, could have repercussions at the polls, and might be felt economically in urban centers.

Lack of new wheat legislation this year is more likely to be the result of inability of Congress to agree on an approach than unwillingness to help the farmer. At present, proposals are being advanced which run the gamut from the American Farm Bureau's return to the soil bank with increased price supports plan to various modifications of the acreage-marketing allotments which have been in effect since 1938.

All of the proposals are alike in two respects: They would increase the impact expected if the administration's price drop from $1.82 to $1.10 a bushel materializes. And they would blaze the trail for an eventual return to a free market economy.

There is, of course, the possibility that wheat producers may be able to control output and absorb the customary million-bushel surplus without the drastic price drop predicted. But this is a possibility most parties interested in the wheat controversy would rather not test, except as a last resort.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Perils Of An Independent

Not so long ago rumors were floated that certain down-the-line members of the Kennedy Administration were resolved to purge Democratic Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut. The Dodd organization got wind of the nefarious movement by chance, when a friend happened to be approached by those who were trying to drum up sentiment against the Senator. Fortunately, the purge died a-borning when Dodd's colleague from Connecticut, Senator Abe Ribicoff, and high Democratic Party factotum John Bailey announced that Dodd was their man in spite of his refusal to accept most of the points in the Kennedy foreign policy position.

Dodd's troubles illustrate the hazards of the man who considers that it is the prime duty of a U.S. Senator to use his own best judgment, subject to check at the polls every six years. Along with Frank Lausche of Ohio, the Connecticut Senator believes that the business of the politician is to think things through for himself, not to carry a torch for a "leader" in the White House or for the latest plebiscitary (and possibly temporary) consensus as announced by the Gallup Poll.

Naturally such independence is sniped at by all manner of people. The Left Wing of the Democratic Party is against Tom Dodd because he is the undisputed leader in the Senate of the advocates of a strong foreign policy vis-a-vis Russia. The Right Wing of the Republican Party denounces him for his domestic policies, which stress a moderate State Welfarism. But if Dodd has some extremely vocal enemies, he has a host of silent friends.

This columnist, who thinks it the duty of voluntary associations to carry much of the welfarist burden of a free society, doesn't follow Dodd on some of his domestic proposals. But when Rightists shake their heads over one of those statistical ratings which put Dodd far over on the Left because of his votes on relief and labor legislation, the danger of judging a man by simple addition and subtraction becomes manifest. The statistical ratings must be subjected to tests of quality and priority if they are to mean anything.

Thus, to any conservative or old-fashioned liberal who puts foreign policy first on the ground that we must keep from being done in by the Communists if we are to have any freedom to argue among ourselves, the fate of Tom Dodd in 1964 becomes a transcendent matter. On foreign policy Dodd has been the Great Educator. If I recall correctly, he was the only Senator to speak out on the floor of the Senate against Khrushchev's visit to the United States during the Camp David-Spirit of Geneva period of false hopes. He was the first to oppose timid atomic test ban concessions at Geneva in 1960.

He considered it illogical to use our strength to oppose self-determination in Katanga when we support it everywhere else in the world; he warned against the big build-up of Soviet power in Cuba in the early part of September, 1962, when the White House was still pooh-poohing it; and he has insisted that it is the duty of the United States to pursue policies that will not snuff out the hopes of ultimate liberation in Poland, Hungary, and other Iron Curtain satellites.

In short, Dodd merits the support of conservatives and old-fashioned liberals on a priority basis no matter how he votes on such things as medicare or federal aid to education.

Some of those who have supported Dodd on foreign policy have expressed disillusion with the Senator because he recently teamed up with Senator Humphrey to advocate a unilateral U.S. promise to refrain from conducting nuclear tests in the atmosphere as long as the Russians follow the same course. The idea would be to mitigate the menace of fall-out. Those who object to Dodd's position on this argue that the Dodd Resolution would give Khrushchev the power to decide when and under what circumstances the U.S. will conduct tests. But it is Dodd's understanding that as long as the U.S. maintains a full-speed-ahead program of underground testing, the facilities for resuming atmospheric testing can be instantly reactivated at the first suggestion of Soviet duplicity.

On this, as on all his other Cold War stances, Dodd seems to this columnist to be the soul of reason. If any of our atomic scientists can confute Dodd here, it is their duty to speak up.

WASHINGTON

These days, other people's troubles are a positive pleasure to report. Hence it is highly agreeable to note that the Chinese Communists have just charged Nikita S. Khrushchev with every crime in the calendar except un-Marxist entanglement with Miss Christine Keeler.

Merely by reason of its vicious intensiveness, the new Chinese attack is a breathtaking document. Peking's old grounds for complaint have now been amplified to cover a whole series of internal Soviet developments which bear Khrushchev's personal stamp.

The matter of "criticism of Stalin" is raised. The decisions of the Soviet Communist 20th and 22d Party Congresses—twin peaks of Khrushchev's de-Stalinization campaign—are openly called into question.

"Certain persons" are rebuked for "combating the so-called 'cult of the individual' (while) enormously exaggerating the role of certain individuals." Khrushchev's dealings with the wicked Yugoslavs are characterized as a "betrayal of the people of the world." So are his unkindnesses to the virtuous Albanians.

Complaints are made about "certain persons" who have "interfered crudely in the internal affairs of fraternal parties" — which Khrushchev unsuccessfully tried to do in China. Equally bitter complaints are registered against "putting economic pressure on other fraternal countries" — which Khrushchev has done with China.

Khrushchev is nowhere named, to be sure. But this is a piece of politeness on a par with the remark of a Mississippi National Convention delegate about one of the early Dixiecrats. "He's mah leader, and ah follow him. But of c'ose he's this sorry world's prize s. o. b. and has many other deefects besides!"

Such, then, is the charming fraternal letter which the Chinese party sent off last Friday, for the delectation of the plenum of the Soviet Communist Party's Central Committee, which is now in session. It would not be very different if Gen. de Gaulle sent the next Democratic National Convention a crisp little essay on President Kennedy's follies and errors as leader of the West.

This is by no means the least curious aspect of the new Chinese document. The point is that there was a kind of logic in the earlier, rather less vicious Chinese attack on Khrushchev, because, this winter and early spring, Khrushchev's position and power were clearly being challenged by opponents at home.

By zeroing in on Khrushchev personally, the Chinese may then have hoped to strengthen the opposition to Khrushchev in the Soviet party. In effect, they gave Khrushchev's enemies the added argument, that sacrificing Khrushchev was the only way to patch up the dangerous trouble with great, fraternal China.

Today, however, none of the Western experts in the Soviet branch of demonology expects the smallest personal trouble for Khrushchev at the current Central Committee plenum. Khrushchev is thought to have contained and overcome the opposition to him and to his policies that arose after Cuba. If anyone suffers, his enemies are expected to suffer.

Maybe the Western experts are all wrong about this. But if they are not wrong, the Chinese letter to the Soviet Central Committee plenum must be regarded as a deliberate attempt to inflame the Sino-Soviet dispute at a politically delicate moment, in full view of all the Communist parties of the world, and only a fortnight or so before Chinese and Soviet delegates are to meet for a discussion of the two parties' differences.

The forthcoming Sino - Soviet meeting in Moscow on July 5 is the key fact, of course, which gives the Chinese document a downright lurid, sulphur-and-hellfire aspect. When you are about to discuss a brotherly disagreement in a spirit of compromise, you do not talk like this. Logically, in fact, the new Chinese document ought to be the prelude to a kind of ultimatum, which the Chinese chief negotiator, Teng Hsiao-ping, will slap down on the Moscow conference table with a "take it or leave it" announcement. And as there is no hope of the Soviets' taking a Chinese ultimatum, such an approach would produce a decisive Sino-Soviet break—a split in the Communist movement like the ancient split between the Eastern and Western churches.

By lining up all the Asian parties, the Chinese have prepared for such a split. The teaching of Lenin himself about such matters also calls upon the Soviet party not to tolerate what the Chinese are asking them to tolerate. But in the matter of a split, it is still even betting, either way.

RIGHTS PROGRAM — Even in advance of its presentation to Congress, President Kennedy's new civil rights program had a nickname—the "George C. Wallace" bill, so named after the governor of Alabama whose diehard segregationism stirred up the latest round of demonstrations.

The bill's name isn't all in fun, either. Northern legislators use it to symbolize their own political opposition to segregation. Some Southerners are using it privately to express their dismay at the breach that has been rent in the ranks of their Democratic party.

And some members of both parties with memories a little longer than others are also referring to the measure as the "Ross R. Barnett" bill, because of the key role the governor of Mississippi played in his state's racial disturbances.

Perhaps the measure will ultimately bear the hyphenated name of the "Wallace-Barnett" bill.

It is an ironic fact that neither the administration nor the Democratic majorities in both Houses of Congress want the kind of tough civil rights measure that is emerging. It is the result of aroused Negro emotions over the seemingly endless barriers placed in their way by Barnett, Wallace and a handful of Southern governors.

Moderate Southern legislators—and there are quite a fw of them—privately inveigh against the extreme Dixie segregationists whose actions have precipitated the present deep crisis in race relations. They had been congratulating themselves only recently on having narrowed the gap of their differences with the Kennedy administration over the issue to the point where they found it increasingly politically possible to cooperate in furthering New Frontier legislation. Now they fear they will have to oppose some measures more actively as a sop to the extreme segregationist element among their own constituencies.

Railway Express Attempts To Get Congress To Kill Off Parcel Post

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The public seldom knows how the backstage lobbies operate in Congress. But if at a future Christmas they find no more parcel post available, they should know how the Railway Express Company operated on Capitol Hill last week.

It all happened behind the closed doors of the House Post Office Committee when Postmaster General Ed Day asked Congress to take over the job of rate-making on parcel post. This was prompted by two laws put across by the express lobby, requiring parcel post to operate without a loss, yet simultaneously prohibiting parcel post from delivering profitable packages in the big cities where it's cheap, while requiring it to deliver unprofitable packages in the rural areas where it's expensive.

It was the one Negro member of the House Post Office Committee, Robert Nix of Philadelphia, a Democrat, who suddenly deserted the Democratic administration and lined up with Southern enemies of the Negro and Republicans to bail out the Railway Express lobby. In general, Negroes benefit from cheap parcel post rates more than others.

Here's the inside story of what happened. During the first day of committee debate, the Kennedy administration won, 13 to 10. Two independent Republicans who believe in protecting the public, Robert Ellsworth of Lawrence, Kans., and George Wallhauser of Maplewood, N. J., voted against the express lobby. So did Congressman Nix of Philadelphia. But with the Democrats winning, Republicans began stalling for time, waiting for 12:01 noon when the House would be in session.

The Heat Is On

Exactly at 12:01, Rep. August E. Johansen of Michigan, looking at the clock, raised a point of order.

"The House is in session," he observed. "We can no longer meet."

During the night, Congressmen began hearing from the banks and Railway Express representatives back home. Seldom has the heat been so terrific. When the committee met next day, Texas Dixiecrat Lindley Beckworth, friend of the big utilities who had been absent, turned up to vote against his fellow Democrats. Two Republicans, Joel Broyhill of Arlington, Va., and Glenn Cunningham of Omaha, Neb., absent the day before, also had been prodded into being present. This gave the Railway Express lobby 12 votes against 13 for parcel post and they needed one more.

They got it from the Philadelphia Negro Democrat.

"I have read in Drew Pearson's column," remarked Albert Watson of Columbia, S. C., "that I am supposed to be in the pocket of the Railway Express lobby. I want it known that I resent that innuendo. I resent being mentioned in the Pearson column. I am voting the way I see fit."

"Last year," remarked Republican Johansen, puffing through a long slim cigaret holder, "that fellow Pearson reported exactly how we voted in this committee. It was supposed to be secret, but he had it down just right."

At one point when Watson, a strong South Carolina segregationist, tried to adjourn the committee meeting, Nix, the Negro integrationist, voted with him. This would have had the effect of putting parcel post out of business June 30. The vote failed to pass by a 12-to-12 tie. But the administration proposal to turn parcel rates over to Congress also failed to pass 12-to-12, thanks to Nix's desertion.

Finally the committee adopted a compromise giving parcel post a 3-year period of grace during which it did not have to come within 4 per cent of breaking even.

"That takes off the heat," exclaimed Nix, with a sigh of relief.

"I fully expect everything that transpired here today to appear in Drew Pearson's column," remarked Dixiecrat Watson. "I hope that members of the committee will not talk about our deliberations."

Sensible Demonstration

While Congressman Nix of Philadelphia was deserting Negro consumers who need low parcel post rates, another Negro performed a valiant, unpublicized job of preventing violence in the massive march by Negro citizens along Pennsylvania Avenue.

That peaceful march was attributed in part to the common sense of Washington Negro residents, also to the alertness of the Negro commissioner, John B. Duncan, and Kennedy's D. C. adviser, Charles Horsky.

Unknown to the public, these two met with march leaders Rev. Franklin Jackson of the NAACP, Julius Hobson of CORE, Rev. Walter Fauntroy of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and H. L. Dixon of the Federation of Civic Associations.

During the two-hour closed-door meeting, Duncan proposed that the three commissioners who govern the nation's capital make a public statement that Washington would adopt a housing anti-discrimination ordinance; that no police dogs would be allowed to break up the march, that no fire hoses would be used; and that police would be courteous and recognize the right of the marchers to protest.

Commissioner Duncan then met with his fellow commissioners. They backed up his position.

Washington is integrated more than any Southern city but, even so, it was feared the marchers might get out of hand. The Black Muslims were on deck to stir up trouble. However, excellent planning by Negro Commissioner Duncan with White House Adviser Horsky and Commissioner Walter Tobriner paid off.

In the end, the march was completely peaceful and the police were praised by the marchers for their courtesy.

The Election Of A Pope – Part 2

To elect a pope, the College of Cardinals must accord one person two-thirds of its vote, plus one. Two ballots are taken each morning; two each afternoon. Crowds are massed outside on the big plaza. They watch the small black chimney at the rear of the Sistine Chapel.

Inside, a small stove sits to the left, and to the rear, of the altar. Each inconclusive ballot is burned with damp straw. This produces a sooty black smoke and the crowd knows that a pope has not yet been elected. When a cardinal acquires enough votes for election, the little ballots are burned without straw, and white smoke pours up through the chimney. Outside, a deep roar rents the Roman skies. "Viva il papa!" (Long live the pope).

When the cardinals are agreed on a man, the Dean of the College—Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, of France — convenes a committee and walks through the chapel until he stands before the throne of the man elected. He asks loudly and formally if the cardinal accepts the honor of the papacy.

"Accepto," the cardinal murmurs. The moment he utters that word, he is, in fact, Bishop of Rome; Vicar of Jesus Christ; Successor to St. Peter, Prince of the Apostles; Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church; Patriarch of the West; Primate of Italy; Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Roman Province; Sovereign of the State of Vatican City. He is the pope, spiritual head of a church with 500,000,000 communicants.

In spite of all the stories to the contrary, there is no electioneering at a conclave. Aggressive ambition inside the church is discouraged. It is common for cardinals, before a conclave, to tell friends that they haven't a chance of election. All cardinals, no matter where their See, buy round trip tickets to Rome. John XXIII was so sure that he would not be elected that he left an Italian translation of "The Day Christ Died" open on his desk in Venice, to be finished on his return.

Who is papabile in this election? There is no way of knowing whether the College of Cardinals will abide by tradition, or depart from it. One can almost guess that the last pope was a compromise between two strongly contending cardinals, perhaps Siri of Genoa and Lercaro of Bologna. John XXIII was probably regarded as old, sedentary and humane — an interim pope between the great statesman, Pius XII, and a new and stronger influence.

John surprised everyone including, you may be sure, the College of Cardinals. He set in motion wheels which spun dust and rust from the hierachy of the Catholic Church and which are still spinning. His reception of Khrushchev's son-in-law with a firm handclasp between East and West shocked a lot of clerics.

Normally, the cardinals choose an Italian as pope, and they have been doing this for 400 years. Whoever is elected must work closely with the Italian cardinals who dominate the Curia, the men who administer the various departments of the Catholic Church. There is an apprehension that a non-Italian would not get along well with them; or they with him.

The Italian cardinals number 29, out of 82. They are a minority. Of these, it is customary not to elect a man from the Curia. This eliminates the Secretary of State, Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, who spent years in the U.S. as Apostolic Delegate. It also eliminates 17 others, even though precedent was defied when Eugenio Pacelli, as State Secretary, was elected to be Pius XII over 20 years ago.

The most eligible are Italian pastors. These are bishops who have much experience in administering archdioceses. They work among the laity; they understand people. There are seven of these; Fossati of Turin; Ruffini of Palermo; Lercaro of Bologna; Siri of Genoa; Montini of Milan; Urbani of Venice; Castaldo of Naples.

Fossati is 87, and that leaves six. Urbani is the new Venice replacement of John XXIII, and the Catholic Church never goes twice to the same city for successive popes. Ruffini of Palermo is not a strong man at 75. He has been a cardinal since 1946 and is seldom heard on any subject. Castaldo of Naples has an outside chance, but he has been a cardinal only four years.

It would seem that, if tradition is followed, the next pope will be among these: Giuseppe Siri, the "laboring man's cardinal" of Genoa; Giacomo Lercaro, who put the priests of Bologna on bicycles to battle the Communists; and Giovani Montini of Milan, one of the few men who ever declined the Red Hat.

Should Lercaro be elected, it could be interpreted as the will of the College of Cardinals to depart from Pope John's policy of extending a friendly hand to the East, because Lercaro is Italy's most militant fighter of Marxism. Siri is only 57 and is a progressive. Montini, the brilliant archbishop of Milan, was "persuaded" by Pope John to become a cardinal, a labor in which Pius XII failed. He would follow his predecessor in modernizing the machinery of the Catholic Church.

All of which is guesswork. Still, I would think that Siri, Lercaro and Montini are the most papable. Of these, the first two are leaders, the third could be a compromise in case of deadlock.

As a Bishop, my personal choice would be Cardinal Siri. . .

Proper Cleansing, Diet For Relief Of Acne

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most teen-agers with acne welcome the summertime because the sun has a beneficial effect upon the skin. Cleanliness also is important and best results are obtained by using medicated soaps or detergents regularly. But treat the face with respect because the skin is sensitive and easily damaged by picking or squeezing pimples and blackheads.

The best cleansing agents wash away excessive oils and encourage drying. In addition, they remove the dead skin and debris that collects around the openings of the pores. Antiseptics kill the bacteria present, which minimizes inflammation and deeper infections. Several antibacterial detergents and creams are capable of doing this. The majority contain sulfur, resorcinol, or hexachlorophene.

Dr. Louis Wexler of New York City used one of these sudsing emulsions along with a cream on 100 individuals aged 11 to 39, with acne of varying degree. They were instructed to wash the skin with the detergent three or four times daily and to apply the cream each night.

A diet low in fat was suggested. The results were excellent in 30, good in 49, and fair in 15. Improvement was so-so in six. The duration of treatment ranged from 3 to 32 weeks.

This study demonstrates what can be done with proper skin care. The importance of local cleansing and the use of antiseptics is a fundamental part of the treatment. A schedule of three or four washings daily, and a good acne cream at night, may prevent infection and eliminate blackheads. A second daily application of the creams often is needed for extremely oily skin.

The relationship between certain foods and acne is an individual problem. Some victims find that eating fats, chocolate, and other greasy foods aggravates the skin. Others must avoid spices and stimulants, especially when they increase oiliness. Still others are sensitive to iodides and, as such, acne becomes a drug reaction; they should avoid iodized salts and cough mixtures containing this compound.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on acne if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

WON'T SPOON

D. B. writes: My 16-month-old daughter is healthy and alert but absolutely refuses to eat with a spoon. When I place her cereal before her she just sits and stares at it. If I take the food away, she couldn't care less. Can you help me in my dilemma?

REPLY

Put a variety of food before her and let her alone. She will eat when hungry, even though she may not use the spoon. A 16 month old needs less food than a 1 year old because growth is less rapid.

TALL GIRL

H. O. writes: Is there any way to stop my 12-year-old daughter from growing taller? She is 5' 7" already.

REPLY

Yes, with hormones. But the procedure is tricky and should not be done unless the physician is thoroughly acquainted with the method and its pitfalls. What is wrong with being tall? Nowadays it is fashionable. Actually, this girl probably won't get much taller as growth decelerates substantially after the first menstrual period.

ULCER FREEZING

R. L. writes: What can you tell me about freezing a duodenal ulcer?

REPLY

The patient swallows a balloon, which is then filled with an ice cold 30 per cent alcohol-water mixture. Freezing inhibits the secretion of gastric juices, which in turn relieves pain and stops bleeding.

WASTED MUSCLES

C. E. writes: What do the muscles lack in muscular dystrophy?

REPLY

The current theory is that a potassium deficiency is responsible for this type of muscle weakness.

TOMORROW: Suicides in the emotionally disturbed.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A water color specialist found an old Indian squaw in New Mexico who struck him as a perfect model for a painting. Promised sufficient wampum, she agreed to pose, but after remaining absolutely still for a half hour, she began to squirm. "Be patient," urged the artist. "I'll soon be finished." Ten minutes later she started wriggling again. "I thought Indians were patient and stoical," grumbled the artist. "What makes you so nervous?"

"Well, for one thing," explained the Indian squaw, "I'm sitting on a swarm of bees."

The discovery of coffee as a drink, according to one big mocha and java importer, goes back to about 850 A.D., when an Arabian herdsman named Kaldi noted that his goats became very frisky and wide-awake after eating berries from a nearby shrub. He and the abbot of a nearby monastery experimented by boiling the berries in water. Results: (1) Kaldi sold his goats and opened the first coffee house and (2) The abbot experienced no further trouble in keeping his monks on their toes for late evening prayers.

Next Chapter In The Wheat Story

No sooner had the smoke cleared from the rejection by wheat farmers of oppressive controls than a new cloud appeared over the wheat fields. This one might be around for a long time because it is composed of the controversies swirling around the question, what next in wheat legislation?

To many administration partisans, the question was answered in the wheat referendum. They are willing to forget marketing or acreage controls for a year as reprisal against the farmers for rejecting the administration's strict controls.

But such inaction could cost the rural population $700 million in income next year, by the administration's own calculation. A loss of this magnitude, in an election year, could have repercussions at the polls, and might be felt economically in urban centers.

Lack of new wheat legislation this year is more likely to be the result of inability of Congress to agree on an approach than unwillingness to help the farmer. At present, proposals are being advanced which run the gamut from the American Farm Bureau's return to the soil bank with increased price supports plan to various modifications of the acreage-marketing allotments which have been in effect since 1938.

All of the proposals are alike in two respects: They would increase the impact expected if the administration's price drop from $1.82 to $1.10 a bushel materializes. And they would blaze the trail for an eventual return to a free market economy.

There is, of course, the possibility that wheat producers may be able to control output and absorb the customary million-bushel surplus without the drastic price drop predicted. But this is a possibility most parties interested in the wheat controversy would rather not test, except as a last resort.

These Days

Perils Of An Independent

Not so long ago rumors were floated that certain down-the-line members of the Kennedy Administration were resolved to purge Democratic Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut. The Dodd organization got wind of the nefarious movement by chance, when a friend happened to be approached by those who were trying to drum up sentiment against the Senator. Fortunately, the purge died a-borning when Dodd's colleague from Connecticut, Senator Abe Ribicoff, and high Democratic Party factotum John Bailey announced that Dodd was their man in spite of his refusal to accept most of the points in the Kennedy foreign policy position.

Dodd's troubles illustrate the hazards of the man who considers that it is the prime duty of a U.S. Senator to use his own best judgment, subject to check at the polls every six years. Along with Frank Lausche of Ohio, the Connecticut Senator believes that the business of the politician is to think things through for himself, not to carry a torch for a "leader" in the White House or for the latest plebiscitary (and possibly temporary) consensus as announced by the Gallup Poll.

Naturally such independence is sniped at by all manner of people. The Left Wing of the Democratic Party is against Tom Dodd because he is the undisputed leader in the Senate of the advocates of a strong foreign policy vis-a-vis Russia. The Right Wing of the Republican Party denounces him for his domestic policies, which stress a moderate State Welfarism. But if Dodd has some extremely vocal enemies, he has a host of silent friends.

This columnist, who thinks it the duty of voluntary associations to carry much of the welfarist burden of a free society, doesn't follow Dodd on some of his domestic proposals. But when Rightists shake their heads over one of those statistical ratings which put Dodd far over on the Left because of his votes on relief and labor legislation, the danger of judging a man by simple addition and subtraction becomes manifest. The statistical ratings must be subjected to tests of quality and priority if they are to mean anything.

Thus, to any conservative or old-fashioned liberal who puts foreign policy first on the ground that we must keep from being done in by the Communists if we are to have any freedom to argue among ourselves, the fate of Tom Dodd in 1964 becomes a transcendent matter. On foreign policy Dodd has been the Great Educator. If I recall correctly, he was the only Senator to speak out on the floor of the Senate against Khrushchev's visit to the United States during the Camp David-Spirit of Geneva period of false hopes. He was the first to oppose timid atomic test ban concessions at Geneva in 1960.

He considered it illogical to use our strength to oppose self-determination in Katanga when we support it everywhere else in the world; he warned against the big build-up of Soviet power in Cuba in the early part of September, 1962, when the White House was still pooh-poohing it; and he has insisted that it is the duty of the United States to pursue policies that will not snuff out the hopes of ultimate liberation in Poland, Hungary, and other Iron Curtain satellites.

In short, Dodd merits the support of conservatives and old-fashioned liberals on a priority basis no matter how he votes on such things as medicare or federal aid to education.

Some of those who have supported Dodd on foreign policy have expressed disillusion with the Senator because he recently teamed up with Senator Humphrey to advocate a unilateral U.S. promise to refrain from conducting nuclear tests in the atmosphere as long as the Russians follow the same course. The idea would be to mitigate the menace of fall-out. Those who object to Dodd's position on this argue that the Dodd Resolution would give Khrushchev the power to decide when and under what circumstances the U.S. will conduct tests. But it is Dodd's understanding that as long as the U.S. maintains a full-speed-ahead program of underground testing, the facilities for resuming atmospheric testing can be instantly reactivated at the first suggestion of Soviet duplicity.

On this, as on all his other Cold War stances, Dodd seems to this columnist to be the soul of reason. If any of our atomic scientists can confute Dodd here, it is their duty to speak up.

Railway Express Attempts To Get Congress To Kill Off Parcel Post

Here's the inside story of what happened. During the first day of committee debate, the Kennedy administration won, 13 to 10. Two independent Republicans who believe in protecting the public, Robert Ellsworth of Lawrence, Kans., and George Wallhauser of Maplewood, N. J., voted against the express lobby. So did Congressman Nix of Philadelphia. But with the Democrats winning, Republicans began stalling for time, waiting for 12:01 noon when the House would be in session.

The Heat Is On

Exactly at 12:01, Rep. August E. Johansen of Michigan, looking at the clock, raised a point of order.

"The House is in session," he observed. "We can no longer meet."

During the night, Congressmen began hearing from the banks and Railway Express representatives back home. Seldom has the heat been so terrific. When the committee met next day, Texas Dixiecrat Lindley Beckworth, friend of the big utilities who had been absent, turned up to vote against his fellow Democrats. Two Republicans, Joel Broyhill of Arlington, Va., and Glenn Cunningham of Omaha, Neb., absent the day before, also had been prodded into being present. This gave the Railway Express lobby 12 votes against 13 for parcel post and they needed one more.

They got it from the Philadelphia Negro Democrat.

"I have read in Drew Pearson's column," remarked Albert Watson of Columbia, S. C., "that I am supposed to be in the pocket of the Railway Express lobby. I want it known that I resent that innuendo. I resent being mentioned in the Pearson column. I am voting the way I see fit."

"Last year," remarked Republican Johansen, puffing through a long slim cigaret holder, "that fellow Pearson reported exactly how we voted in this committee. It was supposed to be secret, but he had it down just right."

At one point when Watson, a strong South Carolina segregationist, tried to adjourn the committee meeting, Nix, the Negro integrationist, voted with him. This would have had the effect of putting parcel post out of business June 30. The vote failed to pass by a 12-to-12 tie. But the administration proposal to turn parcel rates over to Congress also failed to pass 12-to-12, thanks to Nix's desertion.

Finally the committee adopted a compromise giving parcel post a 3-year period of grace during which it did not have to come within 4 per cent of breaking even.

"That takes off the heat," exclaimed Nix, with a sigh of relief.

"I fully expect everything that transpired here today to appear in Drew Pearson's column," remarked Dixiecrat Watson. "I hope that members of the committee will not talk about our deliberations."

Sensible Demonstration

While Congressman Nix of Philadelphia was deserting Negro consumers who need low parcel post rates, another Negro performed a valiant, unpublicized job of preventing violence in the massive march by Negro citizens along Pennsylvania Avenue.

That peaceful march was attributed in part to the common sense of Washington Negro residents, also to the alertness of the Negro commissioner, John B. Duncan, and Kennedy's D. C. adviser, Charles Horsky.

Unknown to the public, these two met with march leaders Rev. Franklin Jackson of the NAACP, Julius Hobson of CORE, Rev. Walter Fauntroy of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and H. L. Dixon of the Federation of Civic Associations.

During the two-hour closed-door meeting, Duncan proposed that the three commissioners who govern the nation's capital make a public statement that Washington would adopt a housing anti-discrimination ordinance; that no police dogs would be allowed to break up the march, that no fire hoses would be used; and that police would be courteous and recognize the right of the marchers to protest.

Commissioner Duncan then met with his fellow commissioners. They backed up his position.

Washington is integrated more than any Southern city but, even so, it was feared the marchers might get out of hand. The Black Muslims were on deck to stir up trouble. However, excellent planning by Negro Commissioner Duncan with White House Adviser Horsky and Commissioner Walter Tobriner paid off.

In the end, the march was completely peaceful and the police were praised by the marchers for their courtesy.

The Election Of A Pope – Part 2

To elect a pope, the College of Cardinals must accord one person two-thirds of its vote, plus one. Two ballots are taken each morning; two each afternoon. Crowds are massed outside on the big plaza. They watch the small black chimney at the rear of the Sistine Chapel.

Inside, a small stove sits to the left, and to the rear, of the altar. Each inconclusive ballot is burned with damp straw. This produces a sooty black smoke and the crowd knows that a pope has not yet been elected. When a cardinal acquires enough votes for election, the little ballots are burned without straw, and white smoke pours up through the chimney. Outside, a deep roar rents the Roman skies. "Viva il papa!" (Long live the pope).

When the cardinals are agreed on a man, the Dean of the College—Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, of France — convenes a committee and walks through the chapel until he stands before the throne of the man elected. He asks loudly and formally if the cardinal accepts the honor of the papacy.

"Accepto," the cardinal murmurs. The moment he utters that word, he is, in fact, Bishop of Rome; Vicar of Jesus Christ; Successor to St. Peter, Prince of the Apostles; Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church; Patriarch of the West; Primate of Italy; Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Roman Province; Sovereign of the State of Vatican City. He is the pope, spiritual head of a church with 500,000,000 communicants.

In spite of all the stories to the contrary, there is no electioneering at a conclave. Aggressive ambition inside the church is discouraged. It is common for cardinals, before a conclave, to tell friends that they haven't a chance of election. All cardinals, no matter where their See, buy round trip tickets to Rome. John XXIII was so sure that he would not be elected that he left an Italian translation of "The Day Christ Died" open on his desk in Venice, to be finished on his return.

Who is papabile in this election? There is no way of knowing whether the College of Cardinals will abide by tradition, or depart from it. One can almost guess that the last pope was a compromise between two strongly contending cardinals, perhaps Siri of Genoa and Lercaro of Bologna. John XXIII was probably regarded as old, sedentary and humane — an interim pope between the great statesman, Pius XII, and a new and stronger influence.

John surprised everyone including, you may be sure, the College of Cardinals. He set in motion wheels which spun dust and rust from the hierachy of the Catholic Church and which are still spinning. His reception of Khrushchev's son-in-law with a firm handclasp between East and West shocked a lot of clerics.

Normally, the cardinals choose an Italian as pope, and they have been doing this for 400 years. Whoever is elected must work closely with the Italian cardinals who dominate the Curia, the men who administer the various departments of the Catholic Church. There is an apprehension that a non-Italian would not get along well with them; or they with him.

The Italian cardinals number 29, out of 82. They are a minority. Of these, it is customary not to elect a man from the Curia. This eliminates the Secretary of State, Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, who spent years in the U.S. as Apostolic Delegate. It also eliminates 17 others, even though precedent was defied when Eugenio Pacelli, as State Secretary, was elected to be Pius XII over 20 years ago.

The most eligible are Italian pastors. These are bishops who have much experience in administering archdioceses. They work among the laity; they understand people. There are seven of these; Fossati of Turin; Ruffini of Palermo; Lercaro of Bologna; Siri of Genoa; Montini of Milan; Urbani of Venice; Castaldo of Naples.

Fossati is 87, and that leaves six. Urbani is the new Venice replacement of John XXIII, and the Catholic Church never goes twice to the same city for successive popes. Ruffini of Palermo is not a strong man at 75. He has been a cardinal since 1946 and is seldom heard on any subject. Castaldo of Naples has an outside chance, but he has been a cardinal only four years.

It would seem that, if tradition is followed, the next pope will be among these: Giuseppe Siri, the "laboring man's cardinal" of Genoa; Giacomo Lercaro, who put the priests of Bologna on bicycles to battle the Communists; and Giovani Montini of Milan, one of the few men who ever declined the Red Hat.

Should Lercaro be elected, it could be interpreted as the will of the College of Cardinals to depart from Pope John's policy of extending a friendly hand to the East, because Lercaro is Italy's most militant fighter of Marxism. Siri is only 57 and is a progressive. Montini, the brilliant archbishop of Milan, was "persuaded" by Pope John to become a cardinal, a labor in which Pius XII failed. He would follow his predecessor in modernizing the machinery of the Catholic Church.

All of which is guesswork. Still, I would think that Siri, Lercaro and Montini are the most papable. Of these, the first two are leaders, the third could be a compromise in case of deadlock.

As a Bishop, my personal choice would be Cardinal Siri. . .

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most teen-agers with acne welcome the summertime because the sun has a beneficial effect upon the skin. Cleanliness also is important and best results are obtained by using medicated soaps or detergents regularly. But treat the face with respect because the skin is sensitive and easily damaged by picking or squeezing pimples and blackheads.

The best cleansing agents wash away excessive oils and encourage drying. In addition, they remove the dead skin and debris that collects around the openings of the pores. Antiseptics kill the bacteria present, which minimizes inflammation and deeper infections. Several antibacterial detergents and creams are capable of doing this. The majority contain sulfur, resorcinol, or hexachlorophene.

Dr. Louis Wexler of New York City used one of these sudsing emulsions along with a cream on 100 individuals aged 11 to 39, with acne of varying degree. They were instructed to wash the skin with the detergent three or four times daily and to apply the cream each night.

A diet low in fat was suggested. The results were excellent in 30, good in 49, and fair in 15. Improvement was so-so in six. The duration of treatment ranged from 3 to 32 weeks.

This study demonstrates what can be done with proper skin care. The importance of local cleansing and the use of antiseptics is a fundamental part of the treatment. A schedule of three or four washings daily, and a good acne cream at night, may prevent infection and eliminate blackheads. A second daily application of the creams often is needed for extremely oily skin.

The relationship between certain foods and acne is an individual problem. Some victims find that eating fats, chocolate, and other greasy foods aggravates the skin. Others must avoid spices and stimulants, especially when they increase oiliness. Still others are sensitive to iodides and, as such, acne becomes a drug reaction; they should avoid iodized salts and cough mixtures containing this compound.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on acne if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

WON'T SPOON

D. B. writes: My 16-month-old daughter is healthy and alert but absolutely refuses to eat with a spoon. When I place her cereal before her she just sits and stares at it. If I take the food away, she couldn't care less. Can you help me in my dilemma?

REPLY

Put a variety of food before her and let her alone. She will eat when hungry, even though she may not use the spoon. A 16 month old needs less food than a 1 year old because growth is less rapid.

TALL GIRL

H. O. writes: Is there any way to stop my 12-year-old daughter from growing taller? She is 5' 7" already.

REPLY

Yes, with hormones. But the procedure is tricky and should not be done unless the physician is thoroughly acquainted with the method and its pitfalls. What is wrong with being tall? Nowadays it is fashionable. Actually, this girl probably won't get much taller as growth decelerates substantially after the first menstrual period.

ULCER FREEZING

R. L. writes: What can you tell me about freezing a duodenal ulcer?

REPLY

The patient swallows a balloon, which is then filled with an ice cold 30 per cent alcohol-water mixture. Freezing inhibits the secretion of gastric juices, which in turn relieves pain and stops bleeding.

WASTED MUSCLES

C. E. writes: What do the muscles lack in muscular dystrophy?

REPLY

The current theory is that a potassium deficiency is responsible for this type of muscle weakness.

TOMORROW: Suicides in the emotionally disturbed.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A water color specialist found an old Indian squaw in New Mexico who struck him as a perfect model for a painting. Promised sufficient wampum, she agreed to pose, but after remaining absolutely still for a half hour, she began to squirm. "Be patient," urged the artist. "I'll soon be finished." Ten minutes later she started wriggling again. "I thought Indians were patient and stoical," grumbled the artist. "What makes you so nervous?"

"Well, for one thing," explained the Indian squaw, "I'm sitting on a swarm of bees."

The discovery of coffee as a drink, according to one big mocha and java importer, goes back to about 850 A.D., when an Arabian herdsman named Kaldi noted that his goats became very frisky and wide-awake after eating berries from a nearby shrub. He and the abbot of a nearby monastery experimented by boiling the berries in water. Results: (1) Kaldi sold his goats and opened the first coffee house and (2) The abbot experienced no further trouble in keeping his monks on their toes for late evening prayers.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sonny Tufts, once Hollywood's reigning image of the college boy, has returned to the acting business after an absence of seven years.

Tufts, still the possessor of a wide grin and friendly personality that made him a screen favorite, won't call his comeback a comeback. He insists he never left, so there's nothing to come back from.

"I was always in this business," said Sonny who has lived in Texas much of the time since he left. "While I was there I was planning a picture in which I'll star. It's about a guy who becomes an Army paratrooper and then is too scared to jump."

Tufts was meeting with studio officials to discuss his production. As yet, the plans haven't been finalized, but Sonny has been getting offers to act in movies and television. So far he's only accepted a guest star spot on "The Virginian," in which he'll play Doug McClure's father. That's a far cry from Sonny's past portrayals of young America in search of fun.

Sonny's background boasts of interesting incidents, some of them with police officers who took offense at an occasional Tuft's evening on the town. He comes from a proper Boston banking family which aimed him in the direction of high finance.

They missed. Not only did he evade the business side of a teller's window, Sonny also challenged parental authority when it came time to enter college. The Tufts have traditionally been Harvard prone, said Sonny. He upset the applecart when he attended Yale.

To add insult to injury, Sonny embarked on an acting career while at Yale. Proper families have always raised their eyebrows when an offspring puts on greasepaint. Sonny's family harbored such attitudes.

However, family opposition did not cost Sonny any cash. He was still fondly remembered when it came to cut up the family's fortune. Sonny said the money came in handy during the past few years of relative inactivity.

"I don't know when I'll go back to my ranch in Texas," said Sonny during a ham and egg luncheon. "I've got to get this picture going. You know, I don't have to work and that's a great position to be in because then you don't have to take bad parts.

"The way it looks now, I've got a chance to act in three major pictures."

Finished with lunch, Sonny put on a cowboy hat and went out of the Revue Studio commissary to catch a ride back to his "Virginian" set. It was plain to see that Sonny was glad to be back, even though he won't admit he ever left.

China Not Buying

LONDON (UPI) — A spokesman for British Overseas Airways (BOAC) said Thursday Communist China has decided not to buy BOAC's fleet of Bristol Britannia 102 turboprop airliners at this time. BOAC withdrew 14 of the planes from service last October.

Bloodless Bullfight

LEEDS, England (UPI) — The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said Thursday it would stop a planned bullfight "if there is any cruelty." The organizers described the event "of the Portuguese type — which means no blood will be drawn."

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sonny Tufts, once Hollywood's reigning image of the college boy, has returned to the acting business after an absence of seven years.

Tufts, still the possessor of a wide grin and friendly personality that made him a screen favorite, won't call his comeback a comeback. He insists he never left, so there's nothing to come back from.

"I was always in this business," said Sonny who has lived in Texas much of the time since he left. "While I was there I was planning a picture in which I'll star. It's about a guy who becomes an Army paratrooper and then is too scared to jump."

Tufts was meeting with studio officials to discuss his production. As yet, the plans haven't been finalized, but Sonny has been getting offers to act in movies and television. So far he's only accepted a guest star spot on "The Virginian," in which he'll play Doug McClure's father. That's a far cry from Sonny's past portrayals of young America in search of fun.

Sonny's background boasts of interesting incidents, some of them with police officers who took offense at an occasional Tuft's evening on the town. He comes from a proper Boston banking family which aimed him in the direction of high finance.

They missed. Not only did he evade the business side of a teller's window, Sonny also challenged parental authority when it came time to enter college. The Tufts have traditionally been Harvard prone, said Sonny. He upset the applecart when he attended Yale.

To add insult to injury, Sonny embarked on an acting career while at Yale. Proper families have always raised their eyebrows when an offspring puts on greasepaint. Sonny's family harbored such attitudes.

However, family opposition did not cost Sonny any cash. He was still fondly remembered when it came to cut up the family's fortune. Sonny said the money came in handy during the past few years of relative inactivity.

"I don't know when I'll go back to my ranch in Texas," said Sonny during a ham and egg luncheon. "I've got to get this picture going. You know, I don't have to work and that's a great position to be in because then you don't have to take bad parts.

"The way it looks now, I've got a chance to act in three major pictures."

Finished with lunch, Sonny put on a cowboy hat and went out of the Revue Studio commissary to catch a ride back to his "Virginian" set. It was plain to see that Sonny was glad to be back, even though he won't admit he ever left.

China Not Buying

LONDON (UPI) — A spokesman for British Overseas Airways (BOAC) said Thursday Communist China has decided not to buy BOAC's fleet of Bristol Britannia 102 turboprop airliners at this time. BOAC withdrew 14 of the planes from service last October.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Seven of ♡

When East observed that the declarer was pursuing a course which could not help but succeed, in today's hand, it was merely sound strategy on his part to steer his opponent in another direction. Whether or not South should have been influenced by East's action we will leave to the reader's judgment.

The three no trump contract was a decided stretch and the blame for getting there lies with South, in our opinion. North's re-opening double, after East's one heart bid has been passed around to him, may be based on an average hand or better. It would behoove South to allow a little leeway to his partner by jumping to two no trump. If North has a sound double he can be expected to carry on to game.

West opened the seven of hearts and East's queen was permitted to hold the trick. On the heart continuation South successfully finessed the jack. This gave him six top tricks in spades, diamonds, and hearts. Three more might be obtained in clubs, if declarer were lucky enough to find East with the ace and one. He could then lead a club from dummy thru East and win the first trick with his queen. A club return is then ducked in both hands felling the ace and establishing the rest of the suit.

Declarer led a spade to dummy's ace and returned the deuce of clubs. East was forced to play low and South's queen won the trick. Declarer was about to play a second club when he perceived an alternative prospect. With the club in, he now had seven tricks and needed only two more. If East had either a singleton diamond honor or the doubleton king-queen, then two additional tricks could be established in that suit.

At no additional cost, South decided to cash the diamond ace just to see what happened. East was fully aware of the consequences for his side if declarer played another club and, in an effort to convince his opponent that richer rewards lay elsewhere, he casually dropped the king of diamonds under South's ace. The results of this play were far reaching: Declarer confidently continued with the seven of diamonds permitting it to ride.

East took the trick with the ten of diamonds and another round of hearts cleared South's last stopper. There was no way for declarer to establish his ninth trick in time anymore, and he went down instead to a two trick defeat.

Ministers Elect Rev. Balderson

Rev. William Balderson, pastor of Cresaptown Methodist Church, was elected president of the Methodist ministers of the Cumberland sub-district at a recent meeting of the Methodist Church at Eckhart Methodist Church.

The pastor of Cumberland's Grace Methodist Church, Rev. Robert Moales, was named vice-president; Rev. Harold B. Wright, First Methodist, Frostburg, secretary; and Rev. Richard C. Chambers, Ellerslie Charge, treasurer.

After the business meeting, under the direction of Rev. Kyle Sawyers, out-going president, a special program to recognize Dr. Paul Warner, who had completed his sixth term as superintendent of the Hagerstown District, was held.

Rev. Frank Wanek and Rev. Carlton Harris presented the interesting program, "What Makes a District Superintendent." The honored guest and his wife received gifts from the members of the group.

The annual Hagerstown District Picnic will be held at Cacapon State Park, near Berkeley Springs, W. Va., on Monday, July 1, 1963. Recreation will begin at 2 p. m. and dinner will start at 5:30 p. m.

Social Worker Gets Degree

Mrs. Eleanor Parks Zimmerman, 744 Fayette Street, received a master of science degree in social work at recent commencement exercises at the University of Maryland.

Mrs. Zimmerman has been a caseworker for the Allegany County Welfare Department for several years and obtained her master's degree in a two-year work-study program sponsored by the department.

She attended the university's School of Social Work in Baltimore during the past two years. She previously had obtained her bachelor of science degree from Hood College, Frederick.

She will return to her position on the staff of the Welfare Department on July 1.

Second Alco High Sign Is Defaced

The second of two signs located at the east and west approaches hailing Cumberland as the home of Allegany High School, Maryland's Class A basketball champs, has been removed after vandals smeared it with red paint, Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday.

The first incident, at the east approach, occurred several weeks ago. The second sign, located in The Narrows, was defaced last week.

The Street Department does not intend to erect the signs again.

"I personally feel it is a fine idea to show our pride in our schools and city accomplishments whoever they might be," Mrs. Roeder said.

"But until such time as all Cumberlanders feel they are members of the same citizenry, there is little use in trying to show it. The signs will not be erected again."

Little Miss Centennial

Missy Phillips, seated on throne, was named the winner of the Little Miss Centennial contest held in Keyser High School for children in the four to eight age group. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Phillips, of Keyser. Standing left to right are Marsha Green, runner-up, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Green, Keyser; Miss Sue Ellen Fike, Mineral County Centennial Queen, who crowned the winner; and Vera Bonar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bonar, Burlington.

Keyser Kiwanis Backing Juvenile Detention Home

KEYSER — The Kiwanis Club of Keyser has indicated keen interest in the feasibility of a juvenile detention home.

Following an address by Judge David E. Cuppett Jr. Wednesday night at Markwood Church, the club referred the matter to the Public and Business Affairs Committee which will meet with the Boys and Girls Committee.

Members were asked to meet with officials of the Mineral County Court concerning funds available, why there has been a delay in securing plans and specifications, and what immediate steps can be taken toward securing the badly-needed structure within the near future.

Those who are to report their findings during the last meeting of the club in July are Selby Jacobs, James Watson, Douglas Dixon, Edward Daskal, Paul F. Iverson, and James T. Handlan.

Judge Cuppett explained in his talk the many restraints on the Court as to what it can do and cannot do to youthful offenders with certain age brackets.

He emphasized that the Juvenile Court does not deal entirely with juveniles who are delinquent. About one half of the cases heard are in the category of neglect and consideration is often given to one who is underprivileged or because of his intellect needs special supervision or placement.

A juvenile court home is not needed for the purpose of punishment but its primary design is for ultimate safety of a child until all agencies concerned can plan a program of satisfactory disposition of a particular case, the judge said.

Century-Old Church Gets Certificate

PAW PAW—Paw Paw Methodist Church received a certificate from the West Virginia Centennial Commission, recognizing the church as being over 100 years old.

The certificate was presented by Mrs. Robert Golladay of the Enon Farm Women's Club after a history of the church was given by Mrs. Henry Miller of the Camp Hill club.

Records show the first Methodist Church on Camp Hill was destroyed by Union troops. Later the church was paid for by the government. The church on the present site was built in 1876.

Fred Newbraugh, Berkeley Springs, was instrumental in tracing the history of the church.

Lonaconing Adopts New Fiscal Budget

LONACONING — The mayor and council of Lonaconing adopted their budget for the 1963-64 year at their regular meeting this week, calling for receipts and expenditures totaling $47,982.76.

According to Mayor Dewey G. Burns, a number of improvements and new expenditures are included in this budget. Among these are appropriations of $5,000 for needed repairs to the Union Street bridge; $3,500 for the purchase of a new town truck and a snow plow; $800 for capital improvements including repainting and new furniture for the town hall; $1,000 as a donation to Goodwill Fire Company; $500 for recreation and playground equipment, and an increase of $450 for street lighting.

It was explained, during the budget discussion that the power of the town's 68 street lights is to be increased two and one-half times; that an effort is being made to find a tract for a playground, thus the appropriation for equipment; and that the old benches and obsolete furnishings in the town hall are "worn out."

The town's income for the year, according to receipts in the budget will include $18,545 from real estate and other local taxes; $11,821 in state distributed funds; $9,059 for licenses and permits etc; $3,484 from the county commissioners for rentals and street appropriations; and unexpended surplus funds from the current budget of about $4,500.

The town derives its real estate taxes from a total assessable base of $1,680,365. Disthict 10 assessment totals $1,041,320 and District 15 assessment totals $639,045. A tax rate of 85 cents per hundred which was adopted, will yield $14,283.10.

Council discussed complaints of a "junk yard" or an accumulation of junked autos and other scrap along Route 36 within the corporate limits. It was ordered that the owner be contacted and that this material be removed.

In view of the condition of a number of old buildings and slow deterioration of numerous structures in the town, along with an accumulation of sheds, outbuildings etc., council appointed Henry Connor to serve as building inspector. His salary for this part time job will be $75 per year, but he will have the authority to make inspections and recommendations to remove or improve the obsolete and unsightly.

Mr. Connor, a retired coal miner is already custodian of parking meters in the town and this will be an added duty.

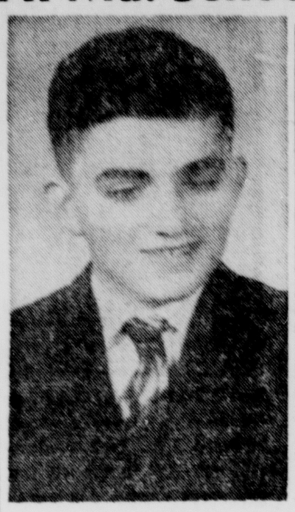
Mayor Burns said the next meeting will be held July 1.

Scouts Take Trip To Washington

MT. SAVAGE—Explorer Post 72 of Mt. Savage and Boy Scout Troop 80 of Bowling Green recently visited Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D. C and were accompanied by Lloyd Wade, advisor for the explorers, Charles Robertson, committee chairman, both of Mt. Savage, and Paul Ross, scoutmaster of Troop 80, and Edward Griffin.

Highlights of the trip were visits to the Smithsonian Institute, National Gallery of Art, Washington Monument and the Capitol and a tour of the recently-opened Dulles Airport.

Youth Is Honor Graduate At Md. School For Blind



GLENN DiCHIERA

WESTERNPORT — Glenn DiChiera, son of Stella DiChiera, Main Street, graduated with honors from the Maryland School for the Blind, Overlea and Baltimore City College, Baltimore, at commencement exercises held earlier this month.

Glenn was awarded a $100 scholarship by the Queen Ann's Guild, Baltimore, for having the highest scholastic average among those planning college; a watch for serving as president of the Student Council; cash and certificate for best reporting on the school paper; and a pen for serving as president of the dramatic club.

The preceeding awards were received at the School in Overlea. At Baltimore City College he was awarded a scholarship by the Parent Teachers Association for high rating in competitive tests.

Glenn's plight drew wide attention over 13 years ago when it was necessary to remove both his eyes in operations, to save his life from the cancer that threatened his sight.

He entered kindergarten in the School for the Blind at the age of five years and since that time has remained there except for the holiday and summer vacations which he spent at home.

For the past two years he has attended morning classes at Baltimore City College and afternoon classes at the school in Overlea.

He will enter Towson State Teachers College in the fall, planning speech therapy as his vocation.

RC Bloodmobile Visits Keyser This Afternoon

KEYSER — The regular visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Keyser, is scheduled today from noon until 6 p.m. at Grace Methodist Church.

Douglas Dixon, chairman of the project, urges all residents of Keyser and the surrounding area to donate a pint of blood if at all possible to help achieve the quota of 110 pints.

The Blood Bauk reminds local residents that several citizens have been the recipients of blood since the last visit and that their friends and neighbors should be encouraged to replace whatever has been used.

Volunteer workers at the Blood Bank will again be members of local sororities, civic organizations, and fraternal auxiliaries.

Mt. Savage Code Number Announced

MT. SAVAGE — Postmaster Louis E. Haus announced today that the five-digit ZIP Code locally is 21545.

"Everyone in Mt. Savage and all patrons of Rural Route 1 will use the ZIP Code on all correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail," Haus said.

ZIP Code, the Post Office Department's revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery, goes into effect nationally July 1.

Haus stressed the importance of all local citizens learning the ZIP Code and using it in their return address on all correspondence. In answering mail, he said, ZIP Codes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used. The ZIP Code should follow the city and state in addresses.

He cited this example of the proper use of ZIP Code:

Little Miss Centennial

Missy Phillips, seated on throne, was named the winner of the Little Miss Centennial contest held in Keyser High School for children in the four to eight age group. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Phillips, of Keyser. Standing left to right are Marsha Green, runner-up, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Green, Keyser; Miss Sue Ellen Fike, Mineral County Centennial Queen, who crowned the winner; and Vera Bonar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bonar, Burlington.

Keyser Kiwanis Backing Juvenile Detention Home

KEYSER — The Kiwanis Club of Keyser has indicated keen interest in the feasibility of a juvenile detention home.

Following an address by Judge David E. Cuppett Jr. Wednesday night at Markwood Church, the club referred the matter to the Public and Business Affairs Committee which will meet with the Boys and Girls Committee.

Members were asked to meet with officials of the Mineral County Court concerning funds available, why there has been a delay in securing plans and specifications, and what immediate steps can be taken toward securing the badly-needed structure within the near future.

Those who are to report their findings during the last meeting of the club in July are Selby Jacobs, James Watson, Douglas Dixon, Edward Daskal, Paul F. Iverson, and James T. Handlan.

Judge Cuppett explained in his talk the many restraints on the Court as to what it can do and cannot do to youthful offenders with certain age brackets.

He emphasized that the Juvenile Court does not deal entirely with juveniles who are delinquent. About one half of the cases heard are in the category of neglect and consideration is often given to one who is underprivileged or because of his intellect needs special supervision or placement.

A juvenile court home is not needed for the purpose of punishment but its primary design is for ultimate safety of a child until all agencies concerned can plan a program of satisfactory disposition of a particular case, the judge said.

Century-Old Church Gets Certificate

PAW PAW—Paw Paw Methodist Church received a certificate from the West Virginia Centennial Commission, recognizing the church as being over 100 years old.

The certificate was presented by Mrs. Robert Golladay of the Enon Farm Women's Club after a history of the church was given by Mrs. Henry Miller of the Camp Hill club.

Records show the first Methodist Church on Camp Hill was destroyed by Union troops. Later the church was paid for by the government. The church on the present site was built in 1876.

Fred Newbraugh, Berkeley Springs, was instrumental in tracing the history of the church.

Lonaconing Adopts New Fiscal Budget

LONACONING — The mayor and council of Lonaconing adopted their budget for the 1963-64 year at their regular meeting this week, calling for receipts and expenditures totaling $47,982.76.

According to Mayor Dewey G. Burns, a number of improvements and new expenditures are included in this budget. Among these are appropriations of $5,000 for needed repairs to the Union Street bridge; $3,500 for the purchase of a new town truck and a snow plow; $800 for capital improvements including repainting and new furniture for the town hall; $1,000 as a donation to Goodwill Fire Company; $500 for recreation and playground equipment, and an increase of $450 for street lighting.

It was explained, during the budget discussion that the power of the town's 68 street lights is to be increased two and one-half times; that an effort is being made to find a tract for a playground, thus the appropriation for equipment; and that the old benches and obsolete furnishings in the town hall are "worn out."

The town's income for the year, according to receipts in the budget will include $18,545 from real estate and other local taxes; $11,821 in state distributed funds; $9,059 for licenses and permits etc; $3,484 from the county commissioners for rentals and street appropriations; and unexpended surplus funds from the current budget of about $4,500.

The town derives its real estate taxes from a total assessable base of $1,680,365. Disthict 10 assessment totals $1,041,320 and District 15 assessment totals $639,045. A tax rate of 85 cents per hundred which was adopted, will yield $14,283.10.

Council discussed complaints of a "junk yard" or an accumulation of junked autos and other scrap along Route 36 within the corporate limits. It was ordered that the owner be contacted and that this material be removed.

In view of the condition of a number of old buildings and slow deterioration of numerous structures in the town, along with an accumulation of sheds, outbuildings etc., council appointed Henry Connor to serve as building inspector. His salary for this part time job will be $75 per year, but he will have the authority to make inspections and recommendations to remove or improve the obsolete and unsightly.

Mr. Connor, a retired coal miner is already custodian of parking meters in the town and this will be an added duty.

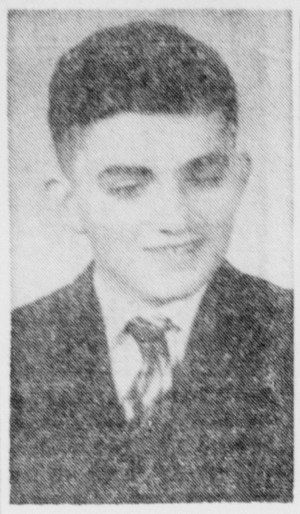
Mayor Burns said the next meeting will be held July 1.

Scouts Take Trip To Washington

MT. SAVAGE—Explorer Post 72 of Mt. Savage and Boy Scout Troop 80 of Bowling Green recently visited Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D. C and were accompanied by Lloyd Wade, advisor for the explorers, Charles Robertson, committee chairman, both of Mt. Savage, and Paul Ross, scoutmaster of Troop 80, and Edward Griffin.

Highlights of the trip were visits to the Smithsonian Institute, National Gallery of Art, Washington Monument and the Capitol and a tour of the recently-opened Dulles Airport.

Youth Is Honor Graduate At Md. School For Blind



GLENN DiCHIERA

WESTERNPORT — Glenn DiChiera, son of Stella DiChiera, Main Street, graduated with honors from the Maryland School for the Blind, Overlea and Baltimore City College, Baltimore, at commencement exercises held earlier this month.

Glenn was awarded a $100 scholarship by the Queen Ann's Guild, Baltimore, for having the highest scholastic average among those planning college; a watch for serving as president of the Student Council; cash and certificate for best reporting on the school paper; and a pen for serving as president of the dramatic club.

The preceeding awards were received at the School in Overlea. At Baltimore City College he was awarded a scholarship by the Parent Teachers Association for high rating in competitive tests.

Glenn's plight drew wide attention over 13 years ago when it was necessary to remove both his eyes in operations, to save his life from the cancer that threatened his sight.

He entered kindergarten in the School for the Blind at the age of five years and since that time has remained there except for the holiday and summer vacations which he spent at home.

For the past two years he has attended morning classes at Baltimore City College and afternoon classes at the school in Overlea.

He will enter Towson State Teachers College in the fall, planning speech therapy as his vocation.

RC Bloodmobile Visits Keyser This Afternoon

KEYSER — The regular visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Keyser, is scheduled today from noon until 6 p.m. at Grace Methodist Church.

Douglas Dixon, chairman of the project, urges all residents of Keyser and the surrounding area to donate a pint of blood if at all possible to help achieve the quota of 110 pints.

The Blood Bauk reminds local residents that several citizens have been the recipients of blood since the last visit and that their friends and neighbors should be encouraged to replace whatever has been used.

Volunteer workers at the Blood Bank will again be members of local sororities, civic organizations, and fraternal auxiliaries.

Farm And Home Field Day At Wardensville June 27

MORGANTOWN — Research in poultry housing and disease control will be among the topics to be discussed at the Wardensville Farm and Home Field Day on June 27, according to Dr. A. H. VanLandingham, director of the West Virginia University agricultural experiment station.

The Field Day will be held at Reymann Memorial Farms, north of Wardensville on Route 259. The program is to begin at 10:30 a. m., EDT.

Dr. VanLandingham said that Harold Hyre, associate poultry scientist, Roy Emerson, associate agricultural engineer; and Dr. N. O. Olson, station veterinarian, will be present to report and discuss the projects. Field Day visitors will also hear C. J. Cunningham, superintendent of the farms, and Dr. J. O. Heishman, associate station veterinarian, who is stationed at the farms.

Dr. VanLandingham said that considerable interest has been expressed in a new experimental "continuous - operation" broiler house recently constructed at the Farms. This building was constructed to test a new concept in broiler raising. The new concept permits a more efficient utilization of space, equipment, and fuel than do present management systems. If successful, the new house will make it possible to produce up to 50 per cent more broiler per year than can be produced with equivalent facilities and present management systems.

Other topics on the Field Day program are chemical weed control in corn and forages, alfalfa varieties and management, fall versus spring lambing systems, and methods of beef production.

All farm families in eastern West Virginia and western Virginia are invited to participate in the Field Day, Dr. VanLandingham emphasized. A special "ladies day" program will be conducted by home economists from the University.

MONEY THAT TALKS (TWICE!)

These U.S. Savings Bonds are owned jointly by a husband and wife.

The money that bought them says two things:

It says, "Here is a family that wants to do its share in keeping our country strong — wants to help give it the means and the power to speak for and work for the Free World."

It also says, "Here is a family that saves to take care of itself, to provide for its future. Here is a family that contributes to the strength of its country by keeping itself strong and independent."

Join up with the tens of millions of American families and individuals who are showing the communist part of the world how, right in their own homes and on their own jobs, they are helping to keep their country and the Free World strong.

It's easy. Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or arrange for a regular monthly Bond purchase at your bank.

And don't feel any less patriotic about it because you're getting a good return on your investment. Your personal financial strength is part of the strength of the whole nation.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

U.S. Cops First International Federation Cup

Hard And Moffitt Defeat Australia

LONDON (AP) — Darlene Hard and Billie Jean Moffitt, a pair of tennis queens from Long Beach, Calif., defeated Australia, 3-2, Thursday and the United States became the first winner of the Women's International Federation Cup.

The two American girls fought off defeat during the entire damp day and never were ahead until the final set of the final doubles match. There they defeated Margaret Smith and Lesley Turner 3-6, 13-11, 6-3. Earlier Miss Smith defeated Miss Hard 6-3, 6-0, and Miss Moffitt squeaked past Miss Turner 5-7, 6-0, 6-3.

The competition began last Monday with teams from 16 nations. On their way to the finals the Americans knocked out Italy, the Netherlands and Britain.

A crowd of about 500 watched the final on an indoor wooden court. The matches were switched indoors because of the threat of bad weather.

The deciding doubles match was a thriller, lasting almost two hours. The American girls, after losing the first set, teetered on the verge of defeat several times in the spectacular second set.

At one stage they trailed 4-5 and faced the power service of Miss Smith, rated the hardest hitting woman player in the world. It was the coolness and experience of Miss Hard which saved the day. With volleys and passing shots, she broke the Australian girl's service.

With tension rising the Australians went to 9-8 and again the powerful Miss Smith was serving. This time it was Miss Moffitt who kept her at bay with some sizzling service returns and leveled at 9-9.

Finally the Americans broke Miss Turner's service and took the set 13-11.

Stuart's 17th HR Ignites Sox Rally

BOSTON (AP)—Home runs by Dick Stuart and Chuck Schilling powered the Boston Red Sox to an 8-3 victory and a sweep of their three-game series with the Detroit Tigers Thursday.

Stuart's 17th home run of the season, driving in his 43rd run, ignited the Red Sox' five-run rally in the fourth. A walk, a fielder's choice ground ball and a single by Russ Nixon set the stage for pitcher Arnold Earley's two-run double. Schilling then hit his fifth home run of the campaign.

Detroit pitcher Jim Bunning, suffering his seventh setback in 11 decisions, hit the next batter, Roman Mejias, with a pitch. He was fined $50 on the spot by umpire Hank Soar for deliberately throwing at a batter. He was also warned that a recurrence would mean a suspension.

Cumberlander Among Eight Left In Marbles Tourney

Harris In Running, Ft. Dix Girl Wins

WILDWOOD, N.J. (AP)—A 12-year-old from Fox Dix, N.J., Patsey Coon, won the girls' championship Thursday at the 37th annual National Marbles Tournament.

Patsy, daughter of Sgt. Maj. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Coon, had been in second place since Tuesday but managed to gain the top spot when Jacqueline Izaj of Pittsburgh, Pa., faltered.

Jacqueline fell from first to third in the finals with Charlen Mills of Talbot County, Md., taking second.

In the boys division, the field has been trimmed to eight for Friday's finals with John Riccardi, 13, Yonkers, N.Y., and James Donohue, 12, Springfield, Mass., tied for the lead. Each has won 60 games and lost 12.

Other boys' finalists are Jay Lynch, Yonkers; Charles Pendleton, Lincoln, N.C.; Gary Malcolm, Elkhart, Ind.; Pee Wee Bower, Mullens, W.Va.; Louis Harris, Cumberland, Md.; and James Meade, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Caseys Boost Lead In Frostburg Loop

The Knights of Columbus increased their lead to 1½ games in the Frostburg Little League by beating the Jaycees yesterday by the score of 5-4.

Marty Lewis, who pitched until the 6th when he was relieved by Glenn Sperry, received credit for the win, the fifth in six starts for the league leaders. The loss was the fifth against a single victory for the Jaycees.

Lewis accounted for two of the victors' five hits—a double and single. The Jaycees were limited to four singles.

HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA

CUMBERLAND INTERVIEWS

Saturday and Sunday, June 22 and 23
Between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

For appointment, please phone during the hours indicated above

Mr. Frank Quinn
(Manager of Personnel and Administration)

PA 2-2400

Openings exist right now for engineers to work on the largest, most powerful boosters yet designed and built in America — the first stage boosters for Saturn 1 and Saturn 1B . . . destined to lift 20,000 and 32,000 lbs. of payload respectively into earth orbit.

You'll be associated with a multi-million dollar long-term space program at Chrysler's Space Division — prime contractor to NASA for the Saturn Booster (S-1).

A few of the opportunities now available at our Huntsville, Alabama, facility are listed below. All positions call for a BS or MS in Engineering with applicable experience. Aerospace experience desired but not required.

STRUCTURAL ANALYSIS SUPERVISORS

To plan section programs, conduct manpower estimates, and assist in preparing proposals. Will provide technical and administrative direction to structural analysis group. Experience must include advanced mathematics, applied mechanics, vibrations, dynamics, acoustics and stress.

STRUCTURAL ANALYSTS

To evaluate stiffness, rigidity, and mass and inertia distribution of complex elastic structures. Responsibility includes determining methods of analyzing vibration characteristics of structural components and structurally-mounted systems, as well as predicting dynamic characteristics of elastic structures subjected to environmental or control system excitation.

STRESS ANALYSTS

To determine, through loads analysis, the distribution of internal loads in both simple and redundant structures; and to determine stresses and deflections by use of analytical methods.

PROPULSION SYSTEMS ANALYSTS

To analyze and evaluate clustered and single liquid rocket engines, systems, and associated mechanical and electro-mechanical systems from data provided by full-scale static tests and flight-test telemetry . . . to perform detail and analysis and to simulate static and flight tests of rocket engine systems through use of electronic computers.

ELECTRICAL NETWORKS ENGINEERS

Design complex electrical systems and assemblies used in space vehicles and ground support equipment; perform load studies and other technical analyses for developing modifications or initiating new designs.

INSTRUMENTATION ENGINEERS

To be responsible for vehicle electrical networks, check out, and tests. Will prepare test procedures and electrical schematics and drawings, prepare and coordinate engineering changes as required, and evaluate system performance.

DESIGN CRITERIA ENGINEERS
Electrical or Mechanical

To obtain and verify mechanical or electrical data on all phases of aerospace research and development. Will prepare technical reports based on accrued scientific facts. Must also establish support services requirements and coordinate total job effort. BSEE or BSME required.

PRODUCT DESIGNERS
High Density Electronic Packaging

To conceive, design and make working details for high density micro-miniature electronic flight hardware with particular emphasis on both printed circuits and welded cordwood packages including necessary holding fixtures. Will review and check assemblies and details produced by others in conjunction with the design program. 5 years minimum experience required in product design.

ALSO DRAFTING OPENINGS FOR:

DETAIL DRAFTSMEN

Prepare and review both new and revised detailed production drawings, including chart and graph preparation. Applicant must have high school or equivalent education plus an aptitude for object visualization. 1-2 years experience desired. (Please bring samples of your work).

If an interview is not convenient at this time, or you are interested in other opportunities at Chrysler-Huntsville, please forward your resume to Mr. George Taylor, Personnel Dept. 1617, Chrysler Corporation Space Division, P.O. Box 857, Huntsville, Ala.

Cumberlander Among Eight Left In Marbles Tourney

Harris In Running, Ft. Dix Girl Wins

WILDWOOD, N.J. (AP)—A 12-year-old from Fox Dix, N.J., Patsey Coon, won the girls' championship Thursday at the 37th annual National Marbles Tournament.

Patsy, daughter of Sgt. Maj. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Coon, had been in second place since Tuesday but managed to gain the top spot when Jacqueline Izaj of Pittsburgh, Pa., faltered.

Jacqueline fell from first to third in the finals with Charlen Mills of Talbot County, Md., taking second.

In the boys division, the field has been trimmed to eight for Friday's finals with John Riccardi, 13, Yonkers, N.Y., and James Donohue, 12, Springfield, Mass., tied for the lead. Each has won 60 games and lost 12.

Other boys' finalists are Jay Lynch, Yonkers; Charles Pendleton, Lincoln, N.C.; Gary Malcolm, Elkhart, Ind.; Pee Wee Bower, Mullens, W.Va.; Louis Harris, Cumberland, Md.; and James Meade, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Caseys Boost Lead In Frostburg Loop

The Knights of Columbus increased their lead to 1½ games in the Frostburg Little League by beating the Jaycees yesterday by the score of 5-4.

Marty Lewis, who pitched until the 6th when he was relieved by Glenn Sperry, received credit for the win, the fifth in six starts for the league leaders. The loss was the fifth against a single victory for the Jaycees.

Lewis accounted for two of the victors' five hits—a double and single. The Jaycees were limited to four singles.

CHRYSLER Corporation
SPACE DIVISION

CUMBERLAND INTERVIEWS

Saturday and Sunday, June 22 and 23
Between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

For appointment, please phone during the hours indicated above

Mr. Frank Quinn
(Manager of Personnel and Administration)

PA 2-2400

Openings exist right now for engineers to work on the largest, most powerful boosters yet designed and built in America — the first stage boosters for Saturn 1 and Saturn 1B . . . destined to lift 20,000 and 32,000 lbs. of payload respectively into earth orbit.

You'll be associated with a multi-million dollar long-term space program at Chrysler's Space Division — prime contractor to NASA for the Saturn Booster (S-1).

A few of the opportunities now available at our Huntsville, Alabama, facility are listed below. All positions call for a BS or MS in Engineering with applicable experience. Aerospace experience desired but not required.

STRUCTURAL ANALYSIS SUPERVISORS

To plan section programs, conduct manpower estimates, and assist in preparing proposals. Will provide technical and administrative direction to structural analysis group. Experience must include advanced mathematics, applied mechanics, vibrations, dynamics, acoustics and stress.

STRUCTURAL ANALYSTS

To evaluate stiffness, rigidity, and mass and inertia distribution of complex elastic structures. Responsibility includes determining methods of analyzing vibration characteristics of structural components and structurally-mounted systems, as well as predicting dynamic characteristics of elastic structures subjected to environmental or control system excitation.

STRESS ANALYSTS

To determine, through loads analysis, the distribution of internal loads in both simple and redundant structures; and to determine stresses and deflections by use of analytical methods.

PROPULSION SYSTEMS ANALYSTS

To analyze and evaluate clustered and single liquid rocket engines, systems, and associated mechanical and electro-mechanical systems from data provided by full-scale static tests and flight-test telemetry . . . to perform detail and analysis and to simulate static and flight tests of rocket engine systems through use of electronic computers.

ELECTRICAL NETWORKS ENGINEERS

Design complex electrical systems and assemblies used in space vehicles and ground support equipment; perform load studies and other technical analyses for developing modifications or initiating new designs.

INSTRUMENTATION ENGINEERS

To be responsible for vehicle electrical networks, check out, and tests. Will prepare test procedures and electrical schematics and drawings, prepare and coordinate engineering changes as required, and evaluate system performance.

DESIGN CRITERIA ENGINEERS
Electrical or Mechanical

To obtain and verify mechanical or electrical data on all phases of aerospace research and development. Will prepare technical reports based on accrued scientific facts. Must also establish support services requirements and coordinate total job effort. BSEE or BSME required.

PRODUCT DESIGNERS
High Density Electronic Packaging

To conceive, design and make working details for high density micro-miniature electronic flight hardware with particular emphasis on both printed circuits and welded cordwood packages including necessary holding fixtures. Will review and check assemblies and details produced by others in conjunction with the design program. 5 years minimum experience required in product design.

ALSO DRAFTING OPENINGS FOR:

DETAIL DRAFTSMEN

Prepare and review both new and revised detailed production drawings, including chart and graph preparation. Applicant must have high school or equivalent education plus an aptitude for object visualization. 1-2 years experience desired. (Please bring samples of your work).

If an interview is not convenient at this time, or you are interested in other opportunities at Chrysler-Huntsville, please forward your resume to Mr. George Taylor, Personnel Dept. 1617, Chrysler Corporation Space Division, P.O. Box 857, Huntsville, Ala.

Twins Splurge In Fifth, Down White Sox, 9-4

Versalles Socks Three-Run Triple

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —Zoilo Versalles' triple with the bases loaded was the big blow of a five-run splurge in the fifth inning as the Minnesota Twins walloped the Chicago White Sox 9-4 Thursday.

Harmon Killebrew hit his 13th homer to start off the spree in the fifth and Earl Battey clubbed his 15th home run for Minnesota in the seventh.

Dave DeBusschere, who had relieved Johnny Buzhardt in the fourth inning, and Frank Buamann, were victimized by the Twins in the fifth.

Max Alvis' Slam Beats Orioles, 11-8

Cleveland Rallies To Win Slugfest

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians blew a 5-2 lead, then staged a six-run rally in the seventh inning capped by rookie Max Alvis' grand slam homer and belted Baltimore 11-8 Thursday night.

The battling Indians trailed 7-5 going into the seventh before Jerry Kindall slapped a two-run single to tie the game. A walk loaded the bases, then Alvis unloaded them with his sixth homer of the year, off Stu Miller.

Six home runs were hit during the game—four by the Indians and two by the Orioles. Joe Azcue had two—good for four runs—and Woodie Held one for Cleveland. Pitcher Dick Hall and Jim Gentile homered for Baltimore. It was Gentile's 13th.

Luis Aparicio, who drove in four runs, put the Orioles ahead for the first time in the seventh. His bases-loaded double scored three runs and gave Baltimore a 7-5 lead.

The Indians had taken a 5-2 lead on Held's first inning homer and Azcue's two blasts—a solo job in the second inning and a three-run clout in the fourth.

The victory went to Jerry Walker, 6-1, with Dick Hall, 2-2, taking the loss.

The Indians now have won 18 out of their last 21 games.

Pirates Assign Four To Rookie League

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced the signing Thursday of four free agents to 1963 contracts with their Kingsport, Tenn. farm club in the rookie Appalachian League.

Signed were infielders George Johnson, 20, of Center Cross, Va., and Robert Golden of Leicester, N.C.

The Pirates also signed right-handed pitcher John Woolard of Washington, N. C. and outfielder Steve Jones of Lebanon, Tenn.

McDonald Succeeds Wyatt As Tennessee Grid Coach

Woodruff Becomes Athletic Director

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Bowden Wyatt was fired Thursday as head football coach at the University of Tennessee and former Ohio State blocking back Jim McDonald was named to succeed him.

In the shakeup, which had been in the making for sometime, assistant coach Bob Woodruff, former head coach at Florida, was named athletic director.

Wyatt had been filling both jobs since the death last year of Gen. Robert Neyland.

Both appointments are effective July 1.

The appointment of McDonald, 48, could spell the end of Tennessee's long-standing use of the single wing that Neyland developed into one of college football's most devastating weapons.

McDonald played at Ohio State under the late Francis Schmidt, spent two years in the pro ranks with the Detroit Lions and then settled down to coaching high school football at Springfield, Ohio.

He met Wyatt in the Navy during World War II and came to Tennessee in 1955 when Wyatt was lured away from his $15,000 head coaching job at Arkansas.

McDonald indicated he is ready to inject a lot of variation into Tennessee strategy — mixing in a T-formation style with the old single wing.

Wyatt, 47, who has been a patient in a Radford, Va. hospital for the past four weeks, will be given a check for his salary for one year. This is reputed to be about $18,500.

The university's board of trustees, which made the changes, said Wyatt's employment will be "terminated" effective next June 30.

Barrelville used the long ball to down the Cresaptown Eagles, 8-4, and move into second place in the Pen-Mar Little League yesterday at Barrelville.

Wellersburg dropped out of the second spot by losing to the LaVale Orioles, 7-6, at Shehan Field, and Corriganville nipped the LaVale Maroons, 5-4, on its home diamond. Barrelville now trails league - leading Tri - State Memorial with a 6-2 record. Tri-State (5-0) was idle yesterday.

Home runs by pitcher John Helmick, Ricky Green, Roger Kennell and Kenny Blank pushed Barrelville into an 8-0 lead before Cresaptown came up with four tallies in the top of the sixth. Green also had a double and single, and Helmick had another base hit to go with his round-tripper.

Helmick struck out a dozen batters and gave up only five hits. Dave Brown obtained two of the Eagles' safeties.

The LaVale Orioles pushed across a run in the bottom of the seventh to snap a 6-6 deadlock. Sam Schwab singled in the seventh, advanced on a passed ball and came home on Jim Wilson's hit and a miscue in the field.

Terry Ellsworth rapped four hits, including a three - bagger, and winning pitcher Kenny Smith had a double and single for the Orioles. Petenbrink garnered three hits, and Wingert and Hunt collected two apiece for Wellersburg.

Pitcher Ricky Kauffman and Harold Howell had a double and single apiece to pace Corriganville, and the latter's two-bagger brought in the winning run in the fifth inning. Rich Underwood, with two singles and a double, accounted for half of the Maroons' hits.

Trio Of Title Fights Planned

LONDON (UPI) — Boxing promoters Jack Solomons of England and matchmaker Teddy Brenner of New York have completed an exchange deal to stage three world championship fights this fall, it was announced Thursday.

Solomons said two of the fights will be held in the United States and one in England.

The deal with Brenner, the Madison Square Garden matchmaker, has Cuban Sugar Ramos defending his title against Howard Winstone, British and Empire champion, at Earls Court, London, in September or early October.

Middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria will meet Lazlo Papp of Hungary, and welterweight titlist Emile Griffith of New York is paired with Britain's Brian Curvis in the United States.

Tiger, meanwhile, is scheduled to defend against Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, at Ibadan, Nigeria, on July 13.

50,742 Witness New York Mets Beat Yanks, 6-2

NEW YORK (UPI) — Casey Stengel returned to Yankee Stadium in style Thursday night when his ragamuffin Mets defeated the world champion Yanks 6-2, in an exhibition game played for the benefit of sandlot baseball in New York.

A crowd of 50,742 saw Jay Hook and Carlton Willey hold the Yanks to four hits while the Mets made merry at the expense of Yankee starter Stan Williams. Williams yielded six runs and six hits in three innings, and made three wild pitches, including two that sent runners over the plate.

Tim Harkness, Billy Moran and Jim Piersall led the Mets' eight-hit attack with two hits each. It was the first time Stengel had managed at the Stadium since he was dropped as manager of the Yankees following the 1960 season.

Elston Howard singled home Bobby Richardson in the first inning and Joe Pepitone homered in the ninth for the Yankees' runs.

The crowd was noisy and enthusiastically pro-Mets. It gave its loudest cheer of the night when Stengel appeared on the field and reserved its loudest boos for Roger Maris, who made an unsuccessful pinch hitting appearance in the seventh.

At least a half dozen types of firecrackers and fireworks were hurled onto the field during the game. The Yankee Stadium special police arrested one fan, whose name was not disclosed because he is a minor.

Giants Score Third D.D. Loop Win, 5-3

The Giants notched their third straight victory of the season in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by trimming the Phillies yesterday at Constitution Park by the score of 5-3.

Jimmie Hamilton (2-0) tossed a 7-hitter for the victors and struck out nine while his mates nicked Burns for nine blows.

Ronnie Kunis' double drove in the tie-breaking runs in the bottom of the 7th inning.

Steve Clark clouted a homer and two singles, Jeff Bailey collected two hits, Bill Adams rapped a triple and Steve Hemmis banged a two-bagger for the Giants. Natale belted a pair of round-trippers and a single and Perkins and Billy Lindner had two-baggers for the Phillies who are winless in three outings.

Yankees Post 7th Straight Victory, 5-4

Richardson's Hit Wins Game In 9th

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobby Richardson slammed a double off Reliefer Jim Coates in the ninth inning Thursday, scoring two runs and giving the New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Washington Senators and running their victory streak to seven.

Richardson's blast to right center field scored Hector Lopez and Tony Kubek who had singled.

The Yankees, trailing 4-2 going into the eighth, made it 4-3 when with the bases loaded John Blanchard worked Coates for a walk, forcing in Richardson.

Marshall Bridges, who came in to relieve Al Downing, was the winning pitcher and Coates was the loser.

Twins Splurge In Fifth, Down White Sox, 9-4

Versalles Socks Three-Run Triple

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —Zoilo Versalles' triple with the bases loaded was the big blow of a five-run splurge in the fifth inning as the Minnesota Twins walloped the Chicago White Sox 9-4 Thursday.

Harmon Killebrew hit his 13th homer to start off the spree in the fifth and Earl Battey clubbed his 15th home run for Minnesota in the seventh.

Dave DeBusschere, who had relieved Johnny Buzhardt in the fourth inning, and Frank Buamann, were victimized by the Twins in the fifth.

Max Alvis' Slam Beats Orioles, 11-8

Cleveland Rallies To Win Slugfest

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians blew a 5-2 lead, then staged a six-run rally in the seventh inning capped by rookie Max Alvis' grand slam homer and belted Baltimore 11-8 Thursday night.

The battling Indians trailed 7-5 going into the seventh before Jerry Kindall slapped a two-run single to tie the game. A walk loaded the bases, then Alvis unloaded them with his sixth homer of the year, off Stu Miller.

Six home runs were hit during the game—four by the Indians and two by the Orioles. Joe Azcue had two—good for four runs—and Woodie Held one for Cleveland. Pitcher Dick Hall and Jim Gentile homered for Baltimore. It was Gentile's 13th.

Luis Aparicio, who drove in four runs, put the Orioles ahead for the first time in the seventh. His bases-loaded double scored three runs and gave Baltimore a 7-5 lead.

The Indians had taken a 5-2 lead on Held's first inning homer and Azcue's two blasts—a solo job in the second inning and a three-run clout in the fourth.

The victory went to Jerry Walker, 6-1, with Dick Hall, 2-2, taking the loss.

The Indians now have won 18 out of their last 21 games.

Pirates Assign Four To Rookie League

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced the signing Thursday of four free agents to 1963 contracts with their Kingsport, Tenn. farm club in the rookie Appalachian League.

Signed were infielders George Johnson, 20, of Center Cross, Va., and Robert Golden of Leicester, N.C.

The Pirates also signed right-handed pitcher John Woolard of Washington, N. C. and outfielder Steve Jones of Lebanon, Tenn.

McDonald Succeeds Wyatt As Tennessee Grid Coach

Woodruff Becomes Athletic Director

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Bowden Wyatt was fired Thursday as head football coach at the University of Tennessee and former Ohio State blocking back Jim McDonald was named to succeed him.

In the shakeup, which had been in the making for sometime, assistant coach Bob Woodruff, former head coach at Florida, was named athletic director.

Wyatt had been filling both jobs since the death last year of Gen. Robert Neyland.

Both appointments are effective July 1.

The appointment of McDonald, 48, could spell the end of Tennessee's long-standing use of the single wing that Neyland developed into one of college football's most devastating weapons.

McDonald played at Ohio State under the late Francis Schmidt, spent two years in the pro ranks with the Detroit Lions and then settled down to coaching high school football at Springfield, Ohio.

He met Wyatt in the Navy during World War II and came to Tennessee in 1955 when Wyatt was lured away from his $15,000 head coaching job at Arkansas.

McDonald indicated he is ready to inject a lot of variation into Tennessee strategy — mixing in a T-formation style with the old single wing.

Wyatt, 47, who has been a patient in a Radford, Va. hospital for the past four weeks, will be given a check for his salary for one year. This is reputed to be about $18,500.

The university's board of trustees, which made the changes, said Wyatt's employment will be "terminated" effective next June 30.

Barrelville used the long ball to down the Cresaptown Eagles, 8-4, and move into second place in the Pen-Mar Little League yesterday at Barrelville.

Wellersburg dropped out of the second spot by losing to the LaVale Orioles, 7-6, at Shehan Field, and Corriganville nipped the LaVale Maroons, 5-4, on its home diamond. Barrelville now trails league-leading Tri-State Memorial with a 6-2 record. Tri-State (5-0) was idle yesterday.

Home runs by pitcher John Helmick, Ricky Green, Roger Kennell and Kenny Blank pushed Barrelville into an 8-0 lead before Cresaptown came up with four tallies in the top of the sixth. Green also had a double and single, and Helmick had another base hit to go with his round-tripper.

Helmick struck out a dozen batters and gave up only five hits. Dave Brown obtained two of the Eagles' safeties.

The LaVale Orioles pushed across a run in the bottom of the seventh to snap a 6-6 deadlock. Sam Schwab singled in the seventh, advanced on a passed ball and came home on Jim Wilson's hit and a miscue in the field.

Terry Ellsworth rapped four hits, including a three-bagger, and winning pitcher Kenny Smith had a double and single for the Orioles. Petenbrink garnered three hits, and Wingert and Hunt collected two apiece for Wellersburg.

Pitcher Ricky Kauffman and Harold Howell had a double and single apiece to pace Corriganville, and the latter's two-bagger brought in the winning run in the fifth inning. Rich Underwood, with two singles and a double, accounted for half of the Maroons' hits.

Trio Of Title Fights Planned

LONDON (UPI) — Boxing promoters Jack Solomons of England and matchmaker Teddy Brenner of New York have completed an exchange deal to stage three world championship fights this fall, it was announced Thursday.

Solomons said two of the fights will be held in the United States and one in England.

The deal with Brenner, the Madison Square Garden matchmaker, has Cuban Sugar Ramos defending his title against Howard Winstone, British and Empire champion, at Earls Court, London, in September or early October.

Middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria will meet Lazlo Papp of Hungary, and welterweight titlist Emile Griffith of New York is paired with Britain's Brian Curvis in the United States.

Tiger, meanwhile, is scheduled to defend against Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, at Ibadan, Nigeria, on July 13.

50,742 Witness New York Mets Beat Yanks, 6-2

NEW YORK (UPI) — Casey Stengel returned to Yankee Stadium in style Thursday night when his ragamuffin Mets defeated the world champion Yanks 6-2, in an exhibition game played for the benefit of sandlot baseball in New York.

A crowd of 50,742 saw Jay Hook and Carlton Willey hold the Yanks to four hits while the Mets made merry at the expense of Yankee starter Stan Williams. Williams yielded six runs and six hits in three innings, and made three wild pitches, including two that sent runners over the plate.

Tim Harkness, Billy Moran and Jim Piersall led the Mets' eight-hit attack with two hits each. It was the first time Stengel had managed at the Stadium since he was dropped as manager of the Yankees following the 1960 season.

Elston Howard singled home Bobby Richardson in the first inning and Joe Pepitone homered in the ninth for the Yankees' runs.

The crowd was noisy and enthusiastically pro-Mets. It gave its loudest cheer of the night when Stengel appeared on the field and reserved its loudest boos for Roger Maris, who made an unsuccessful pinch hitting appearance in the seventh.

At least a half dozen types of firecrackers and fireworks were hurled onto the field during the game. The Yankee Stadium special police arrested one fan, whose name was not disclosed because he is a minor.

Bob Gajda, Of Detroit, Leads First Round In National Open Golf

Palmer Trails By Four Shots With Score 73

Cupit In Runner-Up Spot With 70; Jack Nicklaus Shoots 76

By OSCAR FRALEY

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — Bob Gajda, a Detroit veteran who never won anything but a caddy championship, sprinted through morning sunshine to grab the first round lead in the U.S. Open golf championship Thursday and then relaxed as the field played the back nine blues.

All the big guns had a shot at the two under par 35-34—69 posted by the 46-year-old Gajda but when darkness finally closed in over the country club he was one shot in front of blond Jacky Cupit of Tyler, Tex.

Trails By Four

Arnold Palmer was four strokes away with a two over par 37-36—73 and still very much in contention; Gary Player putted poorly in shooting a 35-39—74 and defending champion Jack Nicklaus—six shots over par after 11 holes—pounded out a five over par 39-37—76.

The back nine of the scorned course dubbed by the pros as "The Old Lady of Boylston Street" took its revenge on most of them aided by afternoon showers and winds with gusts up to 30 miles per hour.

Former champion Julius Boros, Lionel Hebert, 28-year-old Davis Love of Charlotte, N.C., and and champagne Tony Lema — who explained a five-hour round by saying "You have to find the ball before you can hit it" — came in with even par 71's to rank only two shots back, and at 72 came Wally Burkemo, Don January, Dean Refram and Paul Kelly.

Stacked with Palmer at 73 came Canada's Al Balding, former British Amateur champion Richard Davies, Jay Hebert and Art Wall.

Snead Posts 74

At 74 with Player were Bobby Nichols, Bob Goalby, Bob Charles, former champions Ed Furgol and Dick Mayer and old Slammin' Sammy Snead.

But in a long afternoon over the scraggly course with its clutching rough and postage stamp greens, it was the back nine which got the majority of them.

Charles Knowles, first man off the tee, set the pattern with a 39-43 — 82. And the range of scores between the front and back nines was amazing.

Cary Middlecoff, who has won the open twice, went out in 36 and back in 44 for an 80. Doug Sanders was 37-40 — 77; Stan Leonard 40-42 —82; Nichols was out in 33 and back in 41 for a 74; Ed Furgol exactly the disgusted same; Frank Boynton 34 out and 40 back; Chick Harbert 37-44 — 81 and Bob Goetz 37-42—79.

The hamburger came to the U.S. via the Baltic countries. Estonians, Latvians and Finns were fond of red meat, shredded with a dull knife and eaten raw. Their merchant sailors brought the delicacy to the German seaport of Hamburg centuries ago. The Hamburgers relished it enough to immortalize it with their name.

Salvation Army Wins 4th Straight In Stove League

Lions Beaten, 5-4; Elks, Outdoor Club Also Score Wins

Salvation Army remained as one of two unbeaten teams in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday by downing the Lions, 5-3, at Penn Avenue Field.

The Elks nudged the Cumberland Optimists, 4-3, for their first win of the season in the other half of a Penn Avenue doubleheader, and Outdoor Club registered its fourth win in five games with a 6-4 decision over the Bedford Road Optimists at Mason Road Field.

Jimmy Decker's homer with two men aboard in the bottom of the fifth inning proved to be the margin of victory for manager Art Delozier's Salvation Army tossers, whose record is 4-0. The Jaycees, idle yesterday, also sport a 4-0 mark.

Teddy Malloy, who got the mound decision over Blair Norris, rapped a bases-empty roundtripper in the third. Terry Deremer collected two singles, and first sacker Jack McKenney sparkled afield for Salvation Army.

Norris, who matched his hill opponent in strikeouts with nine, had a sixth inning homer and also singled for the Lions.

Spunk Perlozzo powered the Elks to their initial win of the campaign. He blasted a two-run homer over the rightfield fence in the first inning, and knocked in another run with a two-bagger in the sixth. Bill Parks doubled and singled for the Elks, while Ralph Leasure led the Cumberland Optimists' batting attack with a single, double and triple.

A triple by Quentin Simpson in the top of the sixth broke a 4-4 tie and sent Bedford Road down to its fifth straight defeat. Kenny Green, who got the victory in relief, rapped a double and single. Pat McLean had a three-bagger and single, and Jerry Growden came through with a pair of hits for Outdoor Club. Denton Cosgrove accounted for two of the losers' five safeties.

O'Toole Whips Phils For 13th

Cincinnati Rolls To 11-1 Victory

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Cocky Jim O'Toole breezed to his 13th victory and seventh in succession for Cincinnati Thursday night as the Reds pounded Art Mahaffey for 10 runs in gaining an 11-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

O'Toole, whose victory total tops all major league pitchers, hurled a five-hitter and was the beneficiary of a three-run homer by John Edwards and a solo clout by Bob Skinner.

O'Toole struck out six and walked only one en route to his eighth complete game. He has lost only three.

The Reds led only 2-1 going into the fifth inning when they batted around against Mahaffey and scored five runs. Edwards' homer was the big blow.

Skinner hit his first home run of the season in the sixth and the Reds added three unearned tallies in the seventh, chasing Mahaffey. The defeat was the Phils righthander's ninth in 12 decisions.

Outfielder Tony Gonzalez of the Phils tied a major league record by appearing in his 199th consecutive errorless game. The record was set in 1958-59 by Gus Bell of the Reds.

Tom McLuckie registered his fifth win in six outings by twirling the Veterans of Foreign Wars to 7-3 decision over the B.P.O. Elks yesterday in a Rocking Chair Softball League game at Stitcher Field.

The win moved the Vets to within one game of the front-running Moose team.

The Vets solved the offerings of Leo Rhodes for 16 hits. Jim Eckard collected a double and two singles, Fred Meeks homered and single and "Butch" Johnson, Bill Eckard, George McGregor and Pete Elliott obtained two singles each.

Walter "Pooch" Orndorff smashed a triple and two singles and Leo Rhodes had two hits for the Elks.

The Caseys, three games off the pace, handed the C. & P. Telephone Company its 10th consecutive defeat at Post Field by the score of 8-2.

Thirteen bases on balls were issued in this game, Don Decker of the Caseys giving up eight while Diamond dealt out five free tickets.

Decker, who notched win No. 4, collected two hits, Mickey Clark, Norm Geatz and Bob Russell blasted triples and "Hoppy" Crabtree rapped a two-bagger. The Phoneman had only two hits, a bunt single by Thies in the first frame, and Dreyer's infield bingle in the seventh.

Webb Hull fired a three-hitter as Rothe Heating Company trimmed Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at Fort Hill Field by the score of 7-0.

Archie Carr belted a two-run homer, triple and single to spark Rothe, "Pooch" Lewis slammed a round-tripper and single and Don Harden and Galen McGregor obtained two singles each. The win was the first in four starts for Hull, who yielded only three singles.

Pace-setting Short Gap breezed to its fifth straight W. Va.-Md. Little League triumph yesterday, rolling over Ridgeley, 17-0, on the latter team's field. Oldtown blanked Fort Ashby, 3-0, at Oldtown and Patterson Creek edged winless Ellerslie, 9-8, on the Maryland team's diamond.

Gary Pyles worked on the mound for Short Gap (5-0), struck out 13 and allowed only two hits. The league leaders racked up 12 safeties, including a home run by Dennis Liller. Steve Wolford blasted a triple, double and single, and Pyles and Bill Parsons had a triple and single apiece. Ryan and Snyder obtained the losers' hits.

Oldtown (3-2) got fine pitching from Clyde Twigg. The lefthander failed to walk anybody, struck out eight and yielded three bingles. With the aid of two double plays, he faced only 22 Fort Ashby batters. Royce Duckworth belted a two-run homer in the first for Oldtown, and Gregory Steinbaugh came through with a double.

Patterson Creek upped its record to 3-2 in handing Ellerslie its fifth straight setback, but had to rally for five runs in the sixth to do it. Terry Bradfield's home run with two on highlighted the big frame. Charles Kenney and Mickey Readd had two hits apiece for the winners. Thompson, Wisler and Sides accounted for eight of Ellerslie's 12 hits.

Marilynn Smith Leads Western Open Tournament

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The smooth-swinging Marilynn Smith conquered a whipping wind and a long-playing course for a 2-under-par 72 and the first-round lead Thursday in the 34th Western Women's Golf Open.

Miss Smith, a former national intercollegiate champion, was the only one in the field of 101 to master the challenging 6,259-yard Maple Bluff Country Club course as the 72-hole tournament got under way.

Defending champion Mickey Wright was 2-under par with a 36 on the front nine, but blew up coming back. Miss Wright, the top money winner on the pro tour since 1961, took six bogeys on the last nine and finished with a 78.

Miss Smith had a 36 each way as she stormed into a four-stroke lead over Sybil Griffin, who carded 37-39-76. Peggy Joyce Wilson of Austin, Tex., and veteran Betsy Rawls trailed another stroke off the pace.

Tied with Miss Wright at 78 were Patsy Hahn, Ruth Jessen and Judy Kimball.

Gilmore Cops 8th Straight In Twilight

Perry Of Keyser Tames Barton, 2-0

Gilmore extended its winning streak to eight games and tied Barton for first place in the Twilight Baseball League by nosing out Franklin yesterday at Westernport by the score of 5-4.

Barton and Gilmore are deadlocked for the league leadership with 8-3 records.

Bob Wilson, who hurled until the final frame when he was supplanted by Rich Cutter, got the win for Gilmore, and shared batting honors with Johnson. Wilson had two singles and Johnson rapped a triple and single.

Russell Raines went the route for Franklin, gave up 11 hits and struck out eight. Bob White and Vic Broy had three hits each for the losers.

Keyser (6-5) knocked off Barton on the latter's field by the score of 2-0 on a one-hitter by Junie Perry, who struck out an even dozen and issued three bases on balls.

Richard Fairgrieve's single in the 5th inning was Barton's only hit. It was Barton's first shutout defeat of the campaign.

Ellie Fazenbaker hurled a 6-hitter for the Braves and two of the blows were credited to "Pooch" Taylor.

Drake Pope fired a five-hitter and whiffed ten yesterday at East Side Field as the Angles blanked the Indians, 6-0, in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League.

The winners collected 14 hits, including a three - run homer by Allen Stevens in the 5th and a circuit belt by John Genevie in the 6th. Stevens had a double in addition to his homer and Bill Iames and Pope also had two hits each. Joyce at short and Sloan at second base starred afield for the Indians.

At Dapper Dan Field, the Athletics downed the Twins by the score of 11-7.

Dave Stitcher, who relieved Bennett in the fourth, was the winner.

Grove, McLaughlin and Wilkins had three hits each for the A's who chalked up a total of 15 blows. Grove had two doubles while McLaughlin and Wilkins had one each. Houdersheldt larruped a triple and single and Brode had a pair of base knocks for the Twins.

Tommy Cioni turned in a nice running catch for the Athletics.

Braves Edge Pirates, 2-1

Lemaster Wins Own Game With Homer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Denny Lemaster won his own game with a home run off Harvey Haddix in the eighth inning as the Milwaukee Braves scored a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday.

The homer was the second of his major league career and also the second in his last two starts.

Lemaster, who had won only two games previously despite a 2.06 earned run average, held the Pirates to five hits.

Haddix, who worked only the eighth, was the third Pittsburgh pitcher. Don Schwall started and had a one-hit shutout going when a pulled back muscle forced him to retire with one out in the sixth. Tom Sisk replaced Schwall and Eddie Mathews hit his second pitch for a home run which neutralized one by Ron Brand off Lemaster in the third.

Brand's home run was his first in the major leagues. Mathews blast was his ninth this season.

The Braves had only three hits. Their victory enabled them to break a sixth place tie with the Pirates.

Jackson Stops Houston, 5-0

Williams' Blasts Spark Cub Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Williams' two homers, both hit into the teeth of a 24-mile-per-hour wind blowing in off Lake Michigan, triggered the Chicago Cubs' 5-0 victory over Houston Thursday.

Williams stroked his first homer into the right field seats in the first to give winner Larry Jackson a 1-0 lead. The Chicago left fielder then extended his newest hot hitting skein to 14 hits in the last 23 times at bat by blasting his second homer of the game in the fifth.

Don Landrum, who bunted for a single, scored ahead of Williams' even longer drive into the right field seats this trip. The homers were Williams' ninth and tenth of the season.

Jackson, making his 16th start and pitching the distance a seventh time, yielded just four singles to pick up his eighth win and third shutout.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

A CHANGE OF UNIFORM often does wonders to ball players and perhaps Jack Kralick of the Indians, who has won six straight since he came over from the Twins May 2, has the right slant on why. Says Jack, in a recent quote:

"You have to impress people all over again."

There are other reasons, of course, including a different ball club, whether it hits behind you, how the defense plugs the holes, pitching rotation and spirit.

Kralick, a slim southpaw whose name already is in the record books with a no-hitter against Kansas City last August 26, is now with his third major league organization.

The Indians have struck it rich, at the moment, for he was 1-4 when he came to the Tribe and now stands at 7-5 and is one of the reasons for the Injun climb.

Jack Kralick

The change of uniform did wonders, too, for the fellow the Twins got in the trade. Jim Perry, long and lean righthander, was having his troubles with the Tribe, couldn't win and now he's 5-4 with the Twins.

• • •

KRALICK, who just passed 27, has been around baseball for nine years, and is one of several Michigan State athletes who have made good in the big time.

A native of Youngstown, O., Kralick first was signed by the White Sox, and split his first season in pro ball with Madisonville and Colorado Springs. His record at Madisonville was only 4-8 but he twirled a no-hitter against Union City.

Moving on to Duluth-Superior in 1956 he had a winning record for the next two years, and included another no-hitter, this one against Fargo-Moorhead.

He was released by the White Sox, and in the 1958 National Semi-Pro tourney at Wichita, Kan., he hurled a no-hitter for Grand Rapids. He was signed by Washington and after a year at Chattanooga in 1959 he was brought up to the majors to stay.

With Washington in 1960 he was 8-6, upped that mark as the Senators became the Twins with 13-11 and 12-11.

At the moment, Kralick has turned in four of the Tribe's 15 wins since June 2 and has given up only five earned runs in his last five games.

Bob Gajda, Of Detroit, Leads First Round In National Open Golf

Palmer Trails By Four Shots With Score 73

Cupit In Runner-Up Spot With 70; Jack Nicklaus Shoots 76

By OSCAR FRALEY

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — Bob Gajda, a Detroit veteran who never won anything but a caddy championship, sprinted through morning sunshine to grab the first round lead in the U.S. Open golf championship Thursday and then relaxed as the field played the back nine blues.

All the big guns had a shot at the two under par 35-34—69 posted by the 46-year-old Gajda but when darkness finally closed in over the country club he was one shot in front of blond Jacky Cupit of Tyler, Tex.

Trails By Four

Arnold Palmer was four strokes away with a two over par 37-36—73 and still very much in contention; Gary Player putted poorly in shooting a 35-39—74 and defending champion Jack Nicklaus—six shots over par after 11 holes—pounded out a five over par 39-37—76.

The back nine of the scorned course dubbed by the pros as "The Old Lady of Boylston Street" took its revenge on most of them aided by afternoon showers and winds with gusts up to 30 miles per hour.

Former champion Julius Boros, Lionel Hebert, 28-year-old Davis Love of Charlotte, N.C., and and champagne Tony Lema — who explained a five-hour round by saying "You have to find the ball before you can hit it" — came in with even par 71's to rank only two shots back, and at 72 came Wally Burkemo, Don January, Dean Refram and Paul Kelly.

Stacked with Palmer at 73 came Canada's Al Balding, former British Amateur champion Richard Davies, Jay Hebert and Art Wall.

Snead Posts 74

At 74 with Player were Bobby Nichols, Bob Goalby, Bob Charles, former champions Ed Furgol and Dick Mayer and old Slammin' Sammy Snead.

But in a long afternoon over the scraggly course with its clutching rough and postage stamp greens, it was the back nine which got the majority of them.

Charles Knowles, first man off the tee, set the pattern with a 39-43 — 82. And the range of scores between the front and back nines was amazing.

Cary Middlecoff, who has won the open twice, went out in 36 and back in 44 for an 80. Doug Sanders was 37-40 — 77; Stan Leonard 40-42 —82; Nichols was out in 33 and back in 41 for a 74; Ed Furgol exactly the disgusted same; Frank Boynton 34 out and 40 back; Chick Harbert 37-44 — 81 and Bob Goetz 37-42—79.

The hamburger came to the U.S. via the Baltic countries. Estonians, Latvians and Finns were fond of red meat, shredded with a dull knife and eaten raw. Their merchant sailors brought the delicacy to the German seaport of Hamburg centuries ago. The Hamburgers relished it enough to immortalize it with their name.

Salvation Army Wins 4th Straight In Stove League

Lions Beaten, 5-4; Elks, Outdoor Club Also Score Wins

Salvation Army remained as one of two unbeaten teams in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday by downing the Lions, 5-3, at Penn Avenue Field.

The Elks nudged the Cumberland Optimists, 4-3, for their first win of the season in the other half of a Penn Avenue doubleheader, and Outdoor Club registered its fourth win in five games with a 6-4 decision over the Bedford Road Optimists at Mason Road Field.

Jimmy Decker's homer with two men aboard in the bottom of the fifth inning proved to be the margin of victory for manager Art Delozier's Salvation Army tossers, whose record is 4-0. The Jaycees, idle yesterday, also sport a 4-0 mark.

Teddy Malloy, who got the mound decision over Blair Norris, rapped a bases-empty roundtripper in the third. Terry Deremer collected two singles, and first sacker Jack McKenney sparkled afield for Salvation Army.

Norris, who matched his hill opponent in strikeouts with nine, had a sixth inning homer and also singled for the Lions.

Spunk Perlozzo powered the Elks to their initial win of the campaign. He blasted a two-run homer over the rightfield fence in the first inning, and knocked in another run with a two-bagger in the sixth. Bill Parks doubled and singled for the Elks, while Ralph Leasure led the Cumberland Optimists' batting attack with a single, double and triple.

A triple by Quentin Simpson in the top of the sixth broke a 4-4 tie and sent Bedford Road down to its fifth straight defeat. Kenny Green, who got the victory in relief, rapped a double and single. Pat McLean had a three-bagger and single, and Jerry Growden came through with a pair of hits for Outdoor Club. Denton Cosgrove accounted for two of the losers' five safeties.

O'Toole Whips Phils For 13th

Cincinnati Rolls To 11-1 Victory

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Cocky Jim O'Toole breezed to his 13th victory and seventh in succession for Cincinnati Thursday night as the Reds pounded Art Mahaffey for 10 runs in gaining an 11-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

O'Toole, whose victory total tops all major league pitchers, hurled a five-hitter and was the beneficiary of a three-run homer by John Edwards and a solo clout by Bob Skinner.

O'Toole struck out six and walked only one en route to his eighth complete game. He has lost only three.

The Reds led only 2-1 going into the fifth inning when they batted around against Mahaffey and scored five runs. Edwards' homer was the big blow.

Skinner hit his first home run of the season in the sixth and the Reds added three unearned tallies in the seventh, chasing Mahaffey. The defeat was the Phils right-hander's ninth in 12 decisions.

Outfielder Tony Gonzalez of the Phils tied a major league record by appearing in his 199th consecutive errorless game. The record was set in 1958-59 by Gus Bell of the Reds.

Tom McLuckie registered his fifth win in six outings by twirling the Veterans of Foreign Wars to 7-3 decision over the B.P.O. Elks yesterday in a Rocking Chair Softball League game at Stitcher Field.

The win moved the Vets to within one game of the front-running Moose team.

The Vets solved the offerings of Leo Rhodes for 16 hits. Jim Eckard collected a double and two singles, Fred Meeks homered and single and "Butch" Johnson, Bill Eckard, George McGregor and Pete Elliott obtained two singles each.

Walter "Pooch" Orndorff smashed a triple and two singles and Leo Rhodes had two hits for the Elks.

The Caseys, three games off the pace, handed the C. & P. Telephone Company its 10th consecutive defeat at Post Field by the score of 8-2.

Thirteen bases on balls were issued in this game, Don Decker of the Caseys giving up eight while Diamond dealt out five free tickets.

Decker, who notched win No. 4, collected two hits, Mickey Clark, Norm Geatz and Bob Russell blasted triples and "Hoppy" Crabtree rapped a two-bagger. The Phoneman had only two hits, a bunt single by Thies in the first frame, and Dreyer's infield bingle in the seventh.

Webb Hull fired a three-hitter as Rothe Heating Company trimmed Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at Fort Hill Field by the score of 7-0.

Archie Carr belted a two-run homer, triple and single to spark Rothe, "Pooch" Lewis slammed a round-tripper and single and Don Harden and Galen McGregor obtained two singles each. The win was the first in four starts for Hull, who yielded only three singles.

Pace-setting Short Gap breezed to its fifth straight W. Va.-Md. Little League triumph yesterday, rolling over Ridgeley, 17-0, on the latter team's field. Oldtown blanked Fort Ashby, 3-0, at Oldtown and Patterson Creek edged winless Ellerslie, 9-8, on the Maryland team's diamond.

Gary Pyles worked on the mound for Short Gap (5-0), struck out 13 and allowed only two hits. The league leaders racked up 12 safeties, including a home run by Dennis Liller. Steve Wolford blasted a triple, double and single, and Pyles and Bill Parsons had a triple and single apiece. Ryan and Snyder obtained the losers' hits.

Oldtown (3-2) got fine pitching from Clyde Twigg. The lefthander failed to walk anybody, struck out eight and yielded three bingles. With the aid of two double plays, he faced only 22 Fort Ashby batters. Royce Duckworth belted a two-run homer in the first for Oldtown, and Gregory Steinbaugh came through with a double.

Patterson Creek upped its record to 3-2 in handing Ellerslie its fifth straight setback, but had to rally for five runs in the sixth to do it. Terry Bradfield's home run with two on highlighted the big frame. Charles Kenney and Mickey Readd had two hits apiece for the winners. Marilynn Smith Leads Western Open Tournament

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The smooth-swinging Marilynn Smith conquered a whipping wind and a long-playing course for a 2-under-par 72 and the first-round lead Thursday in the 34th Western Women's Golf Open.

Miss Smith, a former national intercollegiate champion, was the only one in the field of 101 to master the challenging 6,259-yard Maple Bluff Country Club course as the 72-hole tournament got under way.

Defending champion Mickey Wright was 2-under par with a 36 on the front nine, but blew up coming back. Miss Wright, the top money winner on the pro tour since 1961, took six bogeys on the last nine and finished with a 78.

Miss Smith had a 36 each way as she stormed into a four-stroke lead over Sybil Griffin, who carded 37-39-76. Peggy Joyce Wilson of Austin, Tex., and veteran Betsy Rawls trailed another stroke off the pace.

Tied with Miss Wright at 78 were Patsy Hahn, Ruth Jessen and Judy Kimball.

Gilmore Cops 8th Straight In Twilight

Perry Of Keyser Tames Barton, 2-0

Gilmore extended its winning streak to eight games and tied Barton for first place in the Twilight Baseball League by nosing out Franklin yesterday at Westernport by the score of 5-4.

Barton and Gilmore are deadlocked for the league leadership with 8-3 records.

Bob Wilson, who hurled until the final frame when he was supplanted by Rich Cutter, got the win for Gilmore, and shared batting honors with Johnson. Wilson had two singles and Johnson rapped a triple and single.

Russell Raines went the route for Franklin, gave up 11 hits and struck out eight. Bob White and Vic Broy had three hits each for the losers.

Keyser (6-5) knocked off Barton on the latter's field by the score of 2-0 on a one-hitter by Junie Perry, who struck out an even dozen and issued three bases on balls.

Richard Fairgrieve's single in the 5th inning was Barton's only hit. It was Barton's first shutout defeat of the campaign.

Angels' Drake Pope Blanks Indians, 6-0; Dan A's Score, 11-7

Drake Pope fired a five-hitter and whiffed ten yesterday at East Side Field as the Angles blanked the Indians, 6-0, in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League.

The winners collected 14 hits, including a three - run homer by Allen Stevens in the 5th and a circuit belt by John Genevie in the 6th. Stevens had a double in addition to his homer and Bill Iames and Pope also had two hits each. Joyce at short and Sloan at second base starred afield for the Indians.

At Dapper Dan Field, the Athletics downed the Twins by the score of 11-7.

Dave Stitcher, who relieved Bennett in the fourth, was the winner.

Grove, McLaughlin and Wilkins had three hits each for the A's who chalked up a total of 15 blows. Grove had two doubles while McLaughlin and Wilkins had one each. Houdersheldt larruped a triple and single and Brode had a pair of base knocks for the Twins.

Tommy Cioni turned in a nice running catch for the Athletics.

Braves Edge Pirates, 2-1

Lemaster Wins Own Game With Homer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Denny Lemaster won his own game with a home run off Harvey Haddix in the eighth inning as the Milwaukee Braves scored a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday.

The homer was the second of his major league career and also the second in his last two starts.

Lemaster, who had won only two games previously despite a 2.06 earned run average, held the Pirates to five hits.

Haddix, who worked only the eighth, was the third Pittsburgh pitcher. Don Schwall started and had a one-hit shutout going when a pulled back muscle forced him to retire with one out in the sixth. Tom Sisk replaced Schwall and Eddie Mathews hit his second pitch for a home run which neutralized one by Ron Brand off Lemaster in the third.

Brand's home run was his first in the major leagues. Mathews blast was his ninth this season.

Jackson Stops Houston, 5-0

Williams' Blasts Spark Cub Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Williams' two homers, both hit into the teeth of a 24-mile-per-hour wind blowing in off Lake Michigan, triggered the Chicago Cubs' 5-0 victory over Houston Thursday.

Williams stroked his first homer into the right field seats in the first to give winner Larry Jackson a 1-0 lead. The Chicago left fielder then extended his newest hot hitting skein to 14 hits in the last 23 times at bat by blasting his second homer of the game in the fifth.

Don Landrum, who bunted for a single, scored ahead of Williams' even longer drive into the right field seats this trip. The homers were Williams' ninth and tenth of the season.

Jackson, making his 16th start and pitching the distance a seventh time, yielded just four singles to pick up his eighth win and third shutout.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

A CHANGE OF UNIFORM often does wonders to ball players and perhaps Jack Kralick of the Indians, who has won six straight since he came over from the Twins May 2, has the right slant on why. Says Jack, in a recent quote:

Jack Kralick

"You have to impress people all over again."

There are other reasons, of course, including a different ball club, whether it hits behind you, how the defense plugs the holes, pitching rotation and spirit.

Kralick, a slim southpaw whose name already is in the record books with a no-hitter against Kansas City last August 26, is now with his third major league organization.

The Indians have struck it rich, at the moment, for he was 1-4 when he came to the Tribe and now stands at 7-5 and is one of the reasons for the Injun climb.

The change of uniform did wonders, too, for the fellow the Twins got in the trade. Jim Perry, long and lean right-hander, was having his troubles with the Tribe, couldn't win and now he's 5-4 with the Twins.

• • •

KRALICK, who just passed 27, has been around baseball for nine years, and is one of several Michigan State athletes who have made good in the big time.

A native of Youngstown, O., Kralick first was signed by the White Sox, and split his first season in pro ball with Madisonville and Colorado Springs. His record at Madisonville was only 4-8 but he twirled a no-hitter against Union City.

Moving on to Duluth-Superior in 1956 he had a winning record for the next two years, and included another no-hitter, this one against Fargo-Moorhead.

He was released by the White Sox, and in the 1958 National Semi-Pro tourney at Wichita, Kan., he hurled a no-hitter for Grand Rapids. He was signed by Washington and after a year at Chattanooga in 1959 he was brought up to the majors to stay.

With Washington in 1960 he was 8-6, upped that mark as the Senators became the Twins with 13-11 and 12-11.

At the moment, Kralick has turned in four of the Tribe's 15 wins since June 2 and has given up only five earned runs in his last five games.

Early Wynn To Seek 300th Major League Win Today

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Veteran Early Wynn Friday night seeks to accomplish a feat which has only been performed eight times since the turn of the century and only 13 times in baseball history.

The American League's winningest pitcher seeks the 300th victory of his major league career as he again wears a Cleveland Indians uniform and opposes the Chicago White Sox with worn he unsuccessfully sought the elusive milestone three times last season.

Big Gus won 163 games when he played with the Tribe from 1949 to 1957. He won 20 or more games in four seasons for the Indians — in 1951, '52, '54 and '56.

The Tribe obtained him from Washington in December, 1948. Frank Lane traded him to Chicago in December, 1957 and he collected a 65-55 record with the Sox to make his lifetime total 299-242.

Gabe Paul, the Indians' president and general manager, signed Wynn as a free agent earlier this month after the Sox had released him during spring training.

The last man to record 300 victories was Milwaukee's Warren Spahn in 1961. The Braves' star southpaw has continued winning and currently boats a 336-212 career mark.

Lefty Bob Grove was another who won 300 games. He did it in his final season in 1941 and wound up with a career record of 300-141 for an amazing .676 percentage.

Others who have entered the magic circle since 1900 are Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Charles Nichols, Eddy Plank and Cy Young Young is the winningest pitcher of all time with 511 triumphs followed by Johnson with 416 and Alexander and Mathewson with 373 each.

Cleveland's Champs, AL All-Stars Of 1948 To Play Exhibition

CLEVELAND (AP) — Most of the world champion Cleveland Indians baseball team of 1948 and the American League All-Stars of that year will be here for an exhibition game between the two groups at Municipal Stadium Sunday. The 3-inning contest will take place after the first game of the Cleveland-Chicago doubleheader.

The All-Star squad, headed by Joe DiMaggio, former New York Yankee star and member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, will include most of the players who competed against the National League All-Stars in 1948.

Lou Boudreau, who directed the 1948 Tribe to the World Series championship, will manage the former Indians, but Stanley (Bucky) Harris, who piloted the 1948 All-Stars, will not be here.

Last year more than 17 million Americans owned shares in corporations, according to the New York Stock Exchange.

Nottebart, Herbert Named Top Pitchers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pitchers Don (No-Hit) Nottebart of the Houston Colts and Ray Herbert of the Chicago White Sox Thursday were named the major leagues' top individual performers for the month of May in balloting for the Van Heusen Outstanding Achievement Award.

Nottebart received 108 of the 305 votes cast for National League stars by sports writers, sportscasters and members of big league clubs.

The Colts pitcher entered the record books when he fired Houston's first no-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies on May 17.

Herbert, who hurled 38 consecutive scoreless innings during May, polled 181 of the 306 votes cast for American Leaguers.

Dartmouth Player Signed By Orioles

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) —Mike Nyquist, a Dartmouth first baseman, has been signed by the Baltimore Orioles, his parents reported Thursday night.

The 6-1, 200-pound senior has been assigned to Bluefield, W.Va., of the Appalachian League, his father said.

Nyquist will graduate in December under Dartmouth's three-term system.

First Baptist Posts Church League Win

First Baptist rolled to an 11-5 triumph over Salvation Army yesterday in an Inter-Church Softball League contest at Rolling Mill Field.

Larry Tyree blasted a pair of home runs, and pitcher Ronnie Lewis socked one for the Baptists. Stinger rapped a round-tripper for the Salvation Army.

The linescore:

Salvation Army	300 000 2—	5	10 3
First Baptist	233 100 2—11	14	2

Tim Hutson and Lewis, Ronnie Lewis and Ronnie Riggs. HR—Larry Tyree 2, Lewis (First Baptist); Stinger (Salvation Army).

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and mother, Virgie L. Smith, who passed away one year ago today, June 21, 1962.
Gone dear one gone forever
How we miss your smiling face
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill
Sadly missed by Husband, children and grandchildren

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and mother, Virgie L. Smith, who passed away one year ago today, June 21, 1962.
Gone dear one gone forever
How we miss your smiling face
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill
Sadly missed by Husband, children and grandchildren

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and or all bids.

By Order of the Board of Education of Allegany County
J. Goodloe Jackson, President
Ralph R. Webster, Secretary.
Adv. N-T—June 21.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO STATION WAGON DEALERS

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, until June 25, 1963, at 9:30 A. M. (EDST), at the office of its Clerk, the undersigned, whose address is the Court House, Cumberland, Maryland, for the purchase of a new four (4) door station wagon (ambulance conversion type) of the medium price and weight class, to be based at Sylvan Retreat and used principally for the transfer of County institutional patients.

Said vehicle to be a new four-door model station wagon (ambulance conversion type) equipped and meeting the following general specifications:

1. Engine: Gasoline, eight (8) cylinder, not less than 350 cubic inch displacement, with two (2) barrel carburetor.
2. Transmission: Automatic.
3. Wheels and Tires: Equipped with 800x14, with spare tire and wheel, equipped with Kelly-Springfield Nylon tires.
4. Added Equipment: Radio (manual control), dual electric windshield wipers, two (2) speed windshield washers, back-up lights, directional signal lights with hazard or distress signal switch, right and left side view mirrors, tinted windshield glass, inside non-glare mirror, heater and defroster (fresh air type), Vinyl upholstery, front seat belts and rear seat belts (locking type), safety lock doors (rear only), padded or safety dash, removable cot with straps and holders, first aid kit and fire extinguisher, split rear seat, removable screen behind front seat, removable third seat, and electric operated tail gate window.
5. Wheelbase: 119" minimum.
6. Differential: Twin traction or limited slip.
7. Warning Signals: Siren and blinker light.
8. Instruction book and parts manual.
9. Paint: White.

All bids must itemize delivery price at Sylvan Retreat, Cumberland, Maryland, with specified equipment and indicate delivery date.

If the equipment on which you bid varies in any way from these specifications, special mention must be itemized in writing of such variations on your bid sheet.

All bids must be submitted in sealed envelopes marked "BID FOR STATION WAGON (AMBULANCE CONVERSION)" on the outside of the envelope.

The County Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all bids or to select the equipment best suited for the intended use of the equipment by the County.

Manslaughter Trial Set

Harold William Powers, of Paw Paw, W. Va., will be tried July 2 in Allegany County Circuit Court on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle.

The hearing is scheduled for 9:15 a. m. before a jury, according to James S. Getty, state's attorney.

Powers was charged in connection with the highway death of Mrs. Louise (Herrell) Sindy, 35, of Paw Paw, who died December 4 following a three-car accident on State Route 51, about 17 miles east of Cumberland.

Getty said Powers has been free under $1,000 bond since a preliminary hearing on December 21.

Authorities said Powers was driving toward Paw Paw when his vehicle struck the parked car of Howard D. Hayes Jr., 19, also of Paw Paw. Hayes was pulled off the roadway fixing a flat tire at the time.

Tfc. Charles Snow of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, said the Powers car after striking the Hayes auto continued down the highway on the wrong side of the road and hit the Sindy car which was traveling toward Cumberland.

Hospitalized as a result of the accident were Powers, Herman F. Sindy, 41; Cathy Ann Sindy, 12, and Glenda Riley, 17, of Paw Paw.

GETS MUSIC DEGREE — Miss Kathryn Anne Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max A. Shaffer, 815 Braddock Road, received a bachelor of music degree in music education in graduation exercises June 8 at University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. A graduate of Allegany High School in 1959, her university activities included choirs and Mu Phi Epsilon professional music sorority. She plans to return to the university in September for graduate work.

Cooperation Asked For Parade Route

Police Chief Lawrence Y. Chandler has asked the cooperation of Ridgeley residents during the parade Saturday afternoon, one of the highlights of "William E. Shuck Memorial Day."

Chief Chandler is contacting residents along the parade route to request them not to park their cars on the various streets from noon Saturday until after completion of the program at the town's Little League baseball field.

The parade will form at the upper end of Main Street, proceed to Knobley Street, Second Avenue, Potomac Street and Bridge Street and out to the ball field.

The ball field will be named in honor of Marine Staff Sgt. William E. Shuck, posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor in 1952 for valor in Korea.

Mexican Border Veterans Club Set

A local patrol of 1916 Mexican Border veterans is being organized.

All veterans of the 1916 Border Patrol and all who served in either the First Maryland Infantry, Fifth Maryland Infantry or Fourth Maryland Infantry National Guard are eligible to enroll.

National headquarters of Mexican Border Veterans, Indianapolis, has requested John Edward Barnett, this city, to attempt to organize the local group with former members of the First Infantry Regiment who served on the border in 1916.

Barnett has applications for those who can qualify and his address is PO Box 285, Cumberland.

Nixon Declares U.S. 'Needs Lift Abroad'

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Richard M. Nixon said Wednesday the United States "badly needs a lift abroad in understanding and appreciation of its foreign policies and possibly President Kennedy's visit will provide it."

The former vice president told a news conference his visits to Portugal and Spain during a European tour and his conversations with Americans abroad indicated widespread criticism of Amercan policies, especially those on Cuba and Latin America.

Keyser Miss Wins At Girls' State

A Keyser, W. Va. girl, Miss Mary Kaye Staggers, was elected agriculture commissioner Wednesday at West Virginia Rhododendron Girls' State, being held at Jackson's Mill. She was a candidate on the Nationalist ticket.

Federalist Miss Jodelle Deem of Parkersburg was elected Girls' State governor, defeating Nationalist Miss Betty Skunda of Weirton. About 300 girls are participating.

Drivers Get Safety Awards

Eighteen drivers for the Trucking Division of the Celanese Corporation of America have earned cash safety awards for the current year. The value of awards totals $5,950, while the individual awards vary from $200 to $400.

William R. King, manager for the local Celanese Trucking unit, announced the awards at a drivers' safety meeting at the terminal headquarters on the Bedford Road.

It was reported all Celanese drivers will participate in a nationwide effort to reduce traffic accidents this summer. King stated, "The National Safety Council has requested that all commercial vehicle drivers participate in this attack on accidents. Safety on the highways is of primary importance to Celanese management. In the past, Celanese drivers have performed exceptionally well and it is expected that this year will be no exception."

"The National Safety Council has emphasized the need for safe driving in an effort to save lives. Three thousand more people were killed last year than in 1961. Maryland's death toll so far for 1963 is well ahead of the same period for last year." King urged that each employee be especially careful to commit no driving errors that could result in an accident.

Drivers receiving cash awards were:

H. E. Elliott, Bedford Valley, Pa., 13 consecutive years; P. V. Heming, 514 Avondale Avenue, 12 years; W. D. Elliott, Bedford Valley; R. E. Bowman, 504 Prince George Street, seven years.

O. D. Peer, RD 1, Ridgeley, six years; W. D. Michael, R. F. Gornall, Baltimore Pike, five years; S. L. Goodrich, 928 Kent Avenue; C. L. Feller, Winchester Road; G. E. Krampf, 715 Greenway Avenue, four years.

F. B. Aldridge, RD 1, Cumberland; A. E. DeHaven, 1002 Michigan Avenue; L. G. Lundy, LaVale, three years; R. B. MacDonald, RD 5; W. R. Shumaker, Bedford Road; P. N. Wagner, RD 2, Frostburg, two years; R. C. Kasecamp, Frostburg, and C. L. Mueller, Greenspring, W. Va., one year.

Manslaughter Trial Set

Harold William Powers, of Paw Paw, W. Va., will be tried July 2 in Allegany County Circuit Court on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle.

The hearing is scheduled for 9:15 a. m. before a jury, according to James S. Getty, state's attorney.

Powers was charged in connection with the highway death of Mrs. Louise (Herrell) Sindy, 35, of Paw Paw, who died December 4 following a three-car accident on State Route 51, about 17 miles east of Cumberland.

Getty said Powers has been free under $1,000 bond since a preliminary hearing on December 21.

Authorities said Powers was driving toward Paw Paw when his vehicle struck the parked car of Howard D. Hayes Jr., 19, also of Paw Paw. Hayes was pulled off the roadway fixing a flat tire at the time.

Tfc. Charles Snow of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, said the Powers car after striking the Hayes auto continued down the highway on the wrong side of the road and hit the Sindy car which was traveling toward Cumberland.

Hospitalized as a result of the accident were Powers, Herman F. Sindy, 41; Cathy Ann Sindy, 12, and Glenda Riley, 17, of Paw Paw.

Cooperation Asked For Parade Route

Police Chief Lawrence Y. Chandler has asked the cooperation of Ridgeley residents during the parade Saturday afternoon, one of the highlights of "William E. Shuck Memorial Day."

Chief Chandler is contacting residents along the parade route to request them not to park their cars on the various streets from noon Saturday until after completion of the program at the town's Little League baseball field.

The parade will form at the upper end of Main Street, proceed to Knobley Street, Second Avenue, Potomac Street and Bridge Street and out to the ball field.

The ball field will be named in honor of Marine Staff Sgt. William E. Shuck, posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor in 1952 for valor in Korea.

Mexican Border Veterans Club Set

A local patrol of 1916 Mexican Border veterans is being organized.

All veterans of the 1916 Border Patrol and all who served in either the First Maryland Infantry, Fifth Maryland Infantry or Fourth Maryland Infantry National Guard are eligible to enroll.

National headquarters of Mexican Border Veterans, Indianapolis, has requested John Edward Barnett, this city, to attempt to organize the local group with former members of the First Infantry Regiment who served on the border in 1916.

Barnett has applications for those who can qualify and his address is PO Box 285, Cumberland.

Nixon Declares U.S. 'Needs Lift Abroad'

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Richard M. Nixon said Wednesday the United States "badly needs a lift abroad in understanding and appreciation of its foreign policies and possibly President Kennedy's visit will provide it."

The former vice president told a news conference his visits to Portugal and Spain during a European tour and his conversations with Americans abroad indicated widespread criticism of Amercan policies, especially those on Cuba and Latin America.

Keyser Miss Wins At Girls' State

A Keyser, W. Va. girl, Miss Mary Kaye Staggers, was elected agriculture commissioner Wednesday at West Virginia Rhododendron Girls' State, being held at Jackson's Mill. She was a candidate on the Nationalist ticket.

Federalist Miss Jodelle Deem of Parkersburg was elected Girls' State governor, defeating Nationalist Miss Betty Skunda of Weirton. About 300 girls are participating.

She plans to return to the university in September for graduate work.

Drivers Get Safety Awards

Eighteen drivers for the Trucking Division of the Celanese Corporation of America have earned cash safety awards for the current year. The value of awards totals $5,950, while the individual awards vary from $200 to $400.

William R. King, manager for the local Celanese Trucking unit, announced the awards at a drivers' safety meeting at the terminal headquarters on the Bedford Road.

It was reported all Celanese drivers will participate in a nationwide effort to reduce traffic accidents this summer. King stated, "The National Safety Council has requested that all commercial vehicle drivers participate in this attack on accidents. Safety on the highways is of primary importance to Celanese management. In the past, Celanese drivers have performed exceptionally well and it is expected that this year will be no exception."

"The National Safety Council has emphasized the need for safe driving in an effort to save lives. Three thousand more people were killed last year than in 1961. Maryland's death toll so far for 1963 is well ahead of the same period for last year." King urged that each employee be especially careful to commit no driving errors that could result in an accident.

Drivers receiving cash awards were:

H. E. Elliott, Bedford Valley, Pa., 13 consecutive years; P. V. Heming, 514 Avondale Avenue, 12 years; W. D. Elliott, Bedford Valley; R. E. Bowman, 504 Prince George Street, seven years.

O. D. Peer, RD 1, Ridgeley, six years; W. D. Michael, R. F. Gornall, Baltimore Pike, five years; S. L. Goodrich, 928 Kent Avenue; C. L. Feller, Winchester Road; G. E. Krampf, 715 Greenway Avenue, four years.

F. B. Aldridge, RD 1, Cumberland; A. E. DeHaven, 1002 Michigan Avenue; L. G. Lundy, LaVale, three years; R. B. MacDonald, RD 5; W. R. Shumaker, Bedford Road; P. N. Wagner, RD 2, Frostburg, two years; R. C. Kasecamp, Frostburg, and C. L. Mueller, Greenspring, W. Va., one year.

David E. Kirk Heads State Firemen

Wilson, Pritchard Also Elected

David E. Kirk, 111 LeFevre Road, was elected president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association at its 71st convention in Ocean City yesterday.

Also elected were William A. Wilson, Midland, as treasurer, and John S. Pritchard, Grantsville, as a member of the board of trustees.

Mrs. Edna Hounshell, Cresaptown, and Mrs. Nancy Growden were elected guard and chaplain, respectively, for the ladies auxiliary.

The state heroism award was presented to Mrs. Florence Kane, Cresaptown, who saved an elderly person's life in November 1962 while she was visiting in Baltimore.

Mrs. Kane entered a burning dwelling and rescued the elderly person. She also received the bi-county heroism award on June 6 at the 51st annual convention of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association in Oakland.

Mr. Kirk, who served as first vice president last year, will begin his fourth term on the executive board of the state association, and will be the fifth fireman from this section to serve in this position. He was sponsored by the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company and endorsed by the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association.

First elected in 1945, Mr. Wilson will serve his 19th term as treasurer of the state organization. Mr. Pritchard will begin his 21st year as a member of the state board of trustees.

Fifteen fire companies from the bi-county association were represented for the convention along with 200 other fire companies from the state. A total of 296 fire companies compose the state association.

Officers were installed last night and a dance completed the evening. Ocean City was chosen as the location for the convention next year. The event will end today with a grand parade.

Miss Walsh Is Honored

265 Attend Dinner For Miss Walsh

Librarian Will Retire June 30

Two hundred sixty-five persons gathered at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club last night to pay tribute to Miss Mary G. Walsh, the only public librarian Cumberland has ever had.

Miss Walsh will retire from her post as Allegany County librarian June 30 after 40 years of service as a librarian.

She was honored in tributes from the Allegany County Library board of trustees, and by spokesmen for several city and county groups.

Miss Walsh was presented several gifts, including an easy chair from the library board.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, city street commissioner, was principal speaker and James Alfred Avirett, member of the library board, was toastmaster.

Miss Walsh also met her successor, Rollin P. Marquis of River Edge, N.J., who was a guest at the dinner.

Miss Walsh was named librarian when the old Cumberland Free Public Library was founded in the early 1920s. When the library moved from its original home, the present Girl Scout House, to its new headquarters in the old Allegany County Academy opposite the Court House, Miss Walsh was still in charge.

When the county library system was set up three years ago she became its librarian. The library has branches at Penn Avenue School, at LaVale, Frostburg and Westernport, and operates a Bookmobile for points between.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Terry E. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Williams, 45 Roberts Street, will enter the University of Maryland in September, using two of four scholarships he won. Terry, who wants to become a physician, graduated this month from Fort Hill High School, where he won the Thespian award.

Pastor To Mark 5th Anniversary Of Ordination

Service Set Sunday At St. Matthew's

St. Matthew's United Church of Christ, Bowling Green, will hold a special service Sunday at 7:30 p.m. commemorating the fifth anniversary of the ordination of its pastor, Rev. Richard W. Barley, into the Christian ministry.

The service will include special music by the Junior and Senior Choirs of the church under the direction of George Stein.

The guest speaker will be Rev. Archie C. Rohrbaugh, pastor of St. Stephen's United Church of Christ, York, Pa.

Rev. Mr. Rohrbaugh is active in the work of the church and has served in various capacities, including vice president of the former Mercersburg Synod and delegate to the General Synod this year in Denver, Colo.

He will speak on the subject, "Ambassador for Christ."

Also to be included in the service will be a review of the ordination vows, which were accepted by Rev. Mr. Barley at the time of his ordination.

Rev. Mr. Barley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barley, York, Pa., graduated from West York High School in 1950, from Franklin and Marshall College in 1955 with a Bachelor of Arts degree and received his Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Lancaster Theological Seminary of the United Church of Christ in June 1958.

He was ordained into the Christian ministry by Mercersburg Synod at his home church June 15, 1958, and was installed June 29, 1958, as pastor of St. Matthew's Church, which he is still serving.

He has been active in the work of the church and is at present serving as president of the Somerset Area Ministerium of the United Church of Christ and served on the steering committee for the organization of the Somerset Association of the Penn West Conference. He also is chairman of the Nominating committee of the Somerset Association and a member of the Church Extension Committee.

He is also a member of the Cumberland Ministerial Association and chaplain of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department and the Bowling Green-Potomac Park Optimist Club.

Rev. Mr. Barley is married to the former Barbara Ann Oerman, daughter of the late Edgar E. Oerman and Mrs. Jacob Manchey of York, Pa. They have two children, Dawn Louise and David Eugene.

Following the service, there will be a reception in the social hall of the church, being arranged by a committee of the Women's Guild under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Margaret Johnson and Mrs. Stella Kisamore.

Casselman River Bridge Anniversary Scheduled

Ceremonies are being planned at Grantsville on Saturday, July 20, to mark the 150th anniversary of the oldest and largest single-span stone arch bridge in America.

This famous bridge over the Casselman River was constructed in 1813 of native field stone under the direction of David Shriver of Cumberland, road construction superintendent of what then was known as the Cumberland Road. This road, then extending only from Cumberland to Wheeling, later was known as the National Road, the great coast-to-coast highway of America.

The entire day's program on July 20 will take place on the lawn of Penn Alps in the shadow of the great old bridge across the Casselman. This is near the spot named the Little Crossing in 1755 when George Washington and General Edward Braddock forded the river on their ill-fated expedition to Fort Duquesne, now Pittsburgh.

Before noon on July 20, while mountain craftsmen are at work demonstrating their crafts in the shade of 144 spruce trees at Penn Alps, the executive committee of the Council of the Alleghenies will be in session in the educational center of Penn Alps. The Council of the Alleghenies is a non-profit organization serving the Tri-State area.

Milton Ogle, community development counselor of the Council of the Southern Mountains, will serve as resource person. This council has its headquarters at Berea, Ky.

Craft demonstrations for guests will continue during the afternoon. They will include wool carding, spinning and weaving, wood carving and pottery throwing on a wheel.

A public meeting of the Council of the Alleghenies will be held at 2:30 p.m. in the shade of the giant spruces with Mr. Ogle as speaker. All persons interested in the total welfare of the people of the Alleghenies are urged to attend this first public meeting of the council.

At 8 p.m. July 20, an outdoor music festival will be held at the foot of the great stone bridge. Choirs and choruses from many Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania communities will participate under the direction of Charles Sager of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Historic narration will be featured along with tableaux depicting the early history of the Casselman Valley. The audience will be seated on two terraces of the state park across the river from Penn Alps.

Dr. Alta Schrock is president and executive secretary of Penn of the Council of the Alleghenies Alps Inn.

Boy Scout Council Fete Is Scheduled

Tuesday in the deadline for reservations for scouters who plan to attend the annual business meeting of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, on Thursday, June 27 at Central YMCA, according to Maurice Brookhart, president.

The dinner meeting will be held in the Community Room of the YMCA and will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The program will include the nomination and election of council officers and executive board members for the coming year and the roll call by districts of institutional representatives.

Reports of progress and objectives also will be made by council operating committee chairmen, district chairmen and council commissioner.

A new national program of emphasis for 1963-65, which was recently approved by the National Council, also will be presented at the meeting.

Knights Plan Special Session

Antioch Commandery No. 6, Knight Templar, will hold a special conclave Saturday at which time the Order of Knighthood will be conferred upon a class of candidates.

Starting at 9 a.m. Saturday, the Illustrious Order of the Red Cross will be conferred by Past Commander Roy V. Ringler, assisted by Commander John T. Reid and Senior Warden Reid L. Shipley.

This will be followed by conferring of the Order of Malta by Past Commander Henry M. Earle.

During recess at noon dinner will be served in the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple by McKinley Chapter No. 12, Order of the Eastern Star.

After dinner the Order of the Temple will be conferred by Commander Reid.

Andrew Lewis Receives Oath On State Unit

Andrew M. Lewis Jr., 413 Prince George Street, received his oath of office yesterday from James A. Halloran, deputy clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, for a six-year term on the Advisory Council of the Department of Employment Security.

Governor J. Millard Tawes recently reappointed Mr. Lewis, a former president of Local 180, Glass Workers Union, to a full six-year term on the advisory council. This council consists of six members, two each representing the public, employers and employees.

Mr. Lewis received his first oath December 18 when Governor Tawes appointed him to fill out the remaining months of the six-year term of Ralph C. Beard, who resigned.

Meeting Held On Public Works Projects Here

A conference concerning work done here under the Accelerated Public Works program was held yesterday afternoon in City Hall.

The meeting consisted of a pre-construction conference on the Ridge Terrace water and sewer contract and procedures to be followed in other work done here under the federal pump priming program designed to aid areas which have a substantial amount of unemployment.

Attending were James F. Carroll and Regis J. Timm, Pittsburgh, field engineers for the Housing and Home Finance Agency; Charles Scarlett, assistant city engineer; William Hout, contractor for the project; Paul E. Rodecap, city comptroller, and Lee Busch, inspector for the work.

The Hout firm was awarded the $16,220 contract for installing sewer and water lines in an area including Ridge Terrace, Thompson Avenue, McKinley Avenue and Ritchie Street.

Work was begun June 4 and the project is about 85 per cent complete, the HHFA staffers were told.

The men were also briefed on the Haddon Avenue-Williams Road project, which is to be awarded Monday. The Hout firm was the low bidder, at $9,650 for the sewer line contract.

During the conference, Mr. Rodecap explained the source of city funds which are being used to match the federal funds. The city, he said, has set up its matching funds in a separate account and is using only funds available through other than budget sources.

The HHFA engineers later were taken on a tour of the work for which federal funds have been allotted.

Three Local Boys Missing From Home

City police have been notified that three local teenage boys are missing from their homes.

The youths, left home Wednesday evening and were believed to be headed toward Panama City, Fla. State police were notified.

City Making Good Use Of Mowing Rig

The Street Department is making good use of the mowing machine it purchased recently.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said the rig is doing a fine job of clearing city-owned lots and along the right of way of city streets.

The machine is equipped to use either a four or five-foot blade and is operated by one man. When the machine comes to an obstruction, the operator stops the machine and cleans up the spot with a hand sickle or a scythe.

Until the new machine was purchased, the department had to borrow mowers from airport or flood control crews.

Street Department crews are making progress on painting guard rails and sign posts in the city.

Wooden guard rails and posts are being painted white and metal surfaces are being protected with aluminum paint.

Brush near the guard rails is being cleared by other workers.

LaVale Firemen Check Truck Fire

LaVale volunteer firemen were called to 977 National Highway yesterday afternoon when the carburetor of a truck back fired causing a slight blaze in the air cleaner.

Twelve men responded with two pieces of fire fighting equipment at 3:40 p.m. although the fire was out on arrival.

Permit Issued For Restaurant In LaVale

A building permit has been issued by C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County planning director, to Green Acres Inc. for a drive-in restaurant along National Highway just west of Air-Flow Roofing and Siding Products Company, which is situated at 1241 National Highway in LaVale.

The 31-by-34 foot aluminum and glass building will be constructed on a lot with 130 feet of frontage on U.S. Route 40 and extends back to a depth of 294 feet. The site for the restaurant is back 75 feet from the highway.

Estimated cost of the restaurant, which will be built by Rose Construction Company of Chicago, is $30,000.

Fay W. Keiser and Mary I. Keiser, his wife, sold two tracts along U.S. Route 40 to Green Acres, Inc., according to deeds filed for record Wednesday at the Court House.

Before Mr. Renaud granted the building permit and zoning certificate, the new restaurant had the approval of the County Health Department, LaVale Zoning Board, LaVale Sanitary Commission and State Roads Commission.

Air Conditioner Meets Approval

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has approved purchase of an air conditioner for use in a large office at the County Welfare Department building shared by 13 employes.

Favorable action was taken on the recommendation of County Commissioner Robert Little Ebert.

Coal Pipeline Development Envisioned

Coal pipelines soon may be transporting "liquid coal" to fuel consumers in many parts of the country, Frank Scott, an engineer for the National Coal Association, said yesterday.

Mr. Scott told the Cumberland Kiwanis Club that the revolutionary new fuel is liquid coal — a mixture of finely ground coal and water — and the pipelines which will move it from mines to large industrial consumers are fact, not fiction.

"All the main technological breakthroughs already have occurred," he said. "There are no engineering obstacles left. But, unfortunately, there are man-made obstacles. Before interstate coal pipelines can be built we must secure Congressional action granting coal pipelines the right of eminent domain to obtain rights of way."

Moving coal as a liquid by pipeline brings significant savings in transportation costs. Furthermore, new combustion techniques now allow pipeline coal to be burned as a liquid, thus eliminating the necessity for expensive coal handling facilities. These economies can be passed along to the public in the form of lower costs for electricity, he said. Coal now is used to generate almost two-thirds of the nation's electricity.

Mr. Scott stressed that the coal industry still is a most active industry. Some 400 million tons of coal were mined last year by 112,000 employes who averaged about $114 a week.

The mine-mouth generator, such as is being developed by the Virginia Electric and Power Company near Mt. Storm in Grant County, W. Va., is one of the new developments of the coal industry.

Pickup Is Issued In Theft Of Money

City police have issued a pickup for a suspect in the theft of a large sum of money reportedly taken from a South Mechanic Street restaurant Wednesday night.

Authorities said the proprietor reported the money was in a pocketbook which was taken from behind a counter of the restaurant. Some of the money was recovered when the pocketbook was located in a restroom. The recovered money was in a hidden compartment of a wallet in the pocketbook.

Brothers Get Settlements

Two brothers living on Cash Valley Road in LaVale were awarded a total of $225 in damages in out-of-court settlements which were filed with so-called friendly damage suits in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One suit was for Gary W. Carpenter, an infant, by William L. Carpenter and Audrey Carpenter, his parents and next friends, against Ira T. Watkins, Oaklawn Avenue, LaVale. The young Carpenter was injured while driving his father's car on State Route 36, the Mt. Savage Road, May 3 near Barrelville. He contended that Mr. Watkins' car was responsible for the accident. His claim was settled for $100 although the declaration asked for $500.

The second suit was for John Lee Carpenter, by his parents, and was against Mr. Watkins. This boy was a passenger in the car which was being driven by his brother. His claim was settled for $125.

The two settlements were signed by James S. Getty, as attorney for the plaintiffs, and C. William Gilchrist, as attorney for the defendant.

Lawn Damaged By Automobile

Brake failure of an automobile yesterday afternoon resulted in minor property damage to the front yard of the home of Alvey J. Reckley, 1201 Bedford Street.

The lawn and a tree were damaged by an automobile driven by Danny C. Parr, 15, of 2D Benjamin Banneker Apartments, when the driver attempted to avoid colliding with a car ahead of him by turning into Mr. Reckley's yard.

Parr will be tried in Trial Magistrate's Court on charges of driving without a license and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. The car, which received only slight damage, is owned by John W. Cooper, 28 Bedford Street.

The accident was investigated by Officer Robert Hershberger.

Specialist On Recreation Will Meet Here

Harry Hunter, recreation specialist of the State Department of Forests and Parks, will meet with members of the Allegany County Physical Fitness Commission at 2 p.m. Monday at Central YMCA.

The county commission, which is headed by John J. Long as chairman, has invited Mr. Hunter to come here to conduct a survey of existing recreation facilities in the county, especially in the unincorporated areas.

Robert E. Pence, C. Eugene Mason and Dr. Adam Baer have been selected as a committee to meet with Mr. Hunter.

Alinco Receives $37,000 Contract

A contract for a $37,000 calibration cell was awarded recently by the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., to Allegany Instrument Company here, a division of Textron Electronics, Inc.

The calibration cell is a device used to measure the thrust produced by rocket motors.

Westernport Man Sues For Damages

Brown E. Henry, 411 Hammond Street, Westernport, yesterday filed a suit for damages in Allegany County Circuit Court against James Thomas Parrish alias T. Moon, 1732 North Gay Street, Baltimore.

Mr. Henry states in his declaration that he was a passenger in the automobile of Theodore Lee Metcalf which was struck by the Baltimore man's vehicle on State Route 135 about 6:15 p. m. October 3, 1961. The Westernport man contends that he sustained a shock to his nervous system and severe and painful injuries.

Chamber Warns Of Itinerants

The Chamber of Commerce has called attention to complaints received regarding itinerant photographers. The Chamber has received numerous calls in the past few weeks, reported Robert C. Petersen, manager, concerning pictures taken by itinerants, which were either not delivered or were of "poor quality."

The Police Department has sought to solve the problem of non-delivery by requiring all itinerant merchants to put up bonds assuring the delivery of prepaid merchandise. However, this effort has been only partially successful because an itinerant is often able to enter and leave town without the Police Department being aware of his operation, Mr. Petersen said.

Mr. Petersen also stated that it is "almost impossible for the Chamber to take action against out-of-town firms" in cases of poor workmanship.

Two More Streets Are Resurfaced

Two city streets and part of a third were resurfaced yesterday by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Completed was the resurfacing of Rose Hill Avenue and Kiefer Avenue, and by late afternoon the firm had laid half of the leveling course for Windsor Road.

Weather permitting, the Windsor Road resurfacing work will be completed today. It is the last of 10 streets to be improved under the city's spring street improvement program.

Permit Issued For Restaurant In LaVale

A building permit has been issued by C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County planning director, to Green Acres Inc. for a drive-in restaurant along National Highway just west of Air-Flow Roofing and Siding Products Company, which is situated at 1241 National Highway in LaVale.

The 31-by-34 foot aluminum and glass building will be constructed on a lot with 130 feet of frontage on U.S. Route 40 and extends back to a depth of 294 feet. The site for the restaurant is back 75 feet from the highway.

Estimated cost of the restaurant, which will be built by Rose Construction Company of Chicago, is $30,000.

Fay W. Keiser and Mary I. Keiser, his wife, sold two tracts along U.S. Route 40 to Green Acres, Inc., according to deeds filed for record Wednesday at the Court House.

Before Mr. Renaud granted the building permit and zoning certificate, the new restaurant had the approval of the County Health Department, LaVale Zoning Board, LaVale Sanitary Commission and State Roads Commission.

Coal Pipeline Development Envisioned

Coal pipelines soon may be transporting "liquid coal" to fuel consumers in many parts of the country, Frank Scott, an engineer for the National Coal Association, said yesterday.

Mr. Scott told the Cumberland Kiwanis Club that the revolutionary new fuel is liquid coal — a mixture of finely ground coal and water — and the pipelines which will move it from mines to large industrial consumers are fact, not fiction.

"All the main technological breakthroughs already have occurred," he said. "There are no engineering obstacles left. But, unfortunately, there are man-made obstacles. Before interstate coal pipelines can be built we must secure Congressional action granting coal pipelines the right of eminent domain to obtain rights of way."

Moving coal as a liquid by pipeline brings significant savings in transportation costs. Furthermore, new combustion techniques now allow pipeline coal to be burned as a liquid, thus eliminating the necessity for expensive coal handling facilities. These economies can be passed along to the public in the form of lower costs for electricity, he said. Coal now is used to generate almost two-thirds of the nation's electricity.

Mr. Scott stressed that the coal industry still is a most active industry. Some 400 million tons of coal were mined last year by 112,000 employes who averaged about $114 a week.

The mine-mouth generator, such as is being developed by the Virginia Electric and Power Company near Mt. Storm in Grant County, W. Va., is one of the new developments of the coal industry.

Lawn Damaged By Automobile

Brake failure of an automobile yesterday afternoon resulted in minor property damage to the front yard of the home of Alvey J. Reckley, 1201 Bedford Street.

The lawn and a tree were damaged by an automobile driven by Danny C. Parr, 15, of 2D Benjamin Banneker Apartments, when the driver attempted to avoid colliding with a car ahead of him by turning into Mr. Reckley's yard.

Parr will be tried in Trial Magistrate's Court on charges of driving without a license and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. The car, which received only slight damage, is owned by John W. Cooper, 28 Bedford Street.

The accident was investigated by Officer Robert Hershberger.

Specialist On Recreation Will Meet Here

Harry Hunter, recreation specialist of the State Department of Forests and Parks, will meet with members of the Allegany County Physical Fitness Commission at 2 p.m. Monday at Central YMCA.

The county commission, which is headed by John J. Long as chairman, has invited Mr. Hunter to come here to conduct a survey of existing recreation facilities in the county, especially in the unincorporated areas.

Robert E. Pence, C. Eugene Mason and Dr. Adam Baer have been selected as a committee to meet with Mr. Hunter.

Alinco Receives $37,000 Contract

A contract for a $37,000 calibration cell was awarded recently by the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., to Allegany Instrument Company here, a division of Textron Electronics, Inc.

The calibration cell is a device used to measure the thrust produced by rocket motors.

Westernport Man Sues For Damages

Brown E. Henry, 411 Hammond Street, Westernport, yesterday filed a suit for damages in Allegany County Circuit Court against James Thomas Parrish alias T. Moon, 1732 North Gay Street, Baltimore.

Mr. Henry states in his declaration that he was a passenger in the automobile of Theodore Lee Metcalf which was struck by the Baltimore man's vehicle on State Route 135 about 6:15 p. m. October 3, 1961. The Westernport man contends that he sustained a shock to his nervous system and severe and painful injuries.

Andrew Lewis Receives Oath On State Unit

Andrew M. Lewis Jr., 413 Prince George Street, received his oath of office yesterday from James A. Halloran, deputy clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, for a six-year term on the Advisory Council of the Department of Employment Security.

Governor J. Millard Tawes recently reappointed Mr. Lewis, a former president of Local 180, Glass Workers Union, to a full six-year term on the advisory council. This council consists of six members, two each representing the public, employers and employees.

Mr. Lewis received his first oath December 18 when Governor Tawes appointed him to fill out the remaining months of the six-year term of Ralph C. Beard, who resigned.

Two More Streets Are Resurfaced

Two city streets and part of a third were resurfaced yesterday by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Completed was the resurfacing of Rose Hill Avenue and Kiefer Avenue, and by late afternoon the firm had laid half of the leveling course for Windsor Road.

Weather permitting, the Windsor Road resurfacing work will be completed today. It is the last of 10 streets to be improved under the city's spring street improvement program.

Chamber Warns Of Itinerants

The Chamber of Commerce has called attention to complaints received regarding itinerant photographers. The Chamber has received numerous calls in the past few weeks, reported Robert C. Petersen, manager, concerning pictures taken by itinerants, which were either not delivered or were of "poor quality."

The Police Department has sought to solve the problem of non-delivery by requiring all itinerant merchants to put up bonds assuring the delivery of prepaid merchandise. However, this effort has been only partially successful because an itinerant is often able to enter and leave town without the Police Department being aware of his operation, Mr. Petersen said.

Mr. Petersen also stated that it is "almost impossible for the Chamber to take action against out-of-town firms" in cases of poor workmanship.

Brothers Get Settlements

Two brothers living on Cash Valley Road in LaVale were awarded a total of $225 in damages in out-of-court settlements which were filed with so-called friendly damage suits in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One suit was for Gary W. Carpenter, an infant, by William L. Carpenter and Audrey Carpenter, his parents and next friends, against Ira T. Watkins, Oaklawn Avenue, LaVale. The young Carpenter was injured while driving his father's car on State Route 36, the Mt. Savage Road, May 3 near Barrelville. He contended that Mr. Watkins' car was responsible for the accident. His claim was settled for $100 although the declaration asked for $500.

The second suit was for John Lee Carpenter, by his parents, and was against Mr. Watkins. This boy was a passenger in the car which was being driven by his brother. His claim was settled for $125.

The two settlements were signed by James S. Getty, as attorney for the plaintiffs, and C. William Gilchrist, as attorney for the defendant.
